Sharp German Teeth.
How to Curb the U. S. A.
Spain Fights the Church.
Shorter Day, Better Work.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

TEETH, AND sharp ones, are in two decrees issued by President Von Hindenburg. Personal liberty, freedom of speech, freedom of the press and assembly, even the right to private property, that Germans thought would always be theirs, go overboard in this emergency.

Death and confiscation of property are the penalty for treason, incendiarism, damaging railroads, causing explosions and other offenses hitherto punished with life imprisonment.

Germany means to have peaceful reorganization, even if it should be necessary to kill off a few, in addition to millions killed in war.

GERMAN METHODS will be studied by those that feel responsible for conditions here. One merchant, owner of numerous stores, thinks "our capitalistic system may fall." It will not fall, as a matter of fact, because there is no system here to take its place that the country could approve.

In any case it would not fall without a fight, and the German methods of checking national disintegration interest us.

MAY WE RETURN peacefully to our old ways and our old prosperity. Yesterday Germany's dictatorship was not running smoothly, labor men opposing it, despite threats of death, troops firing on the mob, some killed, Social Democrats, hitherto Germany's balance wheel, and the Communists drawing together.

STATESMEN OF the British Empire, gathered at Ottawa to promote British prosperity, decide that Britons are to buy and sell among themselves, shutting out foreigners, and particularly the United States, as much as possible.

To cut down our export trade is the desire of England. Other nations have the same idea. Results show in fact that in June our exports fell below our imports.

THAT NEED not worry us, if we have intelligence. We have now what the English are trying to get, free trade within our empire of forty-eight states. We can buy from each other up to the limit of our home demand, then dump our surplus among Briton's foreign customers, that can always be relied upon to buy at the lowest price.

As far as manufacturing is concerned, British competition in foreign markets would be a joke, if we put our minds on it.

Ten workers in the United States produce as many automobile units as one hundred workers in England, and our steel industry methods are as far ahead of the British as the locomotive is ahead of the stage coach.

There is no reason to worry. But we must do some thinking, and get over our mushy idea that our principal duty is to take care of other nations.

COMMERCIAL AND industrial competition between this country, the British Empire and other nations, will be intense for a while, and do good in the long run, improving methods, teaching economy, and eventually establishing the supremacy of the United States.

This country has within its borders everything it needs, except spices and rubber, and can produce them if necessary.

IN SPAIN warfare against the Catholic Church proceeds with increasing bitterness. The Vatican offered no active opposition to the expulsion of the Jesuits, hoping that anti-clerical activity would diminish.

Now the Spanish republic proposes to curtail in every way the activities of 80,000 Spanish monks and nuns, hitherto engaged largely in teaching. Spanish deputies say:

"There seems to be nothing ahead of the monks and nuns but lives of meditation."

Events in Spain show what can be done by a minority powerfully organized and resolute. Spain's Republican-Socialist government has its way, although the masses of Spanish people are, overwhelmingly, devout Catholics.

SOME NEWS is cheerful. The India Tire and Rubber Company, of Akron, O., increases wages 20 per cent to make up for a similar cut in January. Employes were told that if they made the concern profitable, wages would come back.

They did it, working six hours a day, seven days a week. The management says the increased leisure, freedom from factory monotony, enjoyed by the men accounts for an unusual production record.

Other employers might consider that. The five-day week, demanded by the Federation of Labor, with an eight or even six-hour day, if capacity of machinery should make it necessary, may be found as productive in the long run as the old, long week and day, with tired workers.

WAR DOES not pay, that has been proved. Having your neighbors in trouble, also does not pay. Japan with her Chinese war worries and her financial troubles at home, disturbs important interests by selling copper at 4.55 a pound, reducing copper prices everywhere in Europe. Even South Africa will find it hard to compete with such price-cutting.

STORM FAILS TO BRING RELIEF

3 Drowning Victims, Scores Overcome, Nurses Collapse

BULLETIN.

H. F. Pearson, 40, of 14 Stanton Court, west, fell dead in the crowded lobby of the Oliver Building, Smithfield street, this afternoon. Preliminary examination failed to show whether he was a victim of the heat. Pearson was an engineer of the Bell Telephone Company.

The midsummer heat wave which left a trail of seven dead yesterday, remained unbroken today, with the prospect that the temperature late today would near the 93 mark of yesterday, equaling the season's record.

Thundershowers last night, heavy in several districts, failed to modify materially the torridity that has gripped the eastern half of the country for nearly a week, Forecaster W. S. Brotzman asserted.

SHOWERS PREDICTED

More showers are predicted for this afternoon or tonight, and these are expected to bring some relief, though high temperatures still prevailing in the Middle West make it unlikely that there will be a marked drop in the mercury, he said.

Last night's downpour measured .32 inch at the Weather Bureau. At Confluence, on the Youghiogheny River, the fall totaled 2.93 inches, heaviest of the season.

As his case was called in Traffic Court, today, Frank Dickson, 39, Schenley Apartments, arrested yesterday charged with reckless driving, collapsed from the heat. He was removed to the Pittsburgh Hospital, but later was able to return to court. His case was continued.

Three of yesterday's victims drowned as they sought relief in the rivers from soaring temperatures.

Four were killed by illness attributed to the heat.

FIND 3 GIRLS DEAD ALONG RIVER

Co-Ed's Shooting Adds To Minnesota Mystery

International News Service.

LAKE CITY, Minn., July 22.—A pretty co-ed tentatively identified as Agnes Stevens, 21, daughter of a Boston banker, was found shot to death in a parked automobile near the Zumbro River today.

A revolver was clutched in her hand, a beer bottle in the other, according to authorities.

The co-ed was the third young woman found dead on the banks of the Zumbro within 24 hours. The other victims were Louise Prigge, 22, a farm girl of near Rochester, and her friend, Frances Polikowski, 21.

SUICIDE INDICATED

Sheriff Lenus Olson, of Red Wing, said the girl believed to be Miss Stevens apparently committed suicide. However, he did not overlook the possibility that she had been murdered and that her assailant had "planted" the gun.

The victim was partially identified from papers found in her purse and from the license on her car. Mrs. Leora Cassidy, matron of Sanford Hall of the University of Minnesota campus, where Miss Stevens lived, declared the Boston girl was in a rundown condition and had been advised not to attend summer school.

The two other "mystery death" victims were last seen alive Tuesday night, when they went on a "date" with two strange men.

While doubting that there was any connection between the death of the Prigge and Polikowski girls and that of the victim found this morning, authorities admitted the possibility that a maniac was at large in this vicinity.

Authorities were convinced the two farm girls had been slain, even though a preliminary examination failed to show cause of death. Miss Prigge's body was found in the water, but there was no water in her lungs. Both bodies were scantily clad.

SEARCH FOR MEN

Search was begun for the men who called for the girls at Miss Prigge's home Tuesday night.

The internal organs of the Prigge and Polikowski girls were sent to Rochester for examination, and the findings will be presented at a coroner's inquest, scheduled for today at Milville.

Pending the inquest, Wabasha County authorities were reluctant to discuss theories, and declined to state definitely whether they believed the women had drowned while swimming in the river, or had met with violence. They were hunting the escorts and also missing garments of the girls.

Campers took the body of Miss Prigge from the river and several hours later that of the other girl, who lived in Rochester, was discovered. The Coroner said there were no outward marks of violence.

FATHER CHAINS GIRL TO WORK

CAMDEN, N. J., July 22.—(INS.)—Exhibiting scars on her legs, Lena Persiana, 12, told Police Judge Garfield Pancoast that her father, Anthony, had fastened steel chains around her legs to keep her from running away.

Warned once by a court not to beat her, the father resorted to the chains to force her to remain at home and do piece work to support the family, the girl charged. She said she fled to escape the long hours imposed upon her.

The court severely criticized her father. The girl will be sent to a detention home.

Two Pennsy Trains in Wreck

HARRISBURG, July 22.—(AP.)—A. T. Irvin, Altoona, engineer, was killed, and G. R. Johnson, Altoona, fireman, was seriously injured in a rear-end collision of two Pennsylvania Railroad freight trains at Duncannon today. This was the second serious wreck on the railroad today within a radius of eight miles.

Earlier today a Pennsylvania Railroad passenger train was wrecked at Dauphin, 14 miles north of here, as it struck an automobile stalled on the track.

Four of the five cars left the rails and rolled over on their sides. Railroad officials said only three passengers were hurt, and all of them but slightly.

DIVORCE ASKED BY CHEVALIER

PARIS, July 22.—(INS.)—Maurice Chevalier, motion picture star, today filed suit for divorce.

Chevalier's wife, Yvonne Vallee, is well known to the French stage, having frequently appeared in musical comedies.

Chevalier arrived here only a few days ago from the United States, where he declared he was merely going to Paris and his villa at Juan les Pins "for a rest and a vacation."

Chevalier and Miss Vallee were married October 10, 1927, in a little church near St. Cloud—before he had acquired his present fame in talking pictures.

At the time of the marriage, both he and his wife were well known in Paris for their performances at the Casino de Paris and at the Palace Theater.

Pianist Collapses, Dies of Starvation

LATROBE, Pa., July 22.—Starvation and exhaustion caused the death here today of a man believed to be John F. Jones, Jr., 52, a pianist, whose only known address was Imperial Hotel, New York. He had been unconscious in the Latrobe Hospital since Tuesday, when found on the Lincoln Highway.

Wrong About Rain, Wife Loses Divorce Suit

If it had rained earlier on that night in July, 1929, when Mrs. Constance Viale, 35, went on that automobile party, perhaps she might have had her divorce today.

But Judge Sylvester J. Snee was convinced it hadn't, so he granted the divorce to her husband, Charles Viale, 36, contractor and health officer of Penn Township. She had also sued.

There were several in the party. The others stepped into a barbecue. But Mrs. Viale and Henry Stein, named co-respondent, sought refuge in a nearby schoolhouse from, Mrs. Viale explained, the rain.

But the court felt the rainfall hadn't begun then.

The Viales, married in 1917, have two children.

Find Truant Alligator Asleep

SOMERSET, Pa., July 22—(AP.)—On a rock overlooking Koozer Run, an alligator which spread consternation among campers and vacationists, slept peacefully last night, while citizens' fears of bodily harm ebbed away.

The 'gator escaped its owner Wednesday night and ambled into the darkness. All night the woods and lowlands were searched. A new shift worked yesterday. Then, as twilight descended, two small boys screamed discovery of the reptile.

Lying near the water, only a few yards from where he disappeared, the alligator dozed. His owner laid plans to return him today to a cage.

GERMAN CHIEF BREAKS PLOT

By EDWARD L. DEUSS

International News Service.

BERLIN, July 22.—Gen. Kurt von Schleicher, Reich minister of defense, has smashed a plot of Prussian malcontents to create anarchy in Germany through the medium of a general strike.

Reich Chancellor Franz von Papen has refused to let his dictatorship in Prussia be used for political purposes and he has therefore rejected demands that he suppress the Communist party and proscribe its members as public enemies.

These important developments today followed action of the Reich government, backed by President von Hindenburg and the military machine commander by the grim Von Schleicher, in turning the in-

Train Leaves Rails, Demolishes Station

MARLEY, Ill., July 22.—(AP.)—Neither derailment of a 24-car Wabash freight train nor demolishing the station at Marley caused any deaths or severe injuries today. All 24 cars were thrown off the track and all that was left of the station was splinters.

Two Gagged, Bound Men Found Slain

NEW YORK, July 22.—(INS.)—A double murder confronted police today. The bullet-torn bodies of two unidentified men, their mouths sealed with adhesive tape and their hands tied behind them, were found in a vacant lot at Bayside, Queens.

BOY ON TOY CAR JAMS TRAFFIC

Blonde, curly-headed Billy Wilson, 3, of Urbana, O., was a traffic law violator in Central Police Station today, tagged "lost."

Billy and his velocipede snarled traffic at Wood and Water streets this morning, until Traffic Officer Norbert Graney rescued the boy. A half-hour after his "arrest" Billy was restored to his parents and continued on the motor trip to New York state.

When Graney took the youngster from the street, Billy set up a howl which the purchase of a brightly-painted soldier failed to quiet. Billy then was taken to the matron's department of the police station.

A few minutes later Earl Wilson, with his wife and two other children, arrived to claim Billy. The father said he had stopped to change a tire and, while Mrs. Wilson cared for the other babies, 5 months and 18 months old, Willie moved away on his velocipede.

Dog Thrice Saves Boy From Rattler's Fangs

DAYTON, O., July 19.—(AP.)—Myra V. Stolzenvoss, sleek Doberman pinscher, knows nothing about allegory.

But today she was in a dog hospital, having taken part in a very good allegorical story in which Myra V. was Courage; the boy, Gene Boldman, 3, was Innocence; a red rose was Temptation, and the coiled rattlesnake was Evil.

Innocence and Courage were engaged in a boy and dog romp on the parents' lawn, when Innocence saw the wild rose and desired it. Childish hands reached for it. Suddenly Courage growled, then barked excitedly. Then Courage closed her paws in the seat of Innocence's rompers and dragged him away.

But the childish mind of Gene did not comprehend danger, and again reached for the beautiful flower. Again Courage barked and dragged Innocence away by the seat of his rompers. This time Innocence was knocked down in the scuffle, and Innocence boxed Courage's jaws in reproof. Courage slunk away, but turned when Innocence the third time hurried to possess the beautiful flower.

Just as the baby hand was outstretched, the lithe body of Courage cut the air. Her sharp teeth settled into the coiled rattlesnake that lurked beneath the rose. The poisonous forked tongue struck out. The life and death struggle was brief. Evil was slain, and today Courage was licking her wounds in the dog hospital, the hero of the family.

LEGAL FORMALITIES TO DELAY 4-SYSTEM RAIL MERGERS

I. C. C. GRANTS CONSOLIDATION PERMISSION

Many Details Remain To Be Worked Out By Roads

WASHINGTON, July 22.—(AP.)—The four great eastern trunk line railways authorized to consolidate eastern carriers today faced long and arduous negotiations and legal formalities before they can bring the proposed four unified systems into being.

The action of the Interstate Commerce Commission in modifying its 1929 consolidation plan did not in any way consolidate the railroads. It merely gave permission to bring them together into four systems instead of the five originally planned and specified a line-up it believed best in the public interest.

FAVORABLE COMMENT

The commission action, however, came in for almost unanimous favorable comment by railway executives. Officials here asserted the commission action was "probably the best that could be expected."

Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore and Ohio, in New York expressed satisfaction with the commission's lineup. R. D. Starbuck, executive vice president of the New York Central, said he believed the plan "upon the whole" met the spirit of the consolidation provisions of the transportation act.

Pennsylvania Railroad officials refused to comment.

Negotiations for the sale or exchange of railroads and parts of railroads and trackage rights approved by the commission now must be resumed if the plan is to be carried out.

ARRANGEMENTS

The Baltimore and Ohio must arrange with the Pennsylvania for transfer of the Lehigh Valley Railroad; the New York Central must try to buy the Virginian; the Chesapeake and Ohio must negotiate with the New York Central for the Shenango Forks-Oswego division of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad; efforts must be made to purchase the extremely valuable United States Steel Corporation railroads; negotiations must be carried on for divisions of a portion of the Pittsburgh and West Virginia between the four systems; negotiations for trackage rights which would let the Chesapeake and Ohio reach Hoboken, N. J., and the Pennsylvania station on Manhattan Island, must be resumed, and a score or more of other deals must be consummated.

After these agreements are concluded the next step will be for the systems to come to the commission with their lineup ready for approval. It may be several years before this is done because of the business situation and the low quotations of railroad stocks and bonds. Some financial experts believe many security holders will refuse to sell their stocks and bonds at present prices. There are other steps which will also require long and detailed work.

PENNSY HOLDINGS

The commission ruled that, although the Pennsylvania might be willing to accept the plan, it could not until it had sold or placed in the hands of trustees all its holdings and those of its subsidiaries in New England roads.

The Pennsylvania and its subsidiary, the Pennroad Corporation, now have 22.70 per cent of New York, New Haven and Hartford stock. The Pennroad has a 19.25 per cent interest in the Boston and Maine, of which the Boston Railroad Holding Company, owned by the New Haven, has another 26.18 per cent.

As one reason for blocking Pennsylvania progress into New England, the commission said that of the 57,000 miles included in the consolidation, 31.5 per cent would go to the Pennsylvania, 24.5 to the Chesapeake and Ohio-Nickel Plate, 23.7 to the New York Central, and 20.3 to the Baltimore and Ohio. The commission added:

"The Pennsylvania system wil not only predominate in size, but most likely in financial strength, for the properties allocated to it earned in 1929 and 1930 a greater annual return on the investment therein by about 0.5 per cent than was earned on the properties allocated to any of its competing systems."

These Be Nightmarish Nights :-: By QUIN HALL

RAIL PLAN ENDS TAPLIN DREAM

New Trunk System Scheme Thrown Into Discard

Far-reaching changes will take place in the railroad systems serving this district if the four-party consolidation plan approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission is effected. Some of these changes appear advantageous to the city while others will be less favorable than plans in the original five-system merger idea.

F. E. Taplin's dream of forming a new trunk line to extend from the Great Lakes through Pittsburgh to Baltimore has been definitely thrown into the discard. Taplin, chairman of the Pittsburgh and West Virginia, proposed to link his road with the Wheeling and Lake Erie in the West and the Western Maryland in the East. To do this he recently completed a 38-mile extension of his line to Connellsville where the Western Maryland is joined.

The original merger plan of the commission would have permitted the formation of this system and would have included it in the great Wabash-Seaboard, or fifth system. But the latest plan would make other distribution of these roads.

The Baltimore and Ohio would be allowed to retain its control of the Western Maryland. This bars the formation of an additional trunk extending from Pittsburgh to the East.

By leaving the Delaware and Hudson out of the four-party merger picture, the commission would retain L. F. Loree as an active figure in the railroad business. Loree has been the dominant figure in efforts to secure permission to build a new short line from Pittsburgh to Easton, Pa.

The new merger plan would give the Van Sweringen lines access to the Pittsburgh district by awarding them the Bessemer and Lake Erie Railroad. This road is now controlled by the United States Steel Corporation and it is doubtful if the organization would be willing to sell. The Pittsburgh Coal Company also is believed to be unwilling to sell its Montour Railroad, which would be jointly operated by the four leading systems.

active Prussian cabinet into the streets.

RIOTS FLARE

Meanwhile at Hemberg rioting broke out between the followers of Adolph Hitler and adherents of the Socialist Reichsbanner party. Police attacked the rioters and drove them from the streets. Two Nazis and four Socialists were injured.

The Communists were the chief factors in the conspiracy that aimed to disrupt German industry by a nation-wide strike, ostensibly in protest against the Reich's imposition of a dictatorship, but in reality a move toward revolution and the overthrow of all authority.

BACKED BY SOCIALISTS

The Communist plans, it was learned authoritatively today, had the secret support of Socialists who were willing to stake their own future and the fate of Germany upon a brief alliance with the anarchical elements which have made a glass of beer the price of political murder in Prussia.

Prompt action by the police, now part of the military organization controlled by von Schleicher, checkmated the scheme for a general strike, with its attendant rioting and bloodshed. In all parts of Prussia the police descended during the night upon Communist printing plants. There they seized and destroyed millions of leaflets calling upon the workers of Germany to join in a general strike.

GERMAN ON 3RD HOP TO U. S.

LIST, Island of Sylt, July 22.—(AP.)—Capt. Wolfgang von Gronau, German aviator and hero of two previous trans-Atlantic flights from Germany to the United States, took off from here again at 11 a. m. today for Chicago.

He was accompanied in his seaplane, known as the Greenland Wal, by a crew of three, including a second pilot, a mechanic and radio operator. His route will be substantially the same as that followed in his two previous flights in 1930 and 1931, by way of Iceland, Greenland and Labrador.

His first stop was planned for Iceland. His first stop in North America was scheduled to be at Montreal.

CROWD IN PANIC AS GAMBLERS' SHIP BURNS

U. S. Boats Rescue 90 From Barge In Pacific

SAN PEDRO, Cal., July 22.—(AP.)—"Gamblers' row," off Long Beach, was a subdued stretch of water today, with one of its three barges of chance destroyed by an unexplained fire last night and another under surveillance because of a mysterious slaying.

While Los Angeles police were making arrests in an endeavor to link the killing of Charles Bozeman on the Rose Isle, last Monday, to a "gang of eastern robbers" whose activities allegedly resulted Tuesday in the death of John Miley, the barge Johanna Smith burned to the water's edge in three hours.

MAD RUSH TO RAILS

Forty members of the crew and croupiers, and about 50 guests, were aboard the former lumber schooner when flames broke out at bow and stern almost simultaneously. In a mad rush to the rails, the ship's carpenter, E. A. Odette, received two broken ribs.

Several of the panic-stricken were prepared to leap into the sea with chairs and tables as life preservers when four Coast Guard cutters and three Navy shore boats sped up and removed all.

Clarence Blazier, of Long Beach, owner, said he believed he had saved all the ship's cash, scooping it from tables and safe and jamming it into satchels. The games ordinarily required between $50,000 and $100,000.

The Johanna Smith burned at the identical spot where the gambling ship Monfalcone was destroyed by fire two years ago. The Rose Isle and the third of the row, the Monte Carlo, were anchored a few hundred yards from the Johanna Smith.

SLAYING CLUES

Police Capt. S. J. McCaleb, announcing the arrest of four men, said Miley, found shot to death in an alley as he was fleeing from a drug store robbery, did not commit suicide as was at first believed, but was shot by another robber with whom he had quarreled over division of the loot.

The information, McCaleb said, came from one of the four men, Ed Allen, alias Al Reed, 25, who identified Miley's body at the morgue as that of a bandit leader. Next, McCaleb said, Allen viewed Bozeman's body and declared the ship gambler was a "fence" for Miley's band.

Allen was quoted as saying Bozeman had $15,000 worth of gems in his possession a short time before he was shot in a stateroom.

McCaleb said he was hunting for a "red-haired St. Louis gangster" on Allen's statement that one man was responsible for both killings in a struggle for control of the gang.

IRISH MAY BALK ON TARIFF PACT

OTTAWA, Ont., July 22.—(AP.)—The Irish Free State and the Union of South Africa gave indication of balking at the principle of preference tariff dealing as the imperial conference settled down to work today.

In the objection of the Irish Free State, as voiced by Sean T. O'Kelly, head of the delegation, there was an echo of the brewing tariff war between the Free State and Great Britain over President De Valera's refusal to pay land annuities. O'Kelly said:

"Special difficulties have recently arisen which affect about 85 per cent of our external trade and which may involve substantial changes in the form and direction of that trade, as well as the economic structure of the country."

N. C. Havenga, South African Minister of Finance, emphasized that South Africa could not subscribe to the theory of a self-contained and isolated British empire.

HEAT REMAINS DESPITE STORM

Hospital, were confined to beds by the heat. The illness of the nurses was described as a gastric disturbance induced by the heat.

The deaths of four of the victims, Mrs. Mary Haley, 84, of 1322 Hamlin street; Andy Kowach, 43, of 5122 La Dora street, Hazelwood; August Ek, 52, of 388 Summit street, Wilson, and William Goewey, 71, of 6911 Kelly street, was attributed to heat prostrations, the Coroner's office reported. The other three were drowned while seeking relief from the heat in the rivers. They were Samuel Forman, 38, of 1828 Merriman way, South Side; Kenneth A. Keller, 11, of 149 McCoy road, Stowe Township, and Herman Green, 9, a Negro, of 119 Crawford street.

WIFE SEES TRAGEDY

Forman was drowned in view of his wife, Anna Forman, and their friend, Mrs. Elizabeth Gorman, of 1918 Martin street, in the Monongahela River at the foot of South Nineteenth street. Keller was drowned in the back channel of the Ohio River at Neville Island, and Green sank in the Monongahela River near Lock No. 1. The bodies were recovered by police.

The nurses reported ill, according to Virda Sheely, assistant night supervisor of the hospital, are Lucille Campbell, Kathryn Parker, Martha Lee, Mary Stephens, Adele Tarr, Helen Goff, Zelma Tudar and Beatrice Freymark. Their condition is not serious.

Rose Nausick, 22, and Eva Marie Nausick, 17, sisters, of 1836 Locust street, were rescued from drowning at City Beach No. 10 in the Monongahela River by Guard Benjamin Nowak yesterday.

Nowak dove into the water and rescued the girls when they lost their grip on a tire tube with which they were paddling around and sank. Agnes Hilbert, 19, of 1838 Locust street, who was swimming with the girls at the time, tried to help them, but failed.

John Yekel, 56, of 820 Loyal way, was overcome by the heat in Warrington avenue. In the fall he injured his head and was taken to South Side Hospital.

Suffering fractures of both wrists when he fell from a swing at the city pool in the Monongahela River at South Second street yesterday, Michael Dolinski, 14, of 162 Arlington avenue, was taken to South Side Hospital.

In Gibsonia lightning struck on the farm of C. C. Bakewell, killed a heifer, split a tree and missed three other heifers nearby.

HOOVER SIGNS JOBLESS AID MEASURE

Action Will Provide New Stimulus For Business

WASHINGTON, July 22.—(AP.)—A mighty federal hand holding food for the hungry, work for the jobless and new energy for business extends today into every corner of the land—the new relief bill is law.

It was signed yesterday by President Hoover, without comment, so the Reconstruction Finance Corporation immediately could begin placing its $1,500,000,000 in new funds where the money would do the most good.

Mr. Hoover delayed final approval of the bill several days after he publicly called it a "step toward recovery." One reason for the postponement was to let the corporation prepare for a flood of loan applications already on the way to the capital.

The corporation was ready today for its new work, and it was indicated the chief executive might be ready soon to announce successors to Gov. Eugene Meyer, of the Federal Reserve Board, and Paul Bestor, Farm Loan commissioner, whose retirements from the corporation directorate were ordered by the new law at the President's request. He said they had too many other things to do.

The new law makes $300,000,000 available for loans to states to relieve unemployment distress; increases funds of the corporation from $2,000,000,000 to $3,800,000,000; allocates $1,500,000,000 for public construction and self-liquidating private loans, the financing of agriculture through credit corporations; allows $120,000,000 for federal highway aid advances to states; permits expenditure of $16,000,000 on national parks and forest roads and trails; makes possible the use of $186,224,000 for public buildings and waterway improvement when the Treasury condition permits.

Likewise, it lets the Federal Reserve banks, subject to approval of the Reserve Board, discount eligible paper for individuals and corporations.

When the measure was signed, the President had not yet settled his difference with Democrats over whether it would be necessary to make public the corporation loans or simply send them to the House and Senate each month.

ELY TO MEET ROOSEVELT

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., July 22.—(AP.)—Gov. Joseph B. Ely, leader of the anti-Roosevelt forces in Massachusetts, agreed today during a two-hour conference with James A. Farley, Roosevelt campaign manager, to meet the Democratic presidential nominee in Albany next week.

The conference between Farley and Gov. Ely assumed particular significance as the Massachusetts Governor, who placed Alfred E. Smith in nomination at Chicago, is the only anti-Roosevelt leader who has not given his support to the national ticket.

Roosevelt and Young To Discuss Europe

ALBANY, N. Y., July 22.—(INS.)—America's international relations will be discussed by Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Democratic presidential nominee, at his Hyde Park home tomorrow with Owen D. Young, noted industrialist and reparations expert.

city, state and national extravagance.

A little while ago, the national government spent less than one billion a year. It will spend four thousand seven hundred and fifty millions this year. National, state and local government expenses increased 347 per cent between 1923 and 1929, while the national income increased only 148 per cent, and population only 26 per cent. No wonder Mr Karker worries but he need not WONDER.

The citizens of this nation have concentrated intensely on their own individual enterprises, from a new fall overcoat to a new radio, and have paid little attention to their government except to vote perfunctorily, nearly half of them neglecting that.

Braddock Firemen Defy Burns to Battle Flames

Officials of the Wilson-Snyder Manufacturing Corporation were at a loss today to explain origin of a fire which late yesterday destroyed a building housing their garage, blacksmith shop and pattern warehouse at Talbot and First streets, Braddock. Damage was placed at $70,000.

Seven firemen were injured, including William Miller, 35, Rankin; Harry Barkley, 22, North Braddock; Carl Kerling, 34, North Braddock; Edward Shockling, 20, North Braddock; Jack Harrigan, 18, North Braddock, and Albert Totten, 25, Braddock Township. They were taken to Braddock General Hospital. A spectator, Aloysuis Totter, of Braddock Township, also was injured and is in Braddock General Hospital.

The faces of many of the firemen were blistered, but after receiving treatment the men continued on duty.

The fire began on the second floor of the two-story frame and sheet iron building, officials said. Flaming embers damaged roofs of homes of Mrs. Margaret McKay, 123 Second avenue; Philip Richardson, 125 Second avenue; Mary Demuskey, 110 Second avenue; Mrs. Florence Kuzosack, 116 Talbot avenue; Steve Gruey, 112 Talbot avenue, and Frank Duran, 110 Talbot avenue.

Johnson, Lindy Case Man, Sails; Girl's Kiss Adieu

NEW YORK, July 22.—(AP.)—The Daily News says that Henry (Red) Johnson, who figured in the Lindbergh kidnaping investigation, sailed for Oslo, Norway, yesterday and that an unidentified girl kissed him good-bye.

It was Johnson's friendship with Miss Betty Gow, the Lindbergh baby's nurse, that drew him into the kidnaping investigation. He was absolved of implication in the case.

Johnson sailed under a Norwegian passport, the News says, but the circumstances of his departure and whether he will be allowed to return were not disclosed. He had been ordered deported as an alien.

NORFOLK, Va., July 22.—(AP.)—Dean H. Dobson-Peacock, one of the three Norfolk intermediaries in the Lindbergh kidnaping investigation, sailed yesterday for Havre, on the steamer City of Newport News. From Havre he will go to England to visit relatives.

BONUS VETS PLAN PASSIVE RESISTANCE TO D. C. EVICTION

IGNORE ORDER TO VACATE BUILDINGS

Tension Grows as Army Reiterates Plan to Stay in Capitol

By EDWARD B. LOCKETT
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, July 22.—Ordered to clear out of their billets on lower Pennsylvania avenue by midnight tonight, the bonus-seeking veterans were directed to offer passive resistance unless other billets are provided for them by that time.

National Commander Walter W. Waters told the World War veterans encamped here that the bonus army must create no disorder on its own initiative, but directed that its soldiers take no evacuation orders from any one but himself. The group in the Pennsylvania avenue quarters number about 1,800 men and comprises the 6th regiment of the army.

GLASSFORD CONFERS

Superintendent of Police Glassford conferred with federal legal officials with a view of determining just what steps he should take in evacuating the men.

Waters old his men if the police did not provide other quarters for the veterans they plan to move out of Pennsylvania avenue billets, these men will have to be moved out bodily. Closing his speech, he said:

"What measures the authorities will resort to to enforre the evacuation order I do not know. I do know if they choose to evict the members of the B. E. F. from their cantonment at Third street and Pennsylvania avenue, they will have to evict them bodily. If they choose to arrest them—well, the housing problem will be taken from the shoulders of the B. E. F. and placed on those of the District of Columbia and its jails.

READY TO CO-OPERATE

"The B. E. F. is ready to co-operate with the government of the District of Columbia in any fair and reasonable order affecting the District and the B. E. F.

"But let the people of the District of Columbia, their commissioners, the national administration and the people of the United States understand one thing clearly: The B. E. F. intends to remain in Washington, a property of the government for which they once offered their lives."

A passive state of war existed following announcement by police they were ready to carry out the command of District Commissioners to evacuate the army by August 4, and the firm declaration by Waters that his forces have no idea of leaving, order or no order.

It was admittedly a ticklish situation, and one which officials feared might precipitate trouble of a serious nature.

VETERANS UNITED

The evacuation order has had one disastrous effect from the standpoint of officials already. Prior to the order, internal trouble which developed some days ago was sending hundreds of veterans home, feeling that their fight for payment of soldiers' adjusted compensation certificates was a hopeless one, and jealous of leaders in the bonus army. Now the opposing factions have forgotten their differences. Some of the old internal strife still rankled a little, but was placed far below a common joining for the defense of the whole army.

The marchers were leaving before the order came, but there was a perceptible slowing up of applications for transportation and subsistance home at the Veterans' Bureau today.

Roy W. Robertson, of Los Angeles, who heads 300 or more California "rebel" marchers, plans to take his outfit away from Washington on a political barnstorming tour as a result of the evacuation order.

Overbrook Veterans Off for Washington

A group of 30 Overbrook war veterans left in two trucks and two automobiles last night for Washington to join soldiers gathered there to plead for the bonus. Food and supplies were taken in one of the trucks.

Four Die as Quake Traps Eight in Mine

Rescuers established communication with the European, who told them three of the natives were still alive.

Educator's Ouster Over Co-ed Smoking Sought

CHARLESTON, W. Va., July 22.—(AP.)—A resolution was introduced in the House of Delegates yesterday that would call for the resignation of President John Roscoe Turner, of West Virginia University.

Action on the resolution went over until Friday after Speaker Taylor refused to entertain motions to refer it to committee.

Reasons cited by Delegate Sycafoose (Dem.), of Webster County, for the proposed ouster were that President Turner has permitted the smoking of cigaretes by co-eds, has permitted the teaching of evolution and "has neglected the work of his office by entering into partisan politics."

Another resolution adopted by the House was designated to prevent renewal of Dr. Turner's contract at the present figure of $15,000 annually, pending consideration by the Legislature of a bill to fix it at a maximum figure of $7,000.

BLOWS TRADED AT GENEVA

GENEVA, July 22.—(AP.)—A session of the Inter-Parliamentary Union in the next room to the World Disarmament Conference broke up today in a violent row between the French and Italians.

The controversy arose over who knew the most international law and above the tumult the French delegates shouted "Assassins of Matteotti;"

(The slaying of Giacomo Matteotti, a Socialist deputy, was one of the startling events of the early Fascist regime in Italy.)

Gen. Italo Balbo, head of the Italian delegation at the disarmament Conference, rushed from the conference hall to the scene next door where disorder reigned.

The police were called to restore order.

It developed that the French Socialist deputy, Renaudel, and the Italian deputy, Costamagna, had started the trouble.

The Frenchman objected to the Italian's attempt to instruct the meeting on parliamentary procedure. Some blows were struck before the disorder was ended.

'DROWNED' BOY REGAINS LIFE

Walter Bryson, 8, was rapidly regaining normal activity at his home, 834 Fifth avenue, Brackenridge, today, unaware that he had been given up for dead yesterday as he was pulled unconscious from the Allegheny River at the Tarentum Boat Club beach.

When the lad, attending a picnic, fell into the river he was drawn beneath a boat. He was under the water six minutes, witnesses said, before he was rescued by Richard Fritzmeier, 16, of Tarentum.

First-aid workers said the boy's heart had stopped beating. They attempted resuscitation, however, as Dr. A. K. Weaver, of Tarentum, hurried to the scene with an inhalator. After an hour's work with the inhalator the boy was revived.

The boy's mother, Mrs. I. B. Bryson, and his grandmother, who had seen him apparently drown, collapsed.

U. S. Pilot's Death Laid to Dope Gang

SHANGHAI, July 22.—(INS.)—Capt. J. Niclo, American pilot of a Yangtze River steamer who disappeared from his vessel's bridge last July 13, was stabbed and thrown overboard by four Chinese, according to reports from Hankow today.

The Chinese were believed to be opium smugglers who were taking revenge for the American's refusal to permit them to conceal their drugs aboard his ship.

Three Job Hikers Arrested, Freed, Given Lift

GREENSBURG, Pa., July 22.—Three youths hiking westward and alleged to have entered a cottage in summer colony at Kingston, east of here, were discharged on charges of breaking and entering following a hearing before a justice.

The youths, Arthur Gordon, 17, Newark, N. J.; John Curlette, 17, and Arthur Lapointe, 16, of Boston, told police they had been camping along the route and did not intend committing a theft. A kind-hearted constable took them in his automobile as far as Pittsburgh, where they were to resume their journey to seek work in the western harvest fields.

DENIES CHARGE IN GIRL'S DEATH

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 21.—(AP.)—Although he admitted he either advised or treated four women who died within a period of 10 days, Dr. Richard Thacker, former army physician, denied today that he performed an illegal operation on any of the four.

Thacker pleaded not guilty when arraigned on a murder charge in the death, April 23, of Robbie Lou Thompson, 21-year-old telegraph company employe. He was ordered held without bond for preliminary hearing August 2.

The 55-year-old physician, arrested earlier in the week near Springdale, Ark., said Miss Thompson "either had been treated by another doctor or had attempted to treat herself."

Thacker also denied treating Mrs. Frank Lee, wife of a University of Oklahoma football player, who also died as the result of an alleged illegal operation.

LIBBY IN MOVE TO GAIN ESTATE

By DAVID P. SENTNER,
International News Service.

WINSTON SALEM, N. C., July 22.—(INS.)—The first step in the litigation over the estate of the late Zachary Smith Reynolds, the youthful heir to $15,000,000 who was found fatally shot on his sleeping porch, appeared to have developed today.

A letter was received from a New York law firm by W. N. Reynolds, uncle and guardian of the 20-year-old boy. The communication asserted that a member of the firm had been appointed an executor of the Smith Reynolds estate.

Charles Babcock, husband of the former Mary Reynolds, sister of Smith, was sent to New York City by the uncle to inquire into the status of the matter.

This information was learned exclusively by International News Service from an authoritative source.

It was assumed that the law firm was representing Mrs. Libby Holman Reynolds, Broadway singing star and widow of Smith Reynolds. Mrs. Reynolds has been in seclusion with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Holman, in Cincinnati.

2 WOMEN DEFY MOB TO END MINE SIEGE

Carry Food to Coal Pit Prisoners, Bring Truce in Feud

SULLIVAN, Ind., July 22.—Largely because of the courage of two women the siege of the Hoosier coal mine was being lifted today.

The two women—Mrs. Irvin Coffey, 60, and her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Emil Coffey, 20—braved an angry army of 3,500 unionists to bring food and water to the famished and thirsty handful of 27 men, two women and a child, held prisoners in the open coal pit since Wednesday morning.

Returning from their errand of mercy, the two women brought out two of the besieged workers for a conference with representatives of the union miners and Gov. Harry G. Leslie, who had hastened here from the state capitol at Indianapolis to intercede in the emergency.

PEACE CONFERENCE

The conference lasted through the night in a garage here and early today Gov. Leslie announced that a truce had been reached.

Accompanied by Adjt. Gen. Paul E. Tombaugh, of the Indiana National Guard and Sheriff Harry Williams, the two women drove through the camp of the union besiegers to the mine. The younger Mrs. Coffey carried her baby in her arms. The automobile contained jugs of water and parcels of food.

The two women had ignored the Governor's warning of the risk involved in their expedition to the mine. The elder Mrs. Coffey said:

"My son is there."

The young woman said:

"And he's my husband—the father of my baby."

MINE TO CLOSE

The truce called for the abandonment of the siege by the unionists. In return, the organized miners were promised that the Hoosier mine, which had been operating under a federal injunction protecting its co-operative nonunion character, would be closed immediately.

Pending final arbitration, it was agreed that the three companies of National Guardsmen, sent here to quell any possible outbreaks, would guard the mine property.

The two women in the pit rushed to the mine Wednesday morning to be with their husbands when the union workers first began converging from all parts of the state. One of the women had brought her child into the besieged mine.

Monks, 50, said to have been a "remittance man" on the Pacific Coast more than 30 years, was in a dazed condition.

An hour after the door was forced, George Otsuka, 40, Monks' valet and chauffeur, was arrested as he returned to the apartment.

Monks was sought on a San Diego warrant charging him, his wife, Mrs. Antoinette Monks, and her uncle, Wiley Lee Watson, with issuing a worthless $115 check at San Diego.

Pittsburgh Portia's Plea Frees Jailed Fiance

DETROIT, July 22.—Marian Waldron, 25, of Pittsburgh, may not know a T-bone steak from a Porterhouse, as she admits, but as a strategist she might show Portia a few courtroom tricks.

Three days after Marian arrived here on her vacation, her fiance, Jack Angel, 27, a butcher, was jailed for 15 days for ignoring traffic tags.

Yesterday Marian went before Traffic Judge Maher with this plea:

"When I saw Jack in jail he asked me to run his butcher stand. I tried, but I don't know a Porterhouse from a T-bone steak and now he's losing trade. Besides, my own vacation is at stake."

Judge Maher, relenting, reduced Angel's sentence to a $50 fine and paroled him.

The butcher business is picking up.

WOMAN ADMITS HOAX IN ERIE BEACH DEATH

False Identification Made to Collect Insurance

ERIE, Pa., July 22.—After four hours' questioning, Mrs. Roselia Miller, 48, of Westminster, near here, confessed that the body of the man found on the beach at Waldameer Park, and thought to have been a resident of Pittsburgh, was not that of her husband, George Miller.

Mrs. Miller admitted that she had perpetrated the hoax in an effort to collect on insurance policies on the life of Miller, whom she said she met in the City Mission in Pittsburgh in 1929, and whom she claims to have married in that city.

CHARGES FILED

As a result of her confession charges of attempting to defraud insurance companies were lodged against her by county officials and she is being held in the Erie County Prison in default of $2,000 bail for a hearing.

Mrs. Miller, who weighs nearly 300 pounds, police said, told she was born in Rose Berg, in Millvale, Pa., 48 years ago. At the age of 18 she had become the mother of three children by a man to whom she was not legally married. All the children died.

Her first marriage was to a man named Elliott Leffingwall, whom she divorced in California and who, she claims, was arrested for smuggling Chinese into that state.

Her second marriage was to a man named Herwick, and the third legal marital venture to Miller.

FOUND ON BEACH

The body of the man, whom Mrs. Miller late Wednesday identified as that of her husband, was found on the shore of Lake Erie at Waldameer Beach, early Wednesday morning. The body, that of a well-groomed man about 50 years old, bore clothing purchased in Pittsburgh stores.

Mrs. Miller's identification of the body was made at the Erie County Morgue late Wednesday. At that time she told authorities that her husband was 33 years old and that she had not seen him in three years. Because of the differences in ages, authorities were not convinced that the body was that of her husband, and Sergt. E. J. Price, of the state police, and District Attorney Martimer E. Graham joined the Erie County Coroner in his investigation.

As a result of Mrs. Miller's confession last night, funeral services, arranged by the woman for this morning, were halted. The body, which is still unidentified, remains at the Erie County Morgue.

Mrs. Miller's father, Albert Berg, Sr., 616 Lorenz avenue, West End, said today he knew nothing of the case, furthermore, hadn't heard from his daughter for eight years. Her brother, Albert Berg, of Etna, also was unaware of the case and said he had not seen his sister in several years.

10 FEARED LOST IN LAKE STORM

PONTIAC, Mich., July 22.—(INS.)—Between 10 and 14 persons were feared to have lost their lives in Pontiac Lake as police today dragged the waters for bodies.

The victims were believed to have been drowned when their small boats capsized during a terrific rain and wind storm last night.

One body—that of William Burns—has already been recovered.

Fear that the storm had taken a heavy toll of lives arose when five empty boats were found.

Authorities said at least 10 persons who went boating on the lake were missing.

Dragging of the lake proceeded far into the night.

So violent were the high winds accompanying the rain, that telephone and lighting wires were grounded, leaving this entire section dark and without means of communication.

Ziegfeld, Ill, Past Immediate Danger

HOLLYWOOD, July 22.—(INS.)—Florenz Ziegfeld, New York theatrical producer, today was pronounced "in no immediate danger." He is suffering from the after effects of pneumonia. His physicians said he would not fully recover for some time.

PERJURY SIFTED IN 3D DEGREE INQUIRY

MINEOLA, N. Y., July 22.—(AP.)—The grand jury continued consideration today of the "third degree" killing of Hyman Stark, and there were indications that special attention was being given to the possibility of perjury indictments against policemen charged with murder, assault and conspiracy to obstruct justice.

When Justice Meier Steinbrink, at conclusion of a John Doe hearing into the slaying of Stark, a robbery prisoner accused of attacking a detective's mother, issued warrants for 13 policemen, he suggested that evidence also be given the grand jury concerning the truthfulness under oath of the defendants.

POLICEMEN ACCUSED

The warrants charged four policemen with second degree murder, seven with second degree assault, all 13 with conspiracy, and Deputy Police Chief Frank Tappen with neglect of duty and being an accessory to a second degree murder.

County police have been superseded in the investigation of the death of Stark, who died of a broken Adam's apple after a beating.

State Police Lieut. Francis S. McGarvey and the four troopers assigned with him to supersede county detectives in the third degree investigation, gathered information today not only on the Stark case but also about another alleged police beating.

LITTLETON LINKED

Since Stark died charges have been made that Michael Leo Chirillo, who was arrested on an attack charge by one of the detectives accused of beating Stark, also was beaten by police.

Chirillo asserted last night that he was beaten in the presence of Assistant District Attorney Martin W. Littleton, Jr., who was the chief witness against the police in the John Doe hearing into the Stark death.

CIVIC CLUB RAPS LEGISLATORS

The Civic Club of Allegheny County today sent letters to county members of the Legislature in which regret was expressed that voters, especially in Allegheny County, have assumed a hopeless attitude toward accomplishments of this session of the Legislature. Nothing but condemnation is expressed for the lack of decisive and clear action in behalf of the measures for which the present special session was called, the letter declared. It continued in part:

"The Civic Club in making recommendations acted in good faith after due consideration of proposed legislation which it was believed would be safe. The utter disregard with which such recommendations are received and acted upon leads to a point of discouragement that reflects no credit upon the intentions of the majority of representatives in Harrisburg.

"The times demand the obliteration of politics and a sincere and earnest effort to meet the emergencies of the present while safeguarding the future of the financial structure of this commonwealth. We appeal to you to take your place as Allegheny County members among those who desire to end this session with effective results that justify the expenditures of moneys for special sessions."

Gretna Guard Saved From Flaming Tent

MT. GRETNA, Pa., July 22.—(AP.)—First Sergt. William Orr, of Oil City, woke up this morning in his pup tent on the Pennsylvania Guards' camp grounds and found himself in the midst of flames.

Capt. Lee Bryan, also of Oil City, medical officer of the 112th Infantry, saw the flames about the same time, gave the alarm and helped Orr out of his burning tent, but only after the Sergeant had been partially overcome by smoke.

Guardsman Killed By Gun Accident

PUNXSUTAWNEY, Pa., July 22.—(INS.)—Victim of an accidental gunshot wound, Ronald Pifer, 18, of near here, was dead today.

A shotgun standing in the corner of the youth's room mysteriously discharged while he was changing his clothes in preparation for a trip to Mt. Gretna with Troop L, 104th Cavalry, Pennsylvania National Guard, of which he is a member.

NEW YORK, July 22.—(AP.)—Sidney Balizer is back in his cell today learning some more law. After studying hard he submitted a long brief, asking the Supreme Court to force the Parole Commission to fix the exact time he has to serve under an indeterminate sentence for burglary. He lost.

Man Here Gets State Job, Another Fired

HARRISBURG, July 22.—P. D. Seybold, of Pittsburgh, today was appointed supervisor in the Department of Labor and Industry. At the same time the Governor's office announced the dismissal of Richard J. Walsh, Pittsburgh, a sanitary officer.

Champion Pacer's Grandson Now Police Horse

A grandson of the champion pacer, Dan Patch, 1:55, today is doing duty as a mount for Traffic Officer John H. Sellman in Renziehausen Park, McKeesport. H. H. Renziehausen, donor of the park, purchased Bob Patch, 6-year-old, for the city, after Prince Charming died two weeks ago.

Although Bob Patch's grand sire was a champion, whose record had stood for more than 25 years, Bob never was a racer. Once he was trained for six weeks. His dam was Little Patch, 2:08.

Mr. Renziehausen purchased Bob from H. C. Taylor, of Herminie.

11 New Cases Put Under Quarantine

The City Department of Health today reports these new cases in quarantine: Scarlet fever, 3; mumps, 1; measles, 1; whooping cough, 4; chicken pox, 1; pneumonia, 1.

WALES' FRIEND LOSES GEMS

NEW YORK, July 22.—(INS.)—A clever thief, lifting jewels from socially prominent women, whose latest victim is a friend of the Prince of Wales, was sought by police today as perpetrator of two new gem thefts netting the robber $45,000 loot.

Both Mrs. David Dows, Brookville, wife of the wealthy Sheriff of Nassau County and friend of the prince, and Mrs. Maxine H. Furland, of Park avenue and Princeton, N. J., strangely lost jewels while attending different farewell parties aboard ocean liners on which their friends sailed.

Mrs. Dows was robbed of a $35,000 diamond-studded bracelet, While Mrs. Furland reported the theft of a $10,000 diamond-set platinum brooch.

Only recently, Mrs. Payne Whitney, social leader, was robbed of a $25,000 brooch.

ARTIST SCORES 'INSULT' TO BED

NEW YORK, July 22.—(AP.)—James Stewart Carstairs, internationally known but now bankrupt artist, bid a bitter goodbye to art and antiques today, but the thing that grieved him most was an indignity suffered by his 300-year-old bedstead.

Stripped of his valued possessions at a red flag auction sale, Carstairs complained of those who came to bid or stare. He cried:

"They sat on the bed of Charles II, the bed I wouldn't let any one so much as touch."

Furniture, first editions and paintings for which he expected to get at least $50,000 sold for only $7,000, he was informed yesterday. Assailing Americans as "rogues and children," he said he would renounce art and look for another job. But he will accept, he said, no task that will bore him to death. He declared:

"Unless I find a congenial occupation I prefer to destroy myself."

Self-Styled Son Of Titled Briton To Be Deported

SAN FRANCISCO, July 22.—(INS.)—With money saved by working as a charwoman, Mrs. Godfrey Shaw-Hay has begun a desperate last-minute fight to prevent deportation of her husband, who claims he is the son and heir of the late Sir James Shaw-Hay, once governor general of Barbados Island in the West Indies.

Shaw-Hay, who says he is the son of Sir James and "the daughter of a one-time commander of the Belgian army in Brussels," is now in the state hospital at Stockton, where he was committed several months ago. Immigration authorities, who contend he is the son of a Barbados Negro woman, announced he will be deported August 1 to Barbados.

PROBE MURDER OF RICH WIDOW

MENLO PARK, Cal., July 22.—(INS.)—"Some day all this may be mine."

San Mateo County authorities investigating the murder of Mrs. Edith Orr Spencer, wealthy society matron, were attempting to solve the meaning of that statement today.

It was made two weeks ago by John Viano, gardener of Mrs. Spencer's luxurious estate, authorities learned today when they questioned Vincecent Cruz, Filipino houseboy. Cruz said Viano told him:

"'Chauffeurs here have been marrying their wealthy mistresses lately. Who knows? Maybe I will do the same. All this some day may belong to me.'"

The body of Viano, a suicide, was found two hours after the crumpled body of Mrs. Spencer, a widow, shot through the head, had been discovered.

Tear Gas Holdup Gang Aided by Girl

SWARTHMORE, Pa., July 22.—(AP.)—Fingerprints found on a tear gas pistol and an abandoned automobile today furnished the chief clues to police seeking four men who escaped with $1,967 in a holdup of the Morton National Bank at Morton, near here, yesterday. A boy told police he saw the men abandon the car and speed away in another driven by a woman.

The robbers scooped the money from a cash drawer after blinding a teller, Harry A. Tryons, and Miss Betty Hardesty, of Rutledge, a customer, with tear gas.

Gadski Death Leaves Husband Broken Man

NEW YORK, July 22.—(AP.)—Hans Tauscher, former representative in the United States of the Krupp Works of Germany, sailed today still suffering from injuries received in an automobile accident in Berlin, which resulted in the death of his wife, Mme. Gadski, former prima donna of the Metropolitan Opera Company. Tauscher said:

"My life is over. I had one great interest in living and that was in my wife. Now that she is gone it does not matter much what happens."

BROTHERS HURT IN POLICE CHASE

The gestures of the Quebec preventive police meant nothing to W. J. Naughton, 47, and Harry L. Naughton, 45, brothers, of Heinz terrace, Sharpsburg, as they sped through the Canadian country late yesterday on a vacation trip.

To the police, however, the gestures meant "stop," and when the Americans failed to comply, the officers gave chase. The automobile was halted after a three-mile chase when the back tires of the machine were punctured with revolver shots. The automobile was wrecked and the brothers today were recovering from injuries in a hospital at Riviere du Loup, Quebec.

The elder brother is suffering from internal injuries, while Harry sustained only facial cuts.

NEW ENGLISH WEEKLY MAKES VEILED THREAT

That the Lausanne Conference was an effective and exceedingly skillful conspiracy "to pass the buck to America," and to compel this country to sign the check on the dotted line for European powers, is revealed by the distinguished British editor, critic and economist, Alfred Richard Orage, editor of the "New English Weekly."

In an editorial upon the real significance of the recent Lausanne Conference as a device to outwit America, Mr. Orage writes in the issue of July 14, 1932, of his weekly, published in London, that unless America wakes up in time, her next administration, whatever party wins, will subserviently do what the European powers want to be done.

The editorial follows:

The ball, or shall we say buck, has now been passed to America; and we cannot but objectively admire the skill with which it has been placed.

A world conference held under the auspices of England alone and with a divided Europe as a factor would have permitted America to attend and do nothing further about it.

But by procuring the semblance of a Christian agreement among the nations of Europe and by inviting the League of Nations to convoke the world conference, it will be exceedingly difficult for America to appear in anything but the role of Shylock under cross-examination by the whole of the rest of the world.

The choice of an authority, moreover, for the custody of the proposed German bonds is an additional constraint upon the present unwillingness of American public opinion to forego payments at the expense of higher taxes.

The Bank for International Settlements, closely interwoven, as it is, with the League of Nations, will in all probability become, from its custody of the German bonds, the central bank of all the central banks of the world. In so far as American financiers desire to play on the world's green tables, it is eventually by the good will of the Bank for International Settlements that they will be permitted to do it.

What is then more probable than that, after the election, be the new president Republican or Democrat, and be public opinion in America what it may, the agreement registered at Lausanne last week will be indorsed and confirmed by the American delegates at the forthcoming world conference?

It is by no means, however, smooth sailing or easy steering. America, no doubt, for all her policy of "isolation," is extremely susceptible to world-opinion.

A world united under the League of Nations with its cashier in attendance to accept signatures on the dotted line will be hard for America to refuse.

On the other hand, the incalculable and the unreasonable happen just as often in America as elsewhere, and perhaps more often. Should the unexpected occur and America decline to indorse the policy of the league, the result must be left to be guessed. WE DO NOT CHOOSE TO PUT IT INTO WORDS.

HELD IN PASSING OF FAKE CASH

Jesus Lavin, 23, a Spaniard, was arrested yesterday by United States Secret Service operators on a charge of passing two counterfeit $5 notes at the store of Max Fierman, 59 Logan street. Lavin, according to the operatives, said he had been "writing numbers" for "Kid" Angelo.

Lavin, it was said, had the two bills changed in Fierman's store. When the proprietor took the bills to a bank they were detected as bogus currency and Lavin was arrested on a description given by Fierman. He was also said to have tried to pass a bill at the store of Nathan Fierman, 62 Logan street.

The federal men are seeking the source of the counterfeit.

Institute Dropped, Will Save $60,000

A saving to taxpayers of more than $60,000 will be made this year by suspension of the annual Allegheny County Teachers' Institute, usually held the week of August 20, C. E. Dickey, county superintendent of schools, said today. He added that teachers may be asked to attend district institutes without pay.

The institute was eliminated as an economy measure, it was declared.

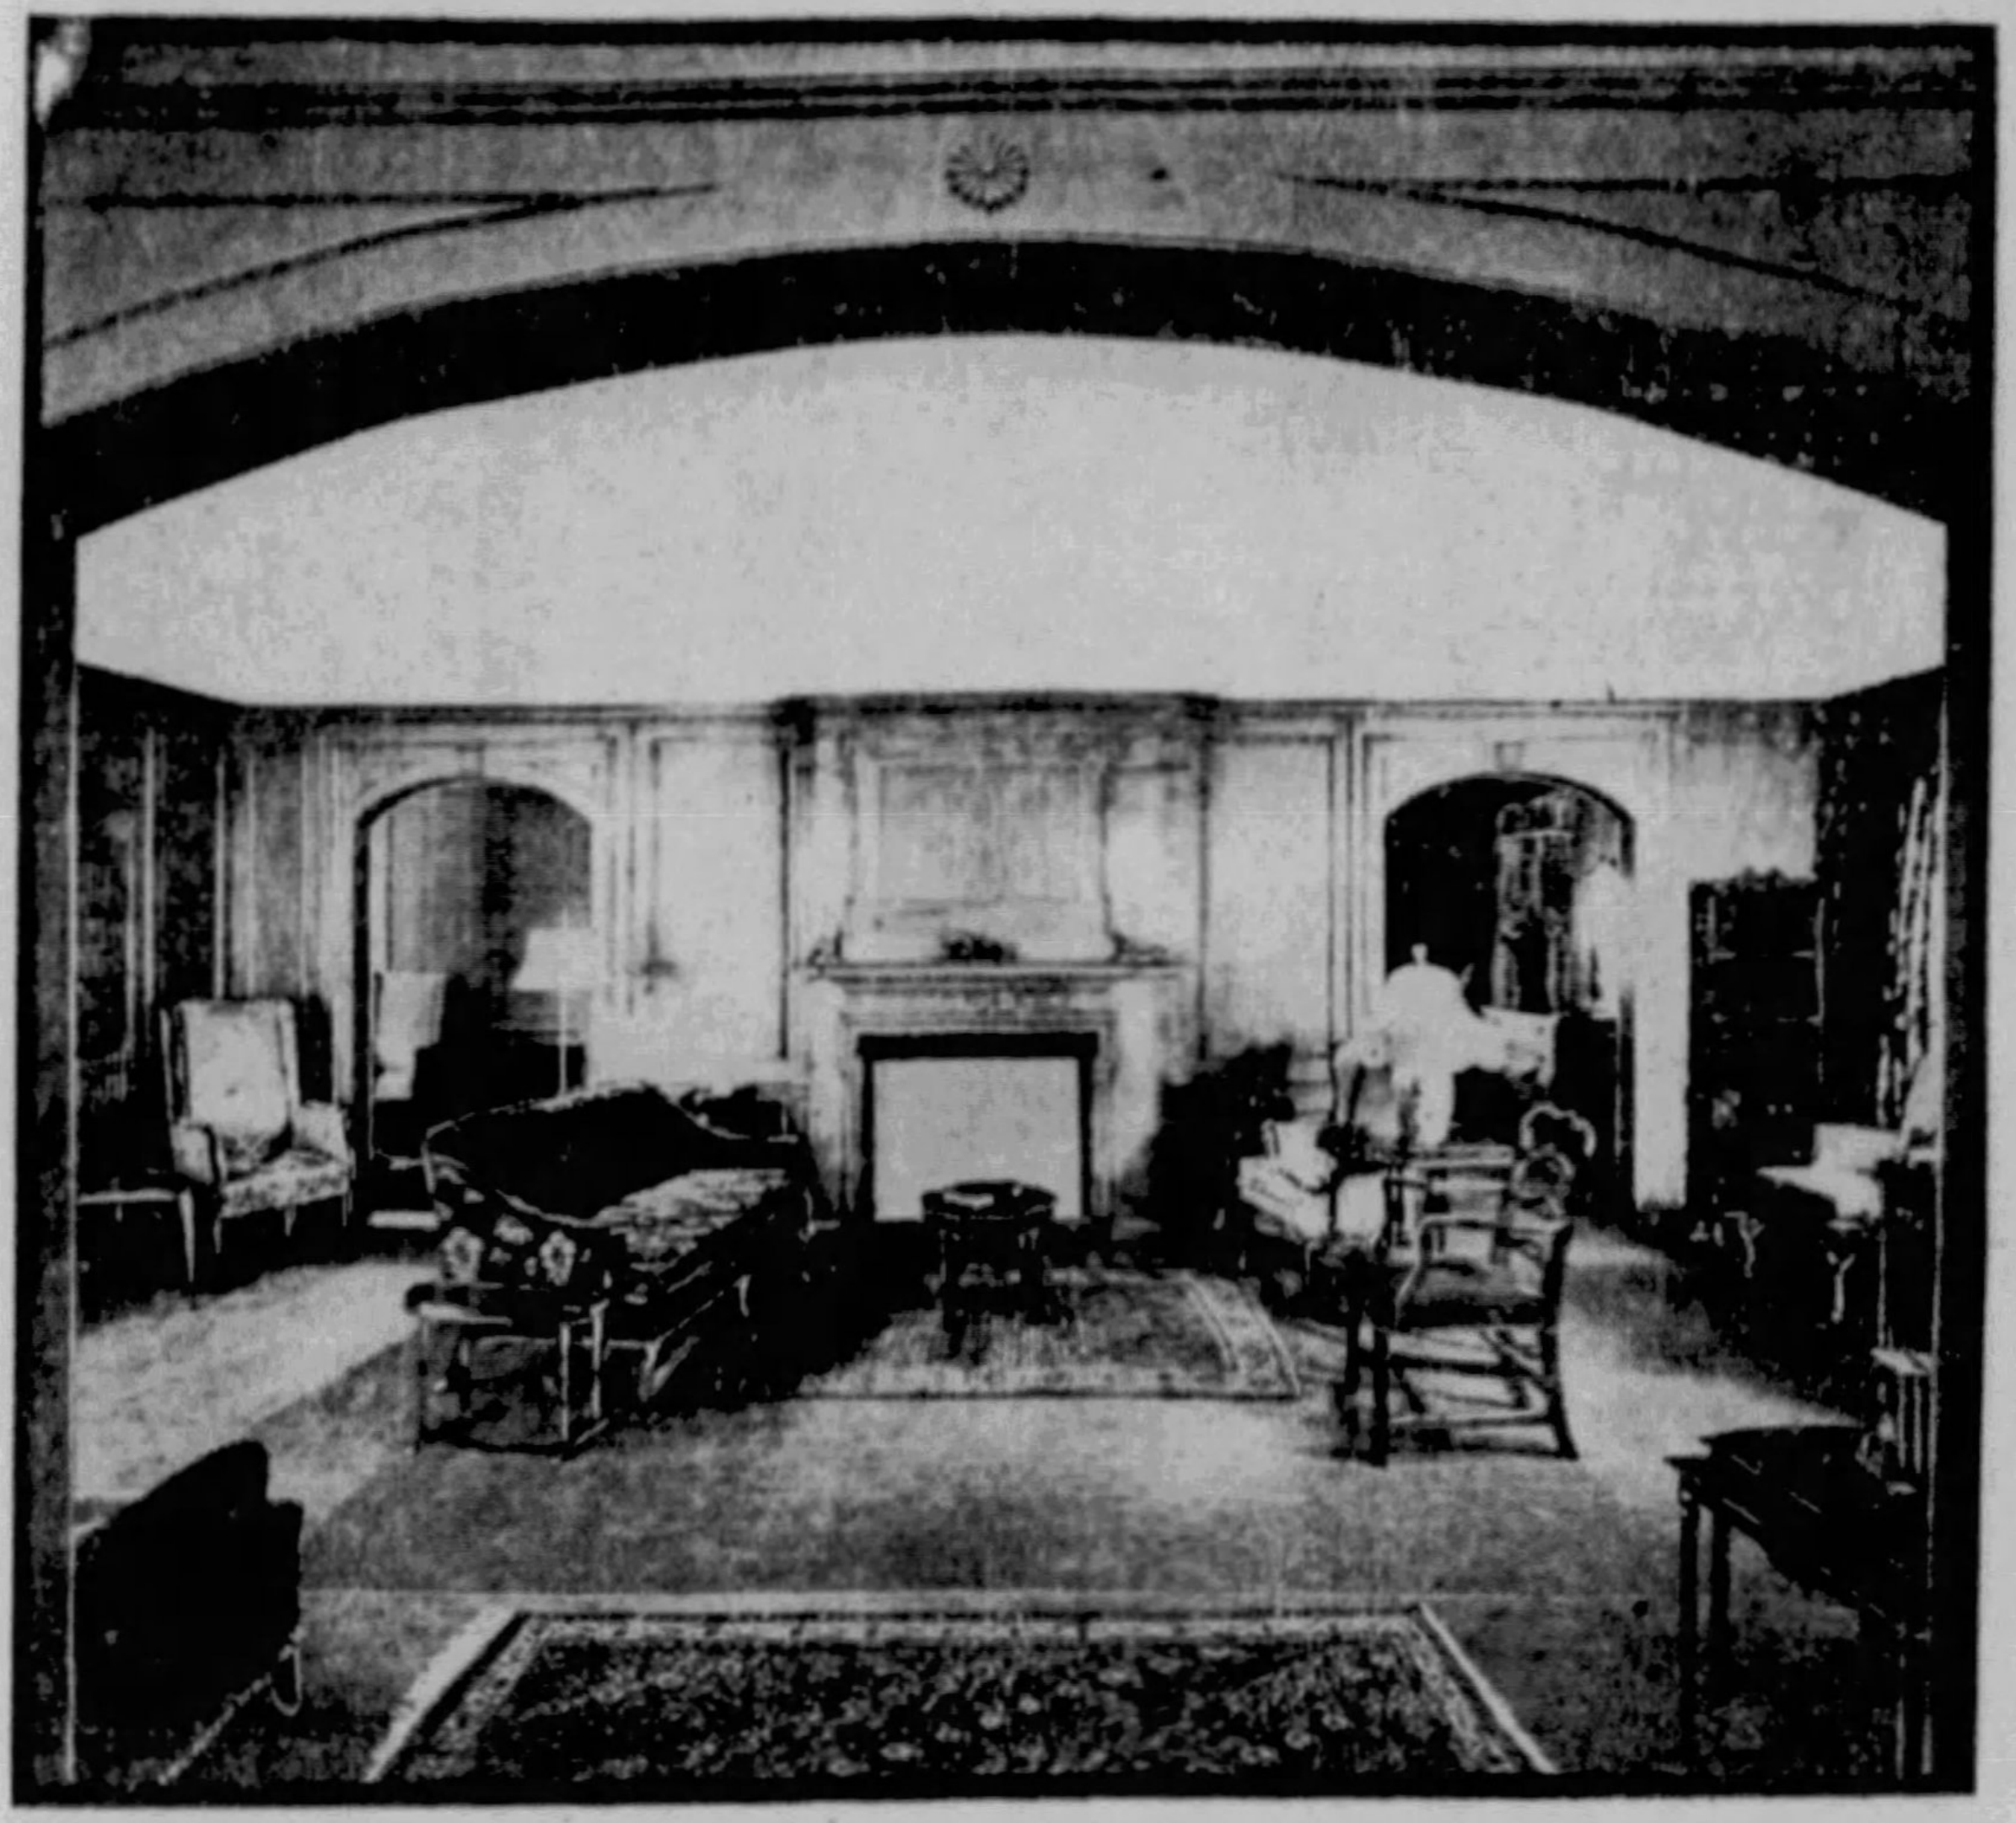
A PREVIEW OF THE AUGUST SALES

An Innovation

In the Display of Fine Furniture

The Irwin Rooms

Pittsburgh has never seen anything to equal this group of 17 newly built, newly furnished rooms, prepared under the direction of Robert W. Irwin Company, manufacturers of fine furniture, whose Royal and Phoenix lines are well known to the discriminating public. The rooms were designed and decorated by Ernest R. Cooper, formerly president of Cooper-Williams, interior decorators, of Boston, and now associated with the Robert W. Irwin Company. The furniture was specially designed by J. Stuart Clingman, head of the Irwin designing staff, and a furniture designer of national renown.



Messrs. Irwin, Cooper, and Clingman, the three men responsible for this unique exhibition, will be here Saturday for the opening of the rooms, and will be happy to exchange ideas with Pittsburgh architects, designers, builders and others interested in the decorative arts.

These rooms offer, for the first time, the complete collaboration of a master decorator, and a recognized furniture designer in the single purpose of creating a series of original room schemes expressing the modern American home spirit on a foundation of the best classic periods, such as 18th Century English, Chippendale, Federal, Directoire, and Louis XVI.

They will command the interest and attention of every cultured, home-interested woman in Pittsburgh and from far beyond. The exhibit stands alone as an example of modern merchandising of fine furniture. You are invited to attend the opening of this exhibit tomorrow.

Furniture 15% Off

An August circumstance that is recognized and availed of, by thousands of Pittsburghers. The general low prices of all furniture today merely serve to accentuate the opportunities. It is not specially bought, not sale created furniture, but regular standard Horne quality, ranging from the inexpensive to the very fine, that is offered for your selection.

The best statement of the case is the furniture itself, and the August Sale prices. This is the purpose of the Courtesy Days, which start tomorrow: to give you a chance to examine the values, to your own satisfaction, against any and all competition.

Convenient payments may be readily arranged. We will be happy to explain our plan in detail to interested persons.

The August Sale of Furs

Furs, like furniture, must be bought largely on confidence. This is particularly true this year, when quality standards have been imperiled in many quarters by expediency and competitive exploitation. In Horne furs, we have stressed the elements of quality, beauty, and reliability, this year, with greater care than ever, because of competitive conditions.

Horne August Fur values will acquit themselves in any test that the prospective shopper cares to apply. Courtesy Days, starting tomorrow, furnish the opportunity to make full and complete comparisons before making the important decision involved in the purchase of a fur coat. Horne August Sale values fully justify the purchase of winter furs at this time.

A deposit of 25% will hold Fur selections made at this time for delivery when desired, at which time the balance may be paid. Many people find this a convenient way to purchase furs, rather than making the entire payment at one time.

Two State Highway Detours Announced

Two state highway detours have been announced for Western Pennsylvania, beginning August 4. They are:

Waynesburg - Morgantown, W. Va., two miles earth over Route 121; bridge at the Washington-Greene County line, three-tenths mile concrete over old Route 88.

PACT SEEN NEAR ON COPYRIGHTS

NEW YORK, July 22.—(AP.)—The National Association of Broadcasters reported they had "made progress" today toward reaching an agreement with the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers about fixing fees for use of copyright music.

After a meeting of several representatives of the association from various cities, Oswald P. Schutte, who has been directing the opposition to a rise in fees for the composers, declined to confirm or deny a report that the meeting had moved to ban altogether the use of copyright music by member stations.

Leaders of the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers also declined to disclose the exact state of negotiations, which have been in progress intermittently since last April. They appeared hopeful of an early agreement, however.

The musicians' group announced last spring that beginning June 1, the radio station license fees would be increased to 5 per cent of the amount charged advertisers, a rise of about 300 per cent.

In protest of the broadcasters' group, Mills said the musicians agreed to postpone the fee rise until September, pending negotiations.

Strike of 27,000 Held Up by Parley

NEW YORK, July 22.—(AP.)—Representatives of workers and one group of employers today had reached a tentative agreement which would avert a threatened strike of 27,000 garment makers.

The controversy over a weekly wage as opposed to a piecework basis was virtually settled in a parley yesterday between the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union and the Industrial Council of the Cloak, Suit and Skirt Manufacturers.

What?

No AUGUST SALE at May-Stern's This Year?

This is an unusual year! It is different in every sense of the word! The old methods of former years simply will not do. In the midst of these changing conditions, with past conceptions of business readjusted daily in this relentless age of Progress—May-Stern & Co. MEETS THE CHALLENGE OF THE TIMES! We supplant precedent with daring, and blaze an entirely new course in our forward march of triumphant leadership.

We foresaw this new order of things months ago—AND ACTED! We recognized the fact that an August Sale would not be sufficient this year. Prices, for many months, have been at rock-bottom levels—but the public expects from May-Stern's, and is entitled to more than the usual August reductions. Therefore, we made preparations along entirely different lines than ever before. And we succeeded far beyond our expectations!

Greater—far greater than an August Sale! Savings that have never been equalled in our 26 years' history! Values that upset all previous standards in the history of furniture merchandising! That's what we will offer Pittsburgh instead of an ordinary August Sale.

Watch and wait! The news will break in Sunday's papers—and you can't afford to miss it!

A well-known musical comedy and vaudeville star and one of radio's most popular male quartets make their initial appearances as guest features with Paul Whiteman and his orchestra over an NBC network including WCAE tonight at 10. They are Aileen Stanley, who frequently has been heard in various programs over NBC networks, and Scrappy Lambert's Songsmiths. Following tonight's broadcast, Miss Stanley's "blues" and the quartet's harmonies will be heard each third Friday, alternating with other guest artists.

Miss Stanley

On the same station at 9:30, Lee Wiley, 20-year-old protege of Leo Reisman, is starred with the maestro and his orchestra during the latter's regular dance program. Miss Wiley's contralto voice tonight is heard in a chorus of a song she helped compose, "South in My Soul."

Spirituals sung by the Dixie Jubilee Singers, noted for their performance in the motion picture, "Hallelujah," are featured during the Kodak Week-End Hour with Nat Shilkret's Orchestra tonight from 9 to 9:30 on WJAS. Included on the program of the famous Negro chorus is "Waiting for the Trumpet."

Paul Gannon and the Lawson Sisters are starred with a string ensemble in a half-hour of favorite melodies on WCAE tonight at 6:30. The program is sponsored by the Dow Drug Company.

Operatic excerpts and musical comedy selections comprise a program presented by Edna Kellogg, soprano, a piano duo, a male quartet and Roy Shield's Orchestra on KDKA at 9:30.

Burkowski Paroled From Poll Case Term

John Burkowski, alias Jack Burke, former heavyweight prize fighter, 2421 Penn avenue, today entered upon parole for the balance of his one-year jail term. Judge Elder W. Marshall granted the parole after Burke had served 60 days. He was convicted of assault and battery and intimidating voters at the September primary.

Amphibian Upsets, Fliers Get Bath

CLEVELAND, July 22.—(AP.) Failure to pull up the landing wheels of an amphibian gave W. A. Warrick, of Cleveland and Kenneth Wright, 22, of Beaver Falls, Pa., a bath in Lake Erie yesterday.

The plane nosed over when it struck the water and coastguardsmen took the fliers from a perilous perch atop the wings. The amphibian was towed to shore.

We Can't Progress by Giving Our Chances to Others

Do you "stand aside for everyone" and expect the world to hand you a big, shiny medal because you do?

And then do you feel wronged and bitter because it doesn't?

Toby is in that kind of a muddle. All his life he has felt that he was being a big, fine guy because he never spoke up for himself, but let somebody else have the cream while he took the skimmed milk.

"Being generous," he called it.

But now he's beginning to wonder, because—

"Dear Sally Martin:

"The time has come for me to ask someone for advice, and you are the only one I feel can help me. Always, before I have figured things out for myself, and tried to help other people, too, but now I find I am completely bewildered.

"I am only 22, but I know a lot of the serious side of life—more than most young fellows of my age. I have always worked hard, and I have always been generous and put others before myself. I have always been willing to stand aside for anyone. But now I am beginning to wonder if it is worth while being like that.

"This is the way it is.

"A little over a year ago I met an awfully sweet girl and I learned to love her. I think she cared for me, too, but I am not sure; and this is the way it turned out.

LOST HIS GIRL

"I have chummed around with another fellow for a long time, and he fell in love with her, too, and began to try to date her out. At first she wouldn't go out with him, but that made him so miserable that I stepped out of the picture to give him a chance. He was my friend, and, as I said before, I have always tried to give other folks a break, so I didn't want to stand in his way, since he felt so badly about it and loved her so much.

"But now it seems as if the whole thing had turned out to be a mess. My giving him a chance wasn't appreciated. The girl didn't care for him—and now, because of my generosity to him, she is mad at me.

"I have tried to get her to go out with me again, but she treats me coldly and will hardly be even friendly.

"Can you tell me what is wrong? I was only trying to do what I thought was right, and it seems to me that when you are like I tried to be people should understand and give you credit.

"Do you think I will ever be able to make this girl understand and give me a chance to prove my love? TOBY."

SHOULD CHANGE WAYS

What do I think? I think you're the world's prize sap, young fella-me-lad! Yep! Just that!

For you'll never get anywhere, if you go through life always "standing aside for the other fellow"—and I don't blame the girl for being peeved.

In the first place, the first thing she would naturally think was that you didn't care a hoot for her, when you were so willing to back out of the picture without waiting to give her a chance to say which one of you she preferred.

In the second place, she probably thought, and rightly, that you'd be a mighty poor reed to tie to if you always gave the main chance to somebody else.

It is true that generosity is a fine thing, but it is also true that it is up to you to take care of yourself and what is yours, and if you continually let other people push you aside, you'll never be able to do it.

Can you get her back? I dunno, but perhaps if you change your notions, and can prove to her you've changed, she'll give you another chance.

Correct Manners

By Mrs. Cornelius Beeckman

Cocktail Spoons

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1. Will you please advise me which is the proper service for avocado and melon cocktail, spoon or salad fork?

2. Are all cocktails served the same way, whether fish, fruit or any kind? READER.

1. The spoon is the more convenient service for this kind of cocktail.

2. No. With the oyster, shrimp or crabmeat cocktail, we use the oyster fork. With fruit cocktails, we usually find that the teaspoon is the more convenient service, since there is usually a delicious accompanying juice to be eaten.

Veils.

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

You see a good many veils worn on hats today. When is the correct time to wear these veils? I have been told that they are for afternoon wear only. H. S.

Afternoon is really the correct time to wear a veil.

The Beauty Box

By HELEN FOLLETT

When long skirts chased kilts off the fashion premises, it was predicted that the fussy, fluffy coiffure would return, make the women look girly-girly once again. It did not materialize. The correct hair dress is sleek, formal, simple, its only ornamentation being those tight little button curls that have suddenly become all the rage.

Layers of fat on the back of the neck can be pounded out of existence. Massage operators do it all the time; it is one of the simplest tricks of the trade. The flesh is picked up between finger and thumb and rolled firmly, the process, breaking down adipose cells. Then the hammering starts. Ice rubs and applications of astringents finish the treatment.

Cut toenails straight across. Clipping at the sides is a practice that is responsible for ingrowing nails. Never meddle with the cuticle at the base of the nail. If it is cut, it will become thick, heavy and troublesome. A corn on the little toe signifies pressure caused by a shoe that is too narrow. If a shoe produces blisters on the heel, place a small pad under the heel of the foot.

Household Hints

The unsightly mark often left on a garment that has been cleaned with benzine can be prevented if the material is ironed under a damp cloth immediately after cleaning.

Place all left-over pieces of soap in an old pan with a little olive oil and allow to simmer gently over a slow fire until the two ingredients are thoroughly blended. Pour into flat tins and allow to set.

Few Human Fish Are Built to Wear Scales Becomingly, Says Fay King

By FAY KING

Some scientist said that long, long ago we were all fishes.

To see the beaches in the summer will convince any one that most of us still are.

Lots of folks are only happy in the water, and as unhappy as any fish out of it when they can't get a swim.

In summer they are satisfied to be sunburned sardines. In the winter they try to swim around in the ice like seals and walruses.

Even bathing suits are now as form-fitting as fish scales.

My objection to this is not a moral, but an artistic one.

So few human fish are built to wear scales becomingly.

I'm afraid it's some of the shapes they see that make the sea waves so sad!

HEART OF A WIFE

Continuation of Love's Reawakening

By ADELE GARRISON

Mary Sees a Chance to Get Even With Noel

"Have you thought what Noel is going to do?" Mary asked, when I had told her that I wanted her to pretend to "vamp" Ronald—with the boy cognizant of her pretense—in the hope that Marion would miss and begin to value the boy's devotion, which now she held so lightly.

"Not that it matters—fill the blank yourself and placate the censor," she said. "Noel has something coming to him to balance the scales for that hefty, romantic Whitman along-the purling-stream stunt this summer. Besides, it wouldn't be bad fun to give Angling Avis a lesson or two in a few scientific methods of making young men sit up and take notice. She's really crude, you know."

"She's impossible," I agreed, "but, Mary, I hope you're not going to see in this thing an opportunity for—"

I stopped, at the quizzical look in her dancing eyes, and she finished my sentence with an impish grin.

"Demonstrating to Noel the essential similarity of a diet for a goose and a gander?" she queried. "No, I'm not going out of my way to annoy the lad; but when a heaven-sent opportunity to combine duty with a chance for retaliation — gee! that's a swell word!—comes along, am I going to muff it? Ask me?"

"But I thought you had forgiven him for that—that—"

"Temporary reversion to the moron type? So I did. I was very sweet to him, but that doesn't mean I've forgotten that I had something to forgive.

"And seriously, Auntie Madge, don't you think Noel ought to have a chance to show how magnamious he can be, too? You know forgiveness is said to broaden and deepen one's soul, or something like that. I really ought not to deprive Noel of that opportunity for character-building. I'm sure my soul is fathoms deeper and miles wider since I forgave Noel."

"And effectually reduced Avis to atoms," I reminded her.

She dimpled and grinned at me.

"Oh! I'm some pulverizer," she admitted. "By the way, when am I supposed to begin this vamping process? Right away?"

"No, not until tomorrow," I said quickly, the thought that Noel was to be at the welcome dinner troubling me.

"Why not?" Her keen eyes searched my face. "D'ye mean that Noel is going to be among those present this evening?"

"Yes," I answered promptly. "I meant to surpise you, but you might as well know about it. Noel is coming to dinner."

"With his father?" Mary's face clouded. "And those—"

"With nobody," I told her sharply.

"Lady! Lady!" Her tone was suddenly concerned. "Old Phil will be so mad he'll sizzle. I'm afraid he'll take it out on you. He has a nice, medieval vindictiveness, you know."

"Yes, indeed, I do know," I agree, "but I think we've effectually disarmed him this time. Harry and Dicky saw Noel, and planned that he make a journey to the city, saying that he would be back late. Then he will drop in here to see me about the libretto, arriving after we have sat down to dinner.

"Of course, we will all press him to stay, and there will be nothing about the whole thing which can make Noel's father suspicious, especally as we shall take pains to let him know that we did not know you were coming back until this morning."

"It's a clever scheme," she commented, "and here's hoping it works out! And I'm with you in the other one. Don't worry about Noel. I'll take care that his tender feelings are not bruised unduly.

"But let's have one thing straight. I'll do an artistic job of vamping, but I'll not be the openly pursuing female, for anybody. Ronald must be schooled to do the chasing."

"He will be," I told her, with a confident little laugh that covered a distinct quaking of spirit. For, as I went in search of Ronald, I was exceedingly doubtful not only of the success but of the desirability of our plan to cure Marion of her apparent infatuation for middle-aged Charles Owen. There were too many explosive possibilities in it to suit me.

The Whole Trend is toward a Milder Cigarette

Do you remember the days when you first started to smoke?

ALL CIGARETTES tasted somewhat alike to you, but after awhile you noticed that some cigarettes were decidedly stronger than others... Remember?

As smokers become more experienced, they demand milder cigarettes. Chesterfields are milder. There is no argument about that. Their mildness is a feature as distinctive as their package or their trade mark.

Their tobaccos are mild to begin with. Patient ageing and curing make them milder still.

Chesterfields contain just the right amount of Turkish—but not too much—carefully blended and cross-blended with ripe, sweet Domestic tobaccos.

In this nerve-racking time, smokers—men and women—are showing a decided preference for milder cigarettes.

Chesterfields are milder. They taste better. That's why "They Satisfy."

POLICE INVADE BANKER'S HOME

HAVANA, Cuba, July 22.—(AP.)—A dozen secret policemen raided and searched the suburban residence of Henry C. Frazer, manager of the Havana branch of the Federal Reserve Bank of Havana, during his absence Tuesday night, it was revealed today.

A protest was filed by the American consulate. In response to Cuban authorities they expressed regret and declared the secret policemen had made an error.

The policemen approached the house Tuesday night and pounded the door until the maid, the sole occupant, admitted them. It was assumed the operatives had confused Frazer's home with others in the neighborhood which they believed concealed Communistic or subversive documents.

Soviet Ship Routs Japanese Fishermen

TOKIO, July 22. — (AP.)—A brief engagement between a Soviet Russian guardship and two Japanese crab fishing vessels occurred off the coast of Kamchatka today, a message from the Japanese government of Hokkaido province said. The message said several shots were exchanged and three Japanese were wounded.

Contract Bridge

HOW TO PLAY
and
HOW TO WIN

By JOSEPHINE CULBERTSON

The Charles River, which reaches the Atlantic in passing through the classic shades of Boston, has occupied a place in history entirely out of proportion to its breadth, beauty or length. Boston, the capital of the New England States, differs largely from other American cities, but in the Bridge-playing talent, as in many respects, it is the peer of many and the superior of most.

One of the strongest players of Boston is Mr. Robert M. Kimball. The hand below, which he played in the South position, indicates that, while he may be rather ambitious in his bidding, the skill of his play may be full justification for over-optimism.

South—Dealer.
Neither side vulnerable.

	North	West	East	South
♠	A Q J	6 5 3	7 4 2	K 10 9 8
♡	Q 3	K 8 5 4	J 10 9 7 6	A 2
◇	8 6 5	Q J 10 4 2	9	A K 7 3
♣	A K J 6 3	Q	7 5 4 2	10 9 8

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 ◇ (1)	Pass	3 ♣ (2)	Pass
3 N T (3)	Pass	6 N T	Pass
7 N T (4)	D'ble (5)	Pass	Pass
Red'ble (6)	Pass	Pass	Pass

(1) Much preferable to a no-trump.

(2) North's hand contains 4 honor tricks. The Forcing Takeout is therefore fully justified.

(3) South's minimum response is in a sense forced, as he cannot rebid diamonds and has no other biddable suit.

(4) Undoubtedly an overbid, but South has underbid his honor strength previously and North's bidding has been very strong.

(5) An unwise double.

(6) This redouble is entirely natural. It can at worst lose only 100 points, while the gain is very great.

In the play, West opened the Queen of diamonds, which South won with the Ace and led the 10 of clubs, planning to finesse, but West's singleton Queen dropped, obviating this necessity. Two rounds of spades were then won in the Dummy, another round of spades led, overtaken with the King in the closed hand, and the 10 of spades then cashed. This was followed with the play of the Ace of hearts, establishing the King of hearts in the West hand. Mr. Kimball then followed with four rounds of clubs, on all of which West was forced to discard. He parted with two diamonds and one heart, having been compelled previously to discard another heart on the spade 10. To discard the King would establish the Queen in Dummy, and to part with another diamond would make further defense in that suit impossible. In actual play, West gave up a diamond, and the remaining tricks were taken in the closed hand.

TODAY'S QUESTION:

West (Dealer) bids one heart. North bids one spade. East passes. South bids three clubs. Is South's bid a Forcing bid? North did not open the bidding. How could South make a Forcing bid after East had passed?

Answer: As West opened the bidding, South's bid of three clubs would not be Forcing. The only bid that South could make which would be Forcing would be a bid of two hearts, an Overcall of the opponents' bid suit.

LATIN AMERICA STRIFE VIEWED

WASHINGTON, July 22.—The malpractices and political ills of governments in South America are not due to ignorance alone, according to Prof. N. A. N. Cleven, of the University of Pittsburgh, who last night addressed a conference on Hispanic-American affairs at George Washington University here.

Prof. Cleven pointed out that the great majority of the founders of the Hispanic-American nations were profound students of political philosophy, and that the lack of stability in South America should be attributed "to the frailities of human nature and to the interplay of ambitious personalities." He said:

"The frequent coup d'etat, or revolution, in the South American countries, is not merely a turnover in the faction controlling the government, but a change in the fundamental laws."

Sleuth Spends $77, Then Raids Resort

NEW YORK, July 22.—(AP.)—The $77 that Dry Agent John Dowd says he spent for drinks and a bite to eat in the Club Calais brought woe to that Broadway temple of merriment.

Dowd went there as a cash customer at the behest of a "steerer," he said. Last night he returned with his badge outside. Twenty-five persons, including the steerer, entertainers and musicians, were arrested.

Dake Named Head At Plane Cup Race

CLEVELAND, July 22.—(AP.)—Robert E. Dake, of Pittsburgh, aviation representative for an oil company, has been appointed chairman of the Cord cup race, the continent-wide derby which will end as the national air races begin here August 27.

Dake, according to race headquarters, will leave for Los Angeles Monday and travel the route to be taken by the Cord cup derbyists.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Your Tongue Is an Index of Health or Disease

Much can be learned from an examination of the tongue. Prior to the discovery of the X-ray and other modern methods of diagnosis, the physician relied upon the appearance of the tongue, regarding it as an index of health. Years of experience taught these old time practitioners many secrets concerning health and disease, secrets that I fear today are often overlooked.

Dr. Copeland

As a medical student I was taught that the examination of a patient was not complete without a careful study of the tongue. I can almost hear my professor as he repeated over and over again that the tongue was a signpost in many diseases.

Careful scrutiny of the tongue of a sick child is of even greater importance than that of an adult. It will tell a great deal about the condition of the stomach and intestines, things the child is unable to describe.

In intestinal disturbances the tongue appears swollen and has a grayish coating, with irregular red spots. This appearance is often seen in cases of appendicitis and other inflammatory diseases of the intestines. When there is fever the tongue appears dry, having lost its normal, healthy, glistening appearance.

In certain diseases the tongue assumes a characteristic appearance. For example, the so-called "strawberry tongue" is seen only in scarlet fever. In this condition the tongue is first coated and grayish in color, but the tip soon becomes red, the grayish color disappears and the tongue assumes a bright red color with small knob-like swellings closely resembling a strawberry. When scarlet fever rash disappears the tongue loses its strawberry-like appearance.

In typhoid fever the tongue has a reddish color, only in the early stages. Later in this disease a high fever causes the tongue to become dry and brownish in color. In typhoid fever, as in many other diseases, it is often possible to determine the progress of the patient by the appearance of the tongue.

In kidney diseases, the moisture of the tongue is important. A moist, clean, healthy-looking tongue need never cause alarm, but a tongue that is dry, hard, cracked and coated means that there is some disturbance in the body. It may be due to an infectious disease, to any intestinal disturbance, or to faulty kidney action.

When you feel below par, examine your tongue. Compare it with the appearance of a healthy tongue. A great deal of information can be gained in this manner. Knowledge of the actions of the body in health and disease is a valuable asset.

TRADE REVIVAL SEEN THROUGH SPECULATION

Speculation will bring revival of business and risk insurances prevent repetition of present day suffering predicted Dr. S. F. Huebner, dean of the American College of Life Underwriters, Wharton School, Philadelphia, and nationally known economic adviser to the United States Chamber of Commerce.

Dr. Huebner blamed debts as the cause of present ills. Speaking before the Kiwanis Club of Pittsburgh in the Fort Pitt Hotel yesterday, with the Lions Club of Pittsburgh and Pittsburgh Life Underwriter members as guests, he said:

"In our peak days we had credit, but with themarket crash of 1929 we changed the name to debts. These must be liquidated. When liquidation has reached 65 to 75 per cent, we will know it, because there will be plenty of money. But speculation is necessary. Let the businessman buy copper futures. His speculation will compel employment. The same in grain, cotton, silk, rubber and tin. All this speculation will create work that in turn will create more employment."

He cited three forms of insurance protection for future depressions. A dividend insurance should be carried by corporations to protect stockholders dependent upon dividends for their living. The workers should be protected by an employment insurance whereby in prosperous days the employer and the worker would share equally in 6 per cent investment of the individual's wages. Investment insurance is the needed protection for the professional man, small business owner or partnerships, Dr. Huebner urged.

DE SOTO PLANS TO BE TOLD

De Soto dealers and salesmen in the Pittsburgh district will hear the sales plans of their organization for the second half of 1932, outlined at a meeting tonight in Webster Hall. Speakers will be R. M. Rowland, assistant general sales manager, and Orrin P. Kilbourn, vice president of J. Stirling Getchell, Inc.

R. M. Rowland

Tonight's meeting is one of 26 nation-wide gatherings in preparation for the sales campaign. Roy Reed, general sales manager, is directing the campaign.

SCAFFOLD FALLS, 4 HURT

BEAVER, Pa., July 22.—Four men were injured today when a scaffold upon which they were working at the Beaver County Courthouse collapsed hurling them to the ground 40 feet below. They are J. Balderson, New Brighton; Tony Signore, Rochester; Al Snyder, Baden, foreman, and John McCracken, Rochester, all taken to Rochester General Hospital.

The men were removing a large stone from the building, damaged recently by fire, when the stone slipped, splintering the scaffold and carried the men to the ground.

Thieves Rip Open Plant, Take Hoists

Thieves ripped two boards from the Combination Engine Company building, 3148 Penn avenue, and escaped with four chain hoists, according to a report to police today.

Minister Suicide Over Court Subpena

BOONE, N. C., July 22.—(AP.)—A threat that he would die before going to court had been made good today by Gold Ward, 36, Primitive Baptist minister and Watauga County Republican election official.

Ward had been summoned for questioning in a case charging election fraud. He was found dead at his home in the Laurel Creek section, shot through the heart.

STUDY STILLMAN INJURY

GARY, Ind., July 22.—(AP.)—Awaiting X-ray photographs from New York of a skull injury he suffered eight years ago, Mrs. Fifi McCormick, of Chicago, was at the hospital bedside of her 22-year-old son, Alexander Stillman today.

Surgeons expected the pictures to tell them whether a slight fracture of the youth's skull was incurred in a crash of his plane here Wednesday night or in a water dive in the East eight years ago.

Young Stillman spent a comfortable night, his condition continued good, and hospital attaches said he probably would leave for Chicago in a few days. His mother, former wife of James A. Stillman, New York banker, and his step-father, Fowler McCormick, of Chicago, spent the night in the hospital to be near him. Both had recovered from the shock of a forced landing while flying to his side Wednesday.

Marine, Bomb Hero, Returns to Post

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, July 22.—(AP.)—Donald Truesdale, U. S. M. C., of Lugoff, S. C., who is serving as lieutenant in the Nicaraguan National Guard, has returned to partial duty.

Last April one of his men stumbled and dropped a rifle bomb. Truesdale pounced upon it to toss it out of the way so that his men would not be injured. The bomb blew off his right hand. He has been recommended for the Congressional Medal of Honor.

Three Sue Carewe For Counsel Fees

LOS ANGELES, July 22.—(AP.)—A suit for $2,622.33 was on file today against Edwin Carewe, film director, brought by three London barristers who charged Carewe employed them to assist in the foreign distribution of motoin pictures and then failed to pay them.

The complainants are James Robert C. Smith, Charles C. Ross and J. P. Line. They are represented here by Lewis Sherman Jones, Los Angeles attorney.

HOBOES PAUSE, HONOR HOW

CINCINNATI, July 22.—(AP.)—Beside railroad water tanks and in "jungles" box cars and flop houses, the nation's hoboes paused today to pay tribute to their departed leader and benefactor — James Eads How.

Today was the second anniversary of the death of How, a Harvard graduate, who scorned a millionaire's life to ride the rods with the "wandering willies."

Jeff Davis, of Cincinnati, now "king" of the hoboes, has passed the word along the cross-ties to "commune today with the spirit" of the man who established the International Brotherhood Welfare Association that every hobo, tramp and bum could eat. David urged:

"Let us echo the name of James Eads How from pillar to post and all say a good word for one who never forgot others."

Daly Trust Fund Shrinks $2,000,000

NEW YORK, July 22.—(AP.)—A shrinkage of $2,000,000 in the trust funds set up by Marcus Daly II, copper magnate, for his widow and son has occurred since his death in November, 1930. They now are worth about $3,250,000.

H. A. Wheeler, of the Bankers Trust Company, trustee, disclosed this in filing affidavits with the Surrogate Court. Mrs. Daly was married this week in London to George d'Jamgaroff, Russian journalist.

Three Pittsburgh Girls in Air Race

MEADVILLE, Pa., July 22.—(AP.)—Three Pittsburgh women are listed as entrants in a special handicap airplane race from Pittsburgh to Meadville, to be held Saturday under the sponsorship of the Pittsburgh Aviation Country Club.

They are Velma Morris, Helen McCloskey and Helen Ritchie. Other entrants include L. C. Faurot, state aeronautics inspector; P. W. Chabt and Eddie Kitzmiller.

'LAST MAN' TOAST NOT WINE

STILLWATER, Minn., July 22.—(AP.)—A toast—probably his last—to 33 fighting former comrades of Civil War days, men with whom he rallied around an old bottle of wine at dozens of annual reunions, was the tribute paid last night by the "last man" of the Last Man's Club.

The last man, Capt. Charles Lockwood, 89, was the only one to answer when he called the roll of the club organized 47 years ago with one object, that the last survivor should drink a toast in wine to the others when for the first time he should be alone.

Lockwood fulfilled that pledge two years ago with wine but last night he substituted water as he raised his glass and repeated a poem ending, "to my comrades all, good bye."

Before him, amid flowers stood the bottle of old Burgundy, which is kept in a bank vault between reunions.

Big Shark Disables Boat Off San Diego

SAN DIEGO, Cal., July 22.—(AP.)—A giant shark disabled the tuna clipper California, which arrived here yesterday at the end of a tow rope. Capt. Rolf Silvera said the shark became entangled in nets cast for sardines, ripped the nets to shreds and broke off the California's rudder.

One fisherman said the shark was 50 feet long, but others scaled it down to 30 feet. It got away.

Walter Winchell
ON BROADWAY

Portrait of a Man Talking to Himself

Well, I didn't think he was on the up-and-up about it, anyway . . . I mean that exploiter for the new Broadway dining place, who wanted to pay a sum for an orchid I had tossed at it . . . And when his offer was snubbed, he said: "Well, here's something you can't turn down" . . . And then he unfolded an exciting plan in return for the testimonial . . . His place would feed 1,000 unemployed chorus girls, he said, until the season began . . . And that's the last I've heard of it . . . You'd think some of the Broadway spots would do it collectively—I mean the ones that are prospering—and several of them are . . . And it is a certainty that the girls, who have no homes here, but depend on the restaurants, would pay them back when the breaks came . . . They could identify themselves by showing their Equity or N. V. A. cards, whether or not they were paid-up, I mean . . . The only part about the whole thing that would spoil it, I'm afraid, is that too many of the caterers would invite the cameraman—to take photos and make it another racket . . . And if they didn't, I would choke from the shock . . . I've probably been wasting time regretting that I returned from the Hollywood scene too soon, instead of loafing until the town came to life again . . . Poor Willard Keefe, who quit New York for the Coast, must be weary of the monotony . . . He long distance phones friends here at 6 a. m. and cries, "For heaven's sake, talk to me!"

Leave it to one wag to figure out why so many actors are glad to sign autograph albums . . . He says with times being the way they are—most of them are glad to sign something . . . Wonder why they call that Riverside Drive spot "Inspiration Point" when the bluecoats won't let you park there long enough to be inspired? . . . That speakeasy owner in the latter 50s hasn't enough trouble, so the only customer of the afternoon ankled in and asked him to have a drink on him . . . And so he accepted—upon which the patron pulled a flask from a hip and poured! . . . The dizzy things you hear about Hollywood . . . The tale about the Austin Parkers, f'instance . . . Before they split . . . They maintained four different homes there, one for Austin to be alone in, one for his wife, Miriam Hopkins, to get away from it all in, another for them to be together alone—and a fourth when they wanted to be together publicly! . . . Probably a fact—considering he is an author and neened some privacy . . . Strange, too, how divorce reacts on that duo . . . Ever since the melting they've been devoted—and usually dine together . . . I've found out why most movie mags rarely need material . . . Each romance means four yarn . . . Number one is the rumor of the marriage. The second is the Happy Marriage Story. The third is the rumor of the divorce and the fourth is: "Why Our Marriage Wasn't a Success!"

Now my idea of good writing is the piece of Woollcott on the late Father Duffy . . . Who was it that said columnists were merely good listeners trying to be writers? . . . The most devastating crack ever aimed at the craft, but so true . . .

That Aimee Semple McPherson woman must be all right, regardless of all those stories about her in the rags . . . The tales that come to my desk about her charm, her manner and the good deeds she has done for people rate her right with me, at any rate . . . Never thought the day would come when Broadway dime-a-dance-halls would outnumber all the other diversions . . . A fruitful racket for the sponsors, at that . . . Hire all the good lookers they want—at no wage—and give them a percentage on the take. . . . Must be a fair enough proposition for the gals—when one of them said her income is usually 60 to 70 smackers a week . . . That ought to bring the shudders to the stenogs who labor long for considerably less.

I didn't think they existed any more—those spots called "steer" joints . . . But there it is . . . the lone holdout—hidden in a dark alley below Naughty-Second Street out of the Times Square area . . . The dozen or so hostesses are trained to handle chumps who have to drink to keep ennui from setting in, and these gals weather the storms by drinking what is known as a "down" . . . A "down" is a Delmonico glass of ginger ale, but the spender thinks he is getting her potted on hooch . . . Of course he pays six-bits for her drink, too—and that's how the money rolls in . . . In fewer words he gets the hooch and she gets the indigestion, but one must live . . . In the predepression days in 52nd Street, the most colorful of the "steer" joints enticed the biggest clunks . . . There the girls would keep the cash register bell busy by telling everybody in the place to be sociable and to play "Ring Around Rosie" . . . Of course all the stews responded and games would be played on the dance floor . . . The wind-up would be "The March to the Bar" in the rear—where each of the lads was urged to buy a round for the entire party . . . The group invariably numbered a dozen—and after the fourth or fifth drink, the bouncers had to be summoned to carry them out . . . But not until their pockets were rifled, of course . . . The good old days, the boys call them now . . . Perhaps . . . But it took one or two complaints to the gendarmes—and now look what's happened!

Can't remember having so good a time as I had the other evening at the Mayfair Theater where "What Price Hollywood?" isn't swindling the paying customers . . . "Winner Take All" with Master Cagney, perhaps, was the last good amusement, but this new arrival is a first-rate entertainment and reveals among other things that there is some intelligence in the cinema set . . . Probably because they recruited Gene Fowler, who prepared the screen version—and he's a newspaperman, whose novels are exciting, too . . . But Lowell Sherman's pretending in this grand screen show is something to see, and Connie Bennett's performance appears to be the best thing she has contributed yet . . . Maybe another reason why the movie minds seldom strive to be too good is that so many of the auditors do not appreciate their art . . . Those girls, f'rinstance, sitting in the same pew, who tittered at one of the film's most exciting scenes — when Sherman, a human wreck, looks at himself in the mirror and realizes that he is no longer in the parade . . . Which tugs at your heart and tightens the cords in your throat . . . But these girls tee-hee'd and I pitied them because it was over their heads . . . But the local adults will respond to every flawless moment of it . . . and see life as it actually unwinds in Hollywood or in Wappingers Falls . . . I salute the cast, Mr. Cukor, the director, and the others responsible for it . . . For it is Broadway's only excitement, and not one of those movies you go to see at 5 because you have a date at 6.

Romance Film In Fulton

By EDWARD W. GOSS

Sari Maritza, who, according to certain showmen, is the big "It" girl of Europe, made her bow to Pittsburgh movie goers yesterday in the Fulton.

Miss Maritza's vehicle is "Monte Carlo Madness," an appropriate title, for the picture is madness, spotted throughout with the outlandish.

The story, a tried and true favorite of producers,, circles about a hot-cha-cha queen of a little kingdom who goes heavy for a captain in her navy. It seems this cute little queen simply can't resist the swaggering way her captain disregards her queenly orders. This captain, played by Hans Alberls, is not too convincing in his part. He carries on like a master of ceremonies. Then, too, he lacks dignity. Everybody knows the captain of a battleship should have dignity.

It is in Monte Carlo where things happen. Here the queen dons the clothes and manner of the adventuress and meets her captain. Of course he is swept off his feet and the great love is born. They fight, though, and he learns who she is. The captain then leaps from his battleship and boards a passing steamer for Honolulu. And what does the queen do but turn her battleship about and cruise after him. Here the film ends.

Miss Maritza is entertaining in her role as queen, despite the disadvantages of the story.

Hearst Metrotone News and an interesting travelogue showing the wild women of Borneo round out the bill.

Escaped Prisoner Arrested in Ohio

Edward Heitger, 31, of Rochester, a federal prisoner who escaped from Beaver County Jail, December 7, has been captured by police of Youngstown, O., according to word received by special agents of the United States Bureau of Investigation. He was serving a year on a charge of transporting a stolen automobile.

Police Chief Jailed For Evading Tax

INDIANAPOLIS, July 22. —(AP.)—Claude M. Worley, former Indianapolis police chief, today was sentenced to serve six years in federal prison and was fined $10,000 on his plea of guilty of a charge of evading income tax payments.

Country

Marian Nixon is the sweet country lass in "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm," film opening tomorrow in the Enright.

A. F. L. ASSAILS U. S. FURLOUGHS

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., July 22.—(AP.)—The American Federation of Labor executive council has criticized sharply the interpretation of the five-day week and furlough provisions of the federal economy bill made recently by United States Comptroller General J. R. McCarl.

The federation will launch a legislative fight to have the "inequalities" of the interpretation corrected, the council said.

The council resented particularly announcement that federal employes will have no more vacations with pay, no sick leaves or leaves of any kind with pay, though 30-day furloughs, taken all at once or sporadically during the year, will be compulsory.

These regulations will "take away the real benefits which should follow introduction of the five-day week," the council declared.

Movie Bills Changed

Two "wise eggs" who were too wise is the story of "Lady and Gent," George Bancroft's latest starring picture opening today in the Stanley. Wynne Gibson plays opposite Bancroft and Charles Starrett, Jimmie Gleason and Joyce Compton have other leading roles.

Opening today on the Penn's screen is "Make Me a Star," with Joan Blondell and Stuart Erwin. The cast also includes Zasu Pitts and Ben Turpin. It is a new talkie version of "Merton of the Movies."

"Roar of the Dragon" is the feature picture billed to open in the Warner today. The players are Richard Dix, Zasu Pitts, Everett Horton and Hollywood's late find, Gwili Andre.

On the Fulton screen is Sari Maritza, Europe's "It" girl, in a romance entitled "Monte Carlo Madness."

Greta Garbo in "As You Desire Me" will come tomorrow to the Sheridan Square screen for a week.

Beginning tomorrow, the Enright will show "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm" with Marian Nixon and Ralph Bellamy.

"Kiss Me Again," starring Bernice Claire and Walter Pidgeon, opens Monday in the Avenue Cinema.

5 Workmen Hurt as Labor War Flares

CLEVELAND, July 22.—(INS.)—Five carpenters were attacked and badly beaten today by a mob of 20 men in a clash that was described by police as an outbreak in a labor dispute at the new Juvenile Court Building here.

The victims were taken to Charity Hospital for treatment of their injuries. None was believed seriously hurt.

Nicaragua Bandits Kill Five in Raid

WASHINGTON, July 22. —(INS.)—Three Britishers and five Nicaraguan civilians were killed in a Nicaraguan bandit raid on two stores in the towns of Pan American and Morazan, the Navy Department was advised today.

Those killed were employes of the stores which were sacked by the bandits.

Plays and Players

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS

A capable starring association of a few seasons back will be resumed when Eva La Gallienne reopens her Civic Repertory Company in New York in November. Since becoming a producing manager-actress, Miss La Gallienne has not been seen on the road, which, however, has not forgotten her appearances in "Liliom" and "The Swan." Playing the title role with her in "Liliom" was Joseph Schildkraut, who for several years has devoted himself to the screen. He will become a member of the Civic Repertory Company and both he and Miss La Gallienne will be seen in their original roles when "Liliom" is revived as the first production of the company this season. Among its productions wil be a new play, by Gordon Bottomly, about the early life of Macbeth and the lady who became his life's partner.

* * *

Charles Morton, who has been out of pictures for a year because of injuries suffered when he was thrown from a horse, is able to work again, and he has been signed to appear opposite Marlene Dietrich in her coming film, "Blonde Venus."

* * *

June Clyde is playing the lead in the film, "Modern Madness," now being produced . . . "The Girl from Calgary," based on James Oliver Curwood's "The Wolf Hunters," will be screened with Fifi D'Orsay as star . . . Mary Astor, who was greeted by the stork a month ago, has resumed work in "Those We Love," the cast of which includes Kenneth McKenna, Lilyan Tashman, Josephine Dunn, Jason Robards, Hale Hamilton and Tommy Conlon . . . Marion Marsh has begun work in the lead role in a film, "All the Evidence" . . . Ben Lyon heads the cast of "The Crooked Circle," to be filmed with a cast boasting Zasu Pitts, Irene Purcell, Berton Churchill and Cornelius Keefe . . . George Bancroft, long a Paramount star, has been signed by Peliance Pictures, which is considering a story titled "Brooklyn Bridge" for his first film under the new banner . . . Sam Jaffe, creator of the part of Kringelein in "Grand Hotel," will have the leading role in "Why Don't You Go Back?" play by Montagu Glass and Dan Jarrett, to be produced by John Golden after he introduces "When Ladies Meet," the new Rachel Crothers comedy . . . Preparations are being made for the filming of the New York shots of "Central Park," in which Joan Blondell will play the leading dame.

Desire

Greta Garbo comes to the Sheridan Square screen tomorrow in "As You Desire Me."

BITS OF LIFE

All In A Day

By Mark Hellinger

In Which a Customer Does the Work

HERE'S AN odd letter. It's one of the most unusual, in fact, that has ever come to my desk. I know it's on the level because, after wading through the strange assortment of mail that has come my way through the years, I have grown to sense the real from the phony. As an example of the power of superstition, I think this letter is in a class by itself.

The writer is a man who signs himself "Socks." No more, no less. He dates it from "An Ohio City," and lets it go at that. I will, too. So:

"Dear Mark:" he writes, "This story is about three boys whose nicknames were 'Moon,' 'Ham' and 'Socks.' 'Socks' is I—and the three of us were great pals.

"Now that you have the characters all together, suppose we leave them for just a moment while I ask you a question. I don't want you to think I'm screwy or that I want to start an argument, but do you believe in fortune-telling?

"All rightie, sir. I'll start the ball a-rollin' by making this prophecy:

"Shortly before my death, I'm going to be shanghaied—yes, sir, kidnaped and dragged aboard a boat!"

"One summer's day in the years gone by, the three of us got our mothers to fix us some eats, hopped on our bicycles and headed for the country. About 10 miles north of this town, we stopped in a small woods to eat our lunch. And at the far end of the woods, some Gypsies were camping.

"With the exception of a boy about our own age, the Gypsies paid no attention to us. This boy, however, came over and got acquainted. He spoke good English, said his name was Bela.

"It was only natural, I suppose, that one of us finally asked him if he could tell fortunes. Why, he most certainly could. Huh. Didn't he live in the front wagon? (And what that meant, I still don't know.) Why, he could even tell us how we were going to die!

"I remember the scene, Mark, as though it happened this morning. We begged him for information, but he said it couldn't be done until his palm had been crossed. We explained to Bela that we had no money, but would he be interested in a nice bicycle pump—or a bell? He was, and a few minutes later he proceeded to tell us the manner of our deaths.

"'You,' he said to me' 'will die on a boat. There can be no doubt about it.'

"He then turned to Moon.

"'You,' he said, 'will be shot for talking too much.'

"He then turned to Ham.

"'You,' he asserted, 'will be electrocuted in a penitentiary.'

"Moon, Ham and I looked at one another—and started for our bicycles in something of a hurry.

"After awhile we were laughing heartily about the whole thing. We assured each other that the kid was something of a nut and that he was just trying to create an impression.

"About eight years went by and Moon met the fate that Bela had prophesied for him. He was knocked off the day before he was to testify for the government in a liquor case. When I heard of the crime, Bela's words to Moon came back to me very forcibly:

"'You,' he said, 'will be shot for talking too much.'

"Five years passed—and Ham was indicted for murder. He killed the proprietor of a confectionery store during a hold-up.

"Those last five words meant almost as much to me as they did to Ham. For you see, Mark, the words of that Gypsy boy had begun to prey on my mind.

"Thus when Ham received life imprisonment with no hope of pardon, a great load was lifted from my mind. It meant very obviously that Bela wasn't as hot as he might have been, because unless Ham committed a murder in the pen, he had a chance of living to a ripe old age and wouldn't wind up as a short circuit in a 2,200-volt line.

"So what? So this: With that mental menace lifted away from my mind, I took boat rides whenever possible.

"I went to Port Stanley. To Buffalo. Down the Hudson to your village. And so on. Nothing happened. And listen, columnist, if you don't think I felt easier, you're crazy.

"And then, one morning, I picked up the paper to find this:

"'C—— H——, serving a life sentence for the murder of G—— S——, was electrocuted yesterday when he grabbed a defective switch in attempting to start an elevator in the State penitentiary.

"I remembered Bela's words to Ham.

"'You,' he had said, 'will be electrocuted in a penitentiary'...

"You like proofs, Mark? All right. 'Moon' was 'Moon' Kitsiz. He was killed the day before he was supposed to testify against the Hymie Darling-Ben Rudner gang, in Ohio.

"'Ham' was Charles Hamilton, who was convicted of killing George Shinekos, of Alliance, Ohio. These facts, together with an account of accidental death by electrocution may be verified by the Canton Repository.

"I—but what difference who I am? Just 'Socks' is good enough. And you can understand now why I am quite sure of my destiny. Let me repeat:

"Shortly before my death, I am going to be shanghaied—yes, sir, kidnaped and dragged aboard a boat!"...

MAY END STRIKE AT POSTOFFICE

The end of a strike of 15 hoisting engineers, which for several days has halted work on Pittsburgh's new $8,000,000 postoffice and federal building, was in view today following conferences between federal and state mediators and union leaders and employers.

An announcement which will send about 200 men back to work is expected soon, it was said.

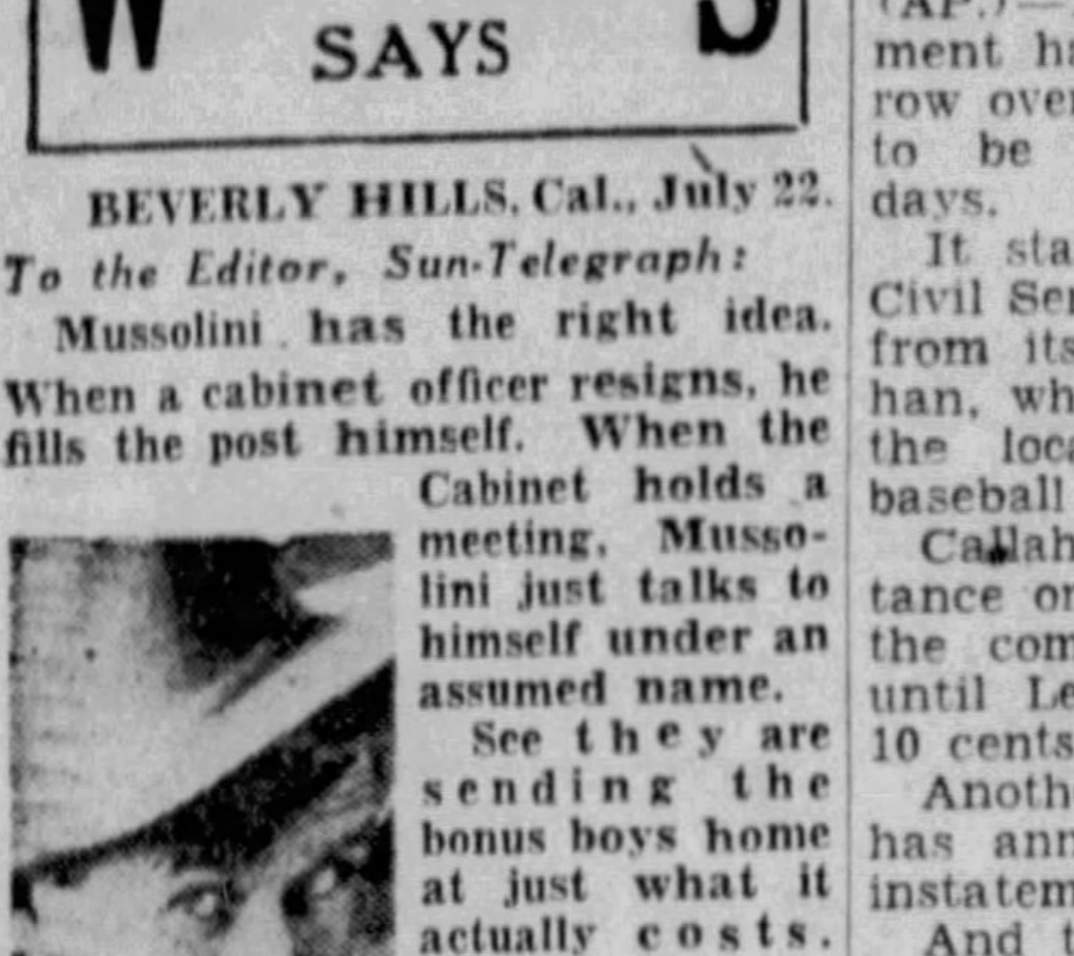
The strike was called when engineers refused to handle materials supplied by firms employing nonunion engineers. Conferences have been held between Miss M. Emmeline Pitt, conciliator for the Department of Labor, and spokesmen for both sides in the controversy, and between supply companies and sub-contractors.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., July 22.

To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

Mussolini has the right idea. When a cabinet officer resigns, he fills the post himself. When the Cabinet holds a meeting, Mussolini just talks to himself under an assumed name.



Will Rogers

See they are sending the bonus boys home at just what it actually costs. But they give the Congressmen ten cents a mile to get rid of them.

Mr. Hoover is not to "open the games here." Which means his political advisers have assured him that the state is "safe." Well, he will not only miss some votes, but will miss some awful good running and jumping. Maybe he has seen enough of that in Washington.

Yours, WILL.

Chosen Among Three National Contest Victors

Miss Cyrilla Adelaide Tuite's smile was just a bit happier than usual today, for she had been informed of her selection in a nation-wide canvass as having one of the three brightest smiles in America.

There were thousands of entrants in the contest, which lasted a week, and was sponsored by a well-known manufacturing concern whose programs are broadcast over WCAE.

By a coincident Miss Tuite, who lives at 5752 Ellsworth avenue, is a star of WCAE and her singing in the night club and other programs is known to radio fans.

She will receive a $265 movie camera outfit, including camera, projector and film, from the committee which made the awards.

ROW OVER DIME STIRS CITY

MINNEAPOLIS, July 22.—(AP.)—Three divisions of government have been stirred up by a row over a dime, which is getting to be important money these days.

It started when the municipal Civil Service Commission removed from its employ John W. Callahan, who is also a gatekeeper at the local American Association baseball park.

Callahan had refused admittance on a pass to a member of the commission, Edward J. Lee, until Lee paid a federal tax of 10 cents.

Another commission member has announced he will seek reinstatement of Callahan.

And the grand jury has been unable to get its full quota of sleep because citizens keep telephoning, asking what it is going to do about it.

Communist Leaders Seized in Budapest

BUDAPEST, July 22.—(INS.)—Twenty prominent Communist leaders were arrested today charged with plotting to blow up factories, promote strikes and incite riots on International Anti-War Day August 1.

ANTI-DRY STAND WILL BE ASKED OF POLICE

Murren to Urge Chiefs In Convention to Advocate Repeal

Police heads in every community of Pennsylvania will be urged to take a vigorous stand against the prohibition law by County Detective Chief George W. Murren at the annual convention of the Pennsylvania Chiefs of Police Association in Reading next week.

Murren, vice president of the association, will present a resolution to the convention, embodying a wholesale indictment of the dry law and a statement advocating repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment and immediate modification of the Volstead act.

The resolution, if adopted, would place the police chiefs on record as believing that the Eighteenth Amendment not only has created a disrespect for all law, but has undermined confidence in its enforcement and demoralized police activitiy.

BRAZEN ROBBER GETS $56,325

NEW YORK, July 22.—(AP.)—A bank robber in disguise who got $56,325 for the asking was hunted today as one of the most brazen criminals ever to operate in the financial district.

Dressed in the uniform and pistol holster of an armored truck guard, he entered the Chemical Bank and Trust Company at 165 Broadway, marched up to a cage, and said:

"I was sent here to get the money for the United States Trucking Corporation."

A teller handed out the small fortune in ready cash, the thief signed a receipt with a fictitious name and vanished.

The theft occurred last Saturday, but was kept secret.

MAN CONFESSES POISONING WIFE

PONTIAC, Mich., July 22.—(AP.)—Prosecutor Clarence L. Smith today said Edward McFadden, 39, a former deputy sheriff, had confessed he poisoned his wife, Gertrude, 41, whose death June 14 was attributed by physicians to natural causes.

McFadden was arrested with Miss Nellie Templin, 27, of Brighton. The prosecutor said McFadden had applied for a license to marry Miss Templin, but said that McFadden's confession exonerated her of knowledge of the manner of Mrs. McFadden's death.

The arrest followed receipt by offcials here of an anonymous letter from Brighton, which said McFadden had purchased poison there shortly before his wife's death.

McKeesport Plant Workman Killed

John Pavlicic, 48, of 701 Shaw avenue, McKeesport, was killed last night when he stumbled and fell while carrying a section of pipe in the plant of the National Tube Company at McKeesport, according to a Coroner's report. The pipe struck Pavlicic on the head and fractured his skull.

FREE HOSPITAL TREATMENT PERILED

Cut in Appropriations May Close Many Institutions

Reduction in hospital appropriations will force smaller ones to close and compel the larger institutions to trim their free work to fit shrinking budgets, according to Henry G. Yearick, Homeopathic Hospital head.

The Hospital Association of Pennsylvania, of which Mr. Yearick is a member, is seeking restoration of reduced appropriations to hospitals. If put into effect, the cut would take away $1,700,000 from the institutions. Restoration of the cut is now before the Legislature.

Holidays cost the hospitals of the state hundreds of thousands of dollars for which they are not reimbursed, Yearick said. Yearick also declared:

"If a study were made of state-aided hospitals caring for holiday cases, for which they were not paid, the extent of this unfair burden would reach an alarming total.

"When one realizes that the hospitals spend far more than they ever receive in taking care of the destitute and are in danger of being forced to curtail, it seems unfortunate to have this extra load forced upon them. Yet no hospital would think of refusing an emergency case."

HONORSTUDENT HELD IN HOLDUP

PHILADELPHIA, July 22.—(INS.)—A high school honor student who last month won a scholarship to Penn State College was arrested early today as a holdup suspect.

The youth, Elmer Liendinger, 18, and his three companions were said by police to have confessed two robberies, but are believed to be implicated in others.

Police said Liendinger was convicted of a holdup more than two years ago but was placed on probation at the request of his teachers in high school.

When arraigned on the previous holdup charge in December, 1930, he told Judge Frank Smith his holdup career "seemed like an adventure." Judge Smith told him he was "too intelligent to do such foolish things" and released him on probation.

Trousers Stolen From Second Bather

Another pants theft, the second in two days, from swimmers in the Highland Park pool was on police record today.

While William Spatz, of Center avenue, was cooling off in the large pool, a thief ransacked his automobile and stole Spatz' trousers, which contained a wallet and his automobile owner's card.

They were the first girls ever saved by Nowak. This is Sun-Telegraph picture.

CAPONE WARNED BY OKLAHOMAN

PONCA CITY, Okla., July 22.—(AP.)—Says Mayor Dan Kygar, in substance, to Al Capone and his associates:

"Come to Ponca City, but bring your bodyguards along."

The Mayor was asked by the Chicago Herald-Examiner what kind of welcome the Capone brothers would receive here if they purchased the famous 101 Ranch. He replied:

"Send them along if they can give us new thrills, but advise them to bring their bodyguards."

Mayor Kygar said:

"I will extend the Capones an Oklahoma welcome, where children cut their teeth on forty-fives and thirty-thirties; give them the keys to the city and assure their protection until they become acclimated.

"After that, they must look out for themselves."

Lifeguards Capture Looter of Lockers

Lifeguards Gerald Vitulla and Stanley McIsaac, of the city swimming pool in Sheraden, testified in police court today that marked 25-cent coins left in their lockers, after missing other valuables, were found on Frank J. Volpe, 22, of Bergman street. Volpe was fined $25.

Fish Bite When They're Thirsty Down in Texas

By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER

It's up to John Garner to perpetuate the fishing honor of the Democratic party.

John is off for the Texas mesquite to catch the shorthorn trout.

Herbie Hoover is scooping the Virginia creeks for the fiddlemouth pickerel and the rubber-fin flounder.

There's one thing we would like to ask Mr. Garner. Where are the Texas rivers in July?

We went fishing in the Trinity when that stream was so dusty you had to bait your hook with a wet sponge. The fish bit all right. But not because they were hungry. They were thirsty.

Of all our big fishermen we guess Cal Coolidge is tops. The camera boys tell us that he is never out of focus.

LAWYERS HERE HINT OUSTER ACTIONS

Further Investigation Of Alleged Illegal Conduct Seen

Further investigation of alleged illegal and unethical conduct of lawyers, with probable disbarment proceedings, was indicated yesterday by President Judge James R. Macfarlane. He approved the appointment of the committee on offenses of the Allegheny County Bar Association, submitted by its president, John G. Frazer.

The committee consists of Harmar D. Denny, Jr., chairman; T. D. McCloskey, vice chairman; J. M. Bovard, J. A. Richardson and E. B. Strassburger.

The petition stated approval was asked in order that the committee may avail itself of the law to issue subpenas to compel attendance of witnesses and production of records.

There is no special object in the action and it is merely an annual formality, Frazer stated. The action, however, gave rise to speculation as to whether the committee would take over the investigation of the special committee appointed by Judge Macfarlane, which resulted in a preliminary report said to have contained evidence against 12 lawyers, and brought a court order that disbarment actions be filed and prosecuted by another special committee. No disbarment actions have yet been instituted.

Lawyers are also discussing the possibility that the disbarment proceedings ordered may be transferred from open court to the Bar Association, where hearings are frequently private.

CLUE REVEALED IN 'POISON PLOT'

George W. Murren, chief of the county detectives, today said that a Braddock physician had told him that Mrs. Mary Chalfa, of Munhall, had asked him a year ago for a poison with which to take the life of her husband, George Chalfa.

Murren said the physician told him Mrs. Chalfa visited his office accompanied by Mrs. Gizella Young. It is Mrs. Young who is reported to have confessed her part in the Munhall insurance murder ring which is blamed for the lives of three children and a man.

Both Mrs. Young and Mrs. Chalfa have been indicted on charges of assault and battery on Stella Chalfa, 21, said to have been marked as one of the victims.

Truck Runs Wild In Brushton Street

A parked truck of the American Reduction Company plunged down Welling street, Brushton, today, tore through the iron fence, hedge and garden of Mrs. William Hoagland's home at 1103 Welling street and came to a stop on a boardwalk in Ferndale street. Driver Owen Ferguson, Negro, escaped by leaping.

AUTO KILLS MAN ON HIGHWAY

Harry Reddington, 22, of North Versailles Township, was killed when struck by an automobile on the Lincoln highway two miles east of East McKeesport, the Coroner's office reported.

Henry Ford, of Turtle Creek, the driver, took Reddington to McKeesport Hospital, where he was pronounced dead. Ford was ordered to post bond at the Coroner's office.

Mrs. Gertrude Rattner, 30, of Hampton Hall, Center avenue, suffered a probable fracture of the left leg and lacerations when her automobile collided with one driven by Samuel Daniels, 36, of 7206 Hermitage street, at Center avenue and Dithridge street, yesterday. Mrs. Rattner was taken to Homeopathic Hospital.

SLAIN YOUTH'S BODY CLAIMED

The body of William Thomas, Ashdale street youth slain as a prowler at the home of John C. Swan, 320 Zara street, yesterday, was officially claimed at the morgue today by an uncle, Robert J. Miller, of 917 McClain street.

In the affidavit of identification, the uncle declared he had not seen his nephew for a week and did not know of his trouble with police. Mifflin Township police yesterday brought to the morgue two companions who identified Thomas as having escaped capture in an attempted automobile theft for which they must face charges.

Thomas' body was removed to the home of his parents, 857 Ashdale street, Beltzhoover, for burial.

'Made in Japan' Flags For Postoffice Fete

American flags for coat lapels, "Made in Japan," will be worn by many persons attending the "Postoffice Day" celebration here Tuesday, unless substitutions are made for more than 1,700 of the foreign-made flags, already distributed among postal workers.

A committee of postal workers in charge of the patriotic celebration, to be held in connection with the Washington Bi-centennial and the birthday anniversary of the postal service, placed an order with a wholesale dealer for 12 gross of the small flags of the bow variety.

After they were received and sent to sub-stations and branches of the Pittsburgh postoffice for distribution, it was found the pins attached to the flags bore the label "Made in Japan." Many of the flags already had been distributed.

The dealer who sold the flags declared it was not unusual to sell foreign-made flags to patriotic organizations because of the higher prices of those of domestic manufacture.

The celebration exercises will be held on a platform in front of the postoffice building, Smithfield street and Fourth avenue. The principal speaker will be Congressman Clyde Kelly.

Two Fire Engines Mired Dashing on Calls

Two pieces of fire fighting apparatus became mired in the mud while answering still alarms to isolated sections of the city early today.

Rushing to the Wallace farm, between Hays Borough and Lincoln Place, where a barn was reported afire, a Hays pumper settled in the mud along a private road. The fire was extinguished by a company from Hazelwood and Flowers avenue, also dispatched in answer to the alarm.

The second piece of apparatus to become bogged was Engine Company No. 50, from Lafayette street, North Side, which skidded off Barnes street as it sped to a rubbish fire on Bridge avenue, Fineview. A second company—No. 43, of Arch street—extinguished the blaze and then pulled the stalled engine to dry land.

GOVERNMENTS HERE TO COST $46,628,190

City and county governments in Allegheny County this year are costing the taxpayers $46,628,190.

Of every dollar the Pittsburgh taxpayer pays into the city treasury, 23 cents goes for interest and payments on borrowed money, 11 for police and eight for fire protection.

These and other data are included in the new issue of "Civic Pittsburgh," a brochure explaining the operations of the city and county government which came from the press today.

The facts and figures on city government, with charts showing the comparative costs of living and government operation, were compiled by J. C. Slippy, for 10 years accountant in the Mayor's office.

The cost of health in the city totals 3.52 per cent of the budget for 1932, which is estimated at $25,064,000. Charities are allowed 3.41 per cent, while street cleaning costs 2.44 per cent.

City highways will cost $1,152,000 or 4.60 per cent of the total, while street lighting costs 3.70 per cent, or $926,000.

TREATY SECRECY ON CANAL HIT

WASHINGTON, July 22—(INS.)—The drum fire attack on the St. Lawrence waterways treaty negotiated by Canada and the United States continued today with the State Department maintaining silence.

Amplifying the assaults already made on the treaty, opponents attacked the secrecy surrounding the negotiation of the past three years.

Senator Lewis (Dem.), of Illinois, who is expected to lead the fight against ratification of the treaty, charged that American interests were kept in ignorance of the actual negotiations.

ALBANY, N. Y., July 22.—(INS.)—Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt is mapping plans for a surprise move in his row with the federal government over the St. Lawrence treaty, it was hinted today by his advisors.

Seller of Racket Numbers Fined $25

Dominic Cinquegrani, of 719 Graphic street, convicted last April of conducting a lottery, was fined $25 by Visiting Judge J. Frank Graff. At his trial he charged he sold chances in the numbers racket at the instigation of City Detectives Robert Burke and James Noon. They were exonerated following an investigation.

BOY, 4, HURT, AUTOIST HELD

Because Robert Smith, 24, of 119 South Nineteenth street, failed to make a prompt report of an accident last night, he faced a more serious charge of traffic violation today.

Smith, police said, was driving in Bingham street, when Nick Kostak, 4, whose address is unknown to police, ran from the sidewalk into Smith's automobile, suffering undetermined injuries. The driver picked the boy up and took him to South Side Hospital.

The accident occurred at 8:30 p. m., and five hours later Smith reported it to police. He was charged with volating the automobile laws.

Bitten by Snake, Saves Life by Shooting Self

BRIGHAM CITY, Utah—(INS.)—Ronald Packer, 21, has found a new use for his revolver.

He recently used it to save his life—by firing two shots into his arm.

Packer was bitten by a huge rattlesnake while fishing in upper Cache Valley.

The rattler sank his fangs deep into Packer's left forearm and hung suspended. Packer reached into his pocket with his right hand, brought out a 22-caliber revolver and shot the snake. Then he fired two shots directly into the wound.

Parker said he fired the shots to cauterize the wound, and physicians here admitted that this action probably saved his life.

GUNS GIVEN UP BY CONVICT

CANON CITY, Colo., July 22.—(AP.)—A long search for smuggled firearms and ammunition used in the Colorado prison riot of October 3, 1929, led yesterday to the surrender of two fully loaded automatic pistols and 20 steel nosed bullets by Danny Reardon, one of the chief figures in the riot.

Reardon told Deputy Warden Roy Best there are two more revolvers and additional ammunition inside the prison and promised to produce them soon.

For a Limited Time a last-minute Sacrifice--S ing Discounts in additio Tax Savings before tire p go up.

Facts Regarding Tire Price Advance

New prices, adding tax, were published by tire companies June 21st but did not become effective because most dealers had tires that were purchased before the tax went on.

Since June 21st, factories have had to pay tax on every tire turned out. Dealers' tax-free tires will soon be gone and then the tire companies and mail order houses everywhere are expected to definitely raise retail costs to include tax.

Whether this price advance will come in a few days or be delayed longer we cannot say, but we do state with utmost confidence that a raise of about 11% should be anticipated.

Those who will need tires any time this year will save the tax cost and many dollars besides by buying now.

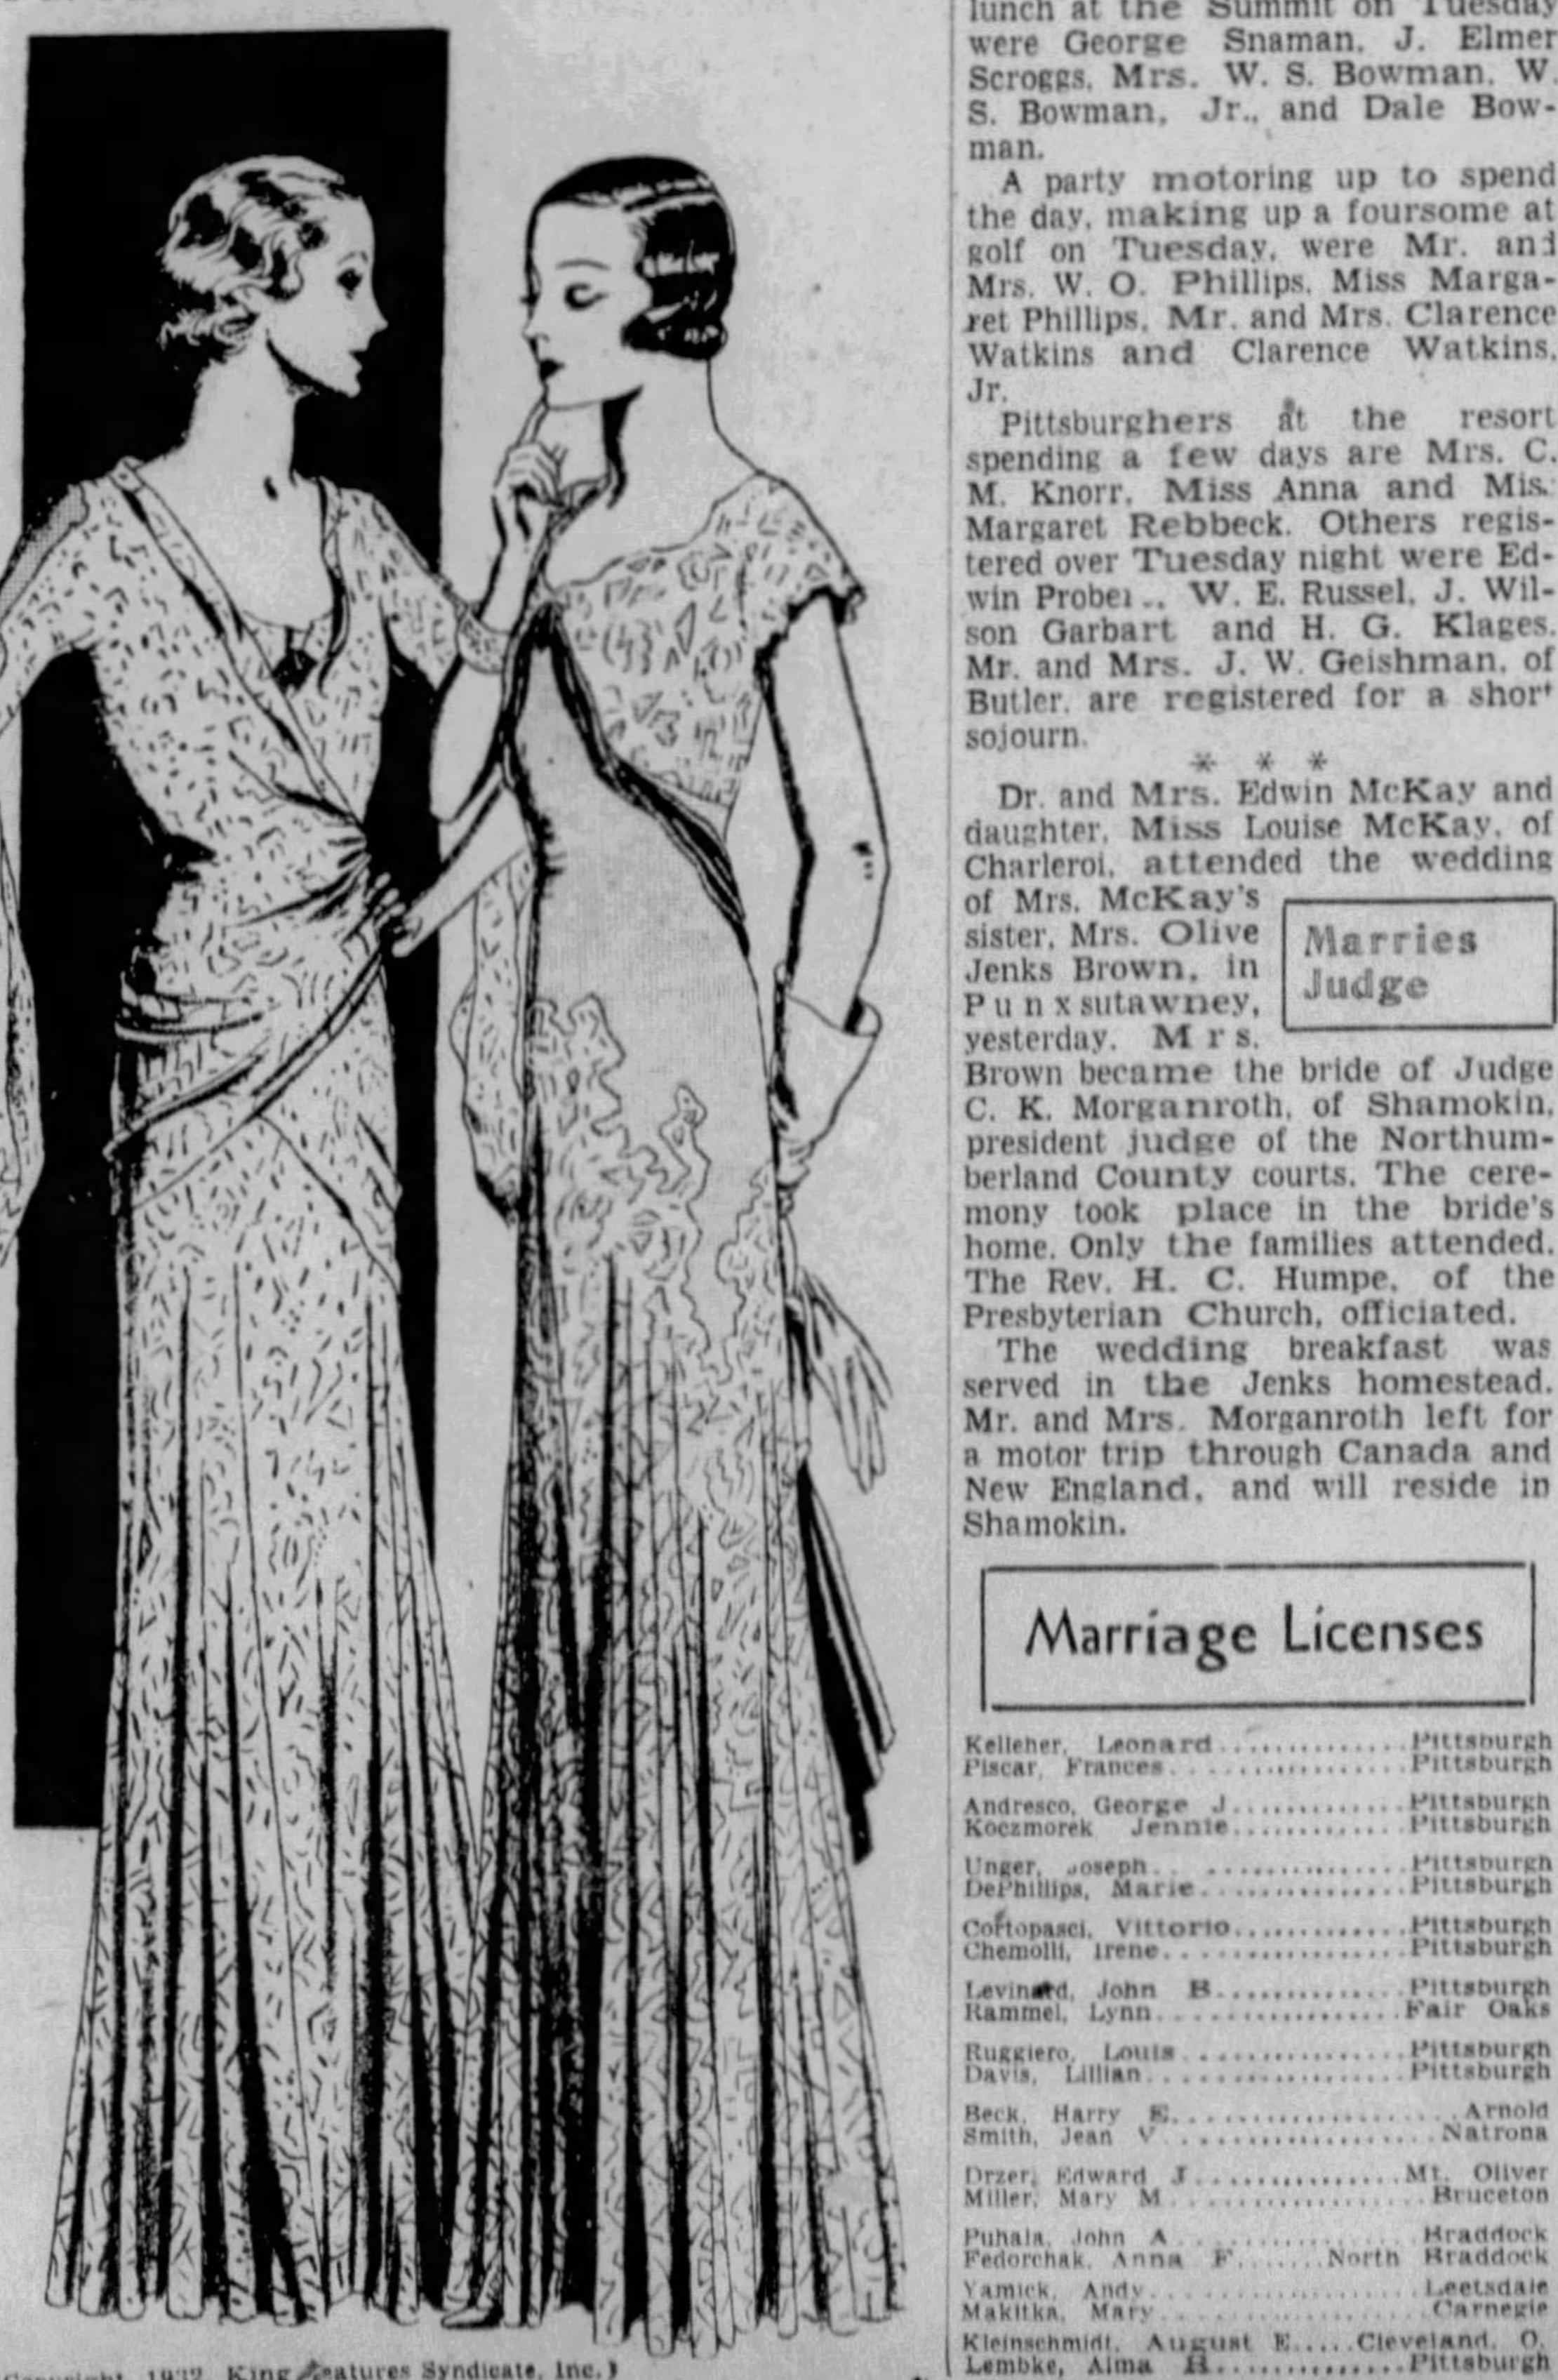
NEW DEPARTURE IN EVENING DRESSES MARKS FASHION YEAR

—Sketched in Paris—



(Copyright, 1932, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Paris Bureau,
Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, July 22. — Nineteen thirty-two will be listed in fashion history as the great year of evolution in evening clothes. This year's clothes will be marked as among the first to change from the classic separation of evening dresses and wraps from all others, and the beginning of those costumes which are neither afternoon dresses, cocktail dresses, dinner dresses, nor evening dresses, but all four of them rolled into one.

* * *

THERE IS hardly an evening gown in all Paris—save those designed for great formal receptions, for evening weddings or presentation at court—that cannot be easily transformed into a frock that is appropriate at dinner or even late afternoon. Many of the most elaborate evening gowns have sleeves enough to list them as dinner dresses, and all those without sleeves never leave their designer's side without a jacket or coat of some kind to make them less formal.

* * *

ARDANSE HAS A way of accomplishing this combination effect by using informal materials for more or less formal frocks. Voile is one of her favorites. She uses it both in the solid colors, when it looks like heavy chiffon, and in light prints, when it looks like lace.

* * *

THERE IS every appearance of elaboration, but the actuality of simplicity in the way she combines plain-colored and printed voile in the dinner gown sketched. The printed portions, about the shoulders and below the hips, are appliqued to the plain colored voile in cut-out formation to further the lacy effect. The magenta velvet ribbon, carrying out the color scheme of the voile, is knotted just below the neckline dropped down to the waist and draped around to the back, where it ties in a knot and hangs in long sash-ends.

Stay-in-School Group Meets Wednesday

In such stirring times as these, organizations are varying their programs inasmuch as there are fewer of the frivilous activities like picnics and outings, and more time is devoted to business meetings with serious discussions.

One of the very worthwhile organizations, the Allegheny County Stay-in-School Association, is holding a business meeting and luncheon in Kaufmann's private dining room on Wednesday at 12 o'clock.

At the meeting the steering committee will hold a special session at 11 o'clock. There will be distribution of the scholarship directory.

To Send Delegates

Miss Lena Madesin Phillips, president of the National Council of Women, sailed for Europe recently as an official representative of the council to extend an invitation to the French government to send a delegation here for the International Congress of Women, called July 16-22, 1933, in Chicago. Miss Phillips had an audience recently with Joseph Paganon, under-secretary of state for foreign affairs, when she formally presented the invitation. Hundreds of thousands of American women have already signed petitions inviting foreign governments to select distinguished delegates for the congress and Miss Phillips was assured that an important French delegation will attend the congress next year.

The National Council of Women, which extends the invitation, is one of the oldest women's organizations in the United States, formed in 1888 by a group of veteran suffragettes including Susan B. Anthony, Frances E. Willard, Clara Barton and Elizabeth Cady Stanton. It is composed of 29 member organizations with an aggregate membership of 5,000,000 women.

Judges Approve Whipping Proposal

PARADISE VALLEY, Wash., July 21.—(AP.)—A proposal to legalize whipping as "an added punishment" for highway robbery, criminal assault and kidnaping was unanimously indorsed by the State Superior Judges' Association in session here. Kibitzers Advise Women at Police Auto School

EVANSTON, Ill., July 22.—The Police department's school of practical auto driving for women held commencement yesterday with everything lovely but the valedictory.

The women voluntarily took the course in how to travel the streets with least possible danger to drivers and pedestrians.

Despite continuous curbstone kibitzing from the idly curious as the final examinations were taken on a practice street, all but two of the 10 candidates passed.

But even the successful were disconcerted when their police instructors cheerily farwelled with:

"Well, we'll be seeing you."

RECIPES BY PRUDENCE PENNY

ORANGE BUTTER—Soften 2 or 3 ounces of sweet butter in a small bowl, until it is of the consistency of mayonnaise. Put the bowl on ice, and whip in 2 teaspoons of orange juice, 1 teaspoon of lemon juice, and a teaspoon of powdered sugar. The butter will take up all of the moisture if handled this way. Fruit juices make an ideal spread or filling for the dainty sandwiches served with 5 o'clock tea.

* * *

RIPE OLIVE BUTTER—Stone and chop finely 20 large ripe olives and work them into enough creamed butter to bind. Add 1 tablespoon of mayonnaise to every three ounces of butter used. Season with salt. The mayonnaise should be quite stiff.

* * *

RED BUTTER—This can be made from tomato paste—enough of it rubbed through a sieve and added to the butter to color. Or boil down a can of red tomato pulp with a clove of garlic and a few spices. Boil to the point of evaporation; cool, then rub through a fine sieve and add to the butter.

* * *

RAW SPINACH BUTTER—Scald a cup of fresh washed spinach for 1 minute; drain dry, cool, and chop very fine. Mix with 3 ounces of creamed butter and season with salt. Add a drop of onion juice and 1-6 teaspoon of grated nutmeg. Use as a filler in fancy small sandwiches.

* * *

PEANUT BUTTER—Put shelled and skinned peanuts through a food chopper and then mash them in a mortar. Mix enough salted butter to get the proper consistency, then work in a little raw cream. Set in the icebox until needed.

* * *

CRUSHED RASPBERRY BUTTER—The fresh raspberries are best for this butter. Rub through a fine sieve and add a tablespoon of the pulp to 3 ounces of butter. Then mix in one teaspoon of lemon juice.

* * *

APRICOT CHIFFON PIE—½ cup apricot pulp, ¾ cup sugar, ⅛ teaspoon salt, 3 eggs, 1½ tablespoon lemon juice.

Soak ¼ pound dried apricots overnight in 1½ cups cold water. Next day cook slowly in the same water until tender. Drain and press through a coarse selve. They will yield ½ cup pulp. Put this, with ½ cup sugar and the slightly beaten egg yolks into the top of a double boiler. Stir and cook over boiling water until the mixture thickens. Remove from the fire and add the lemon juice. Add the salt to the egg whites and beat until stiff. Then beat in ¼ cup sugar. Fold the apricot mixture into the beaten egg whites and pour into baked shell. Bake at 375 degrees for 15 minutes.

* * *

COTTAGE CHEESE TOMATO ASPIC—2½ tablespoons gelatin, 1 pint canned tomato juice, strained; 1½ teaspoons lemon juice, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, ½ cup diced sweet pickles, ½ cup diced celery, 1 cup cottage cheese.

Use ½ cup of the tomato juice to dissolve the gelatin. Heat the Use the New Oxydol. See what rich, creamy suds it makes—50% more suds. See how those thick suds cut the grease—and rinse off so dishes are sparkling clean, so there's no scum left.

Lively, long lasting suds that don't fizzle away are the secret of all easy washing—clothes as well as dishes. That's why Oxydol's richer, more lasting suds do more for you—whisk grease away like a flash, float dirt out of clothes and hold it out.

Yet Oxydol is safe—easy on hands and dainty things. It makes clean-smelling suds in the hardest water—and all water turns hard when you add dirty clothes or greasy dishes. You'll bless the day you learned its name.

APPLE MERINGUE PUDDING—2 cups stewed dried apples, 3 eggs, ½ teaspoon nutmeg, ½ teaspoon cinnamon, 2 tablespoons butter, ½ cup granulated sugar, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, ¼ cup powdered sugar, 1 teaspoon vanilla.

While the apples are still hot, combine with the spices which have been thoroughly mixed. Add the butter, well-beaten egg yolks, granulated sugar and lemon juice. Beat until light. Pile into a buttered baking dish and bake 10 minutes in a moderately hot oven (375 deg. F.). Take from oven and cover with meringue made from the whites of eggs, powdered sugar and flavoring. Replace in oven and brown slightly. Serve cold with cream.

* * *

CREAMED CRABMEAT WITH NOODLES—1 cup minced crabmeat, ¾ cup white sauce, ½ chopped pepper, ½ pound boiled noodles, 2 tablespoons melted butter, 4 tablespoons grated cheese.

Add crabmeat and green pepper to cream sauce. Mix butter with the noodles. Arrange noodles around the edge of the shallow baking dish, and put crabmeat in the center. Sprinkle cheese over all. Brown in a quick oven at 400 degrees.

This is an especially nice dish for after-theater suppers, particularly when the young cook wants to impress her admiring escort with her skill. Easy to prepare, easy to eat, and most inexpensive. The canned crabmeat that is imported in enamel-lined tins is simply delicious.

ORANGE AND TOMATO SALAD—Just a little different, this orange and tomato combination. But the salad owes its chief claim to favor to the honey fruit dressing which is a great favorite with my household!

Peel and slice the tomato and the orange, and arrange in alternate slices on lettuce. For the dressing mix 4 tablespoons oil, 2 tablespoons lemon juice and 1 tablespoon honey. Shake well and serve.

Arrange six slices buttered zwieback in buttered baking dish. Mix apples with sugar and arrange in layer over zwieback. Dip remaining zwieback in hot water. Place on top of apples and dot with butter. Cover and bake in a hot oven —450 degrees F.—20 to 30 minutes. Six portions.

LEMON COCOANUT FILLING—2 eggs, slightly beaten; 1 cup sugar, juice and grated rind of 1 lemon, ½ cup shredded cocoanut.

Combine ingredients in order given, place in double boiler, and cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Cool and spread between layers of cake. Makes enough filling to cover one 9-inch layer.

* * *

LIVER CANAPES — Simmer calves' liver until very tender. Chop fine and rub to a paste. To 1 cup of liver add 1 tablespoon melted butter, ½ teaspoon sugar, salt and pepper to taste, and enough thick tomato sauce to make the mixture the right consistency to spread. Lightly toast strips of graham bread about 4 inches long and 1¼ inches wide. Spread with the paste. Garnish with a border of chopped whites of hard-boiled egg and the riced yolk. Serve cold.

* * *

JELLIED TONGUE—Wash and scrub a beef tongue in salted water and boil until tender. Remove skin and place the tongue in a saucepan. Add 2 onions, 1 stalk of celery, 4 cloves and salt and pepper. Cover with liquor in which tongue was boiled. Add 1 blade of mace, 1 bunch of thyme, 1 bunch of parsley and 1 teaspoon sugar. Simmer for two hours. Remove tongue. For each pint of the liquor add 1 tablespoon of gelatin that has been soaked in cold water. Stir for two minutes over very low flame. Strain and pour over tongue. Chill thoroughly, garnish with watercress, and serve.

* * *

BARBECUED CHICKEN—Have young chickens split for broiling. Place them on a broiling rack, skin side down, and cook under a moderate flame until well browned and almost tender. Then turn and brown the skin side. While the chicken is cooking, baste it frequently with the following mixture:

¼ cup melted butter, 1½ tablespoons vinegar, ½ teaspoon dry mustard, ½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, ½ teaspoon salt, few grains cayenne.

* * *

VANILLA JUNKET WITH PUREE OF BANANA—1 package vanilla junket, 1 pint milk, 2 teaspoons orange juice and 1 of sugar, 2 ripe bananas, white of 1 egg. Press the bananas through a sieve, mix with them the orange juice, sugar and beaten white of egg. Fill into bottom of dessert glasses. Dissolve junket powder in slightly warmed milk and pour into center of banana mixture. Let set until firm—chill. Serve jelly on top.

* * *

DATE FLUFF—Three eggs, 1 cup rice flakes, crushed, 1 cup sugar ½ cup nuts, chopped, 1 cup dates, chopped.

Beat egg yolk and add to dry ingredients which have been thoroughly mixed. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour into buttered loaf pan and bake in a moderately hot oven (375 degrees F.) 45 minutes. Crumble and pile in sherbet glasses. Serve with whipped cream or lemon sauce—serve hot or sold. This recipe will be sufficient for six.

* * *

BAKED ORANGE MARIE—Eight oranges, 1 tablespoon cocoanut, 1 tablespoon raisins, 8 dates, chopped, 1 tablespoon chopped walnuts.

Cut tops off oranges. Remove pulp, leaving orange shell. Mix

Serve an olive and small pickle on the side. A plate such as this is prepared for each person.

A variety of small sandwiches, say three or four kinds arranged on a lettuce garnished plate, either one large platter or individual plate, may be served instead of just one kind. The little open-faced sandwiches spread with a paste made of minced meat moistened with mayonnaise; with cream cheese, with marmalade or jelly, make a nice assortment.

Fill the baked crust with 1 quart fresh, selected, washed and hulled berries. Cover with the following syrup:

Crush 1 heaping cup fresh strawberries very fine. Heat ¾-cup sugar and ½ cup water until the sugar is dissolved. Add to crushed berries; add a few grains salt. Stir well and strain. Bring to a boil, skimming off foam from the top. Mix 1½ tablespoons cornstarch with 2 tablespoons water to make a smooth paste.

Death Chamber
Proves Its Power to Kill Every Fly or Mosquito

In the Rex Research laboratory there is a small room, kept filled with flies at their most vigorous age—five days old. Each lot of Fly-Tox is tested here with a sprayer. Unless every fly dies, and quickly, that lot of Fly-Tox is rejected.

That's why Fly-Tox is so certain, so economical to you. Rightly sprayed in a room, it creates a perfumed mist, which no fly or mosquito can escape. That mist is harmless to people, stainless to anything. But these deadly pests all perish at its touch.

Fly-Tox was developed at Mellon Institute of Industrial Research by Rex Research Fellowship. We have spent ten years and over $100,000 to perfect it. The toxic factor comes from flowers of Japan, which scientists found to be deadly to flies.

Use Fly-Tox to protect your home. These insects carry disease germs of some 30 kinds. They contaminate all foods they touch. Their bites inject disease germs in the blood. Thousands of children, every year, die from insect-borne diseases. Rid your home of these pests—keep it free—for the sake of all who live there.

FLY-TOX ONLY

A Rex Research Product

Use Fly-Tox only, for safety's sake. Use it because it is the latest, most scientific product for this purpose. Use it for economy's sake—only 1 or 2 cents per room. Use it because this Japanese flower is the most efficient factor that we know. It is easy, pleasant, sure. It is harmless, stainless, quick. Your home protection is too important to use a lesser method. Get Fly-Tox now. Sold everywhere. Made by the Makers of Moth-Tox.

Buttermilk Contains Many Important Substances

Doctor Say That Few People Realize the Many Nutritive Advantages of this Valuable Food.

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND
Former Health Commissioner of New York City,
United States Senator from New York.

We are always interested in learning the favorite foods of notable persons. When Mrs. Amelia Earhart Putnam succeeded in flying over the Atlantic Ocean for the second time, she answered a toast given to her health by drinking a glass of buttermilk. I congratulate this famous woman for her choice of a nutritious beverage as well as for her skill in flying.

Few individuals realize the many nutritive advantages of buttermilk. It is a valuable food.

Buttermilk is the liquid which remains after the separation of butter from soured cream. Milk is known as the most nearly perfect food. It contains almost all of the ingredients necessary for growth and development. Buttermilk contains all of the constituents of milk except fat.

Buttermilk is more easily digested than milk. It is for this reason that it is frequently used in the diet of invalids and convalescents. It has a pleasant odor due to its lactic acid contents, and many persons prefer it to milk.

GIVEN TO INFANTS

The lactic acid contained in buttermilk is beneficial in the treatment of certain diseases. In recent years it has been recommended in the treatment of infants suffering from digestive disturbances. It has been successfully used in the feeding of premature infants and in cases where there is lack of mother's milk.

Buttermilk is an excellent source of easily digested proteins. The proteins found in buttermilk are the same in quality as those found in milk. But while the milk is souring the protein content is broken up into fine particles. Because of this process, the proteins of buttermilk are more easily digested than the proteins of milk.

In addition to its protein content, buttermilk contains an abundant supply of important mineral substances, such as lime, phosphorus and iron. These minerals aid in building strong and sturdy bones and healthy red blood cells.

NUTRITIVE DRINK

Similar to milk, buttermilk contains an abundant supply of milk sugar. It is a nutritive drink, a glass of buttermilk containing as much nourishment as two ounces of bread. In Scotland and Ireland it is used in large quantities and served with porridge and potatoes. I am glad to say that buttermilk is now becoming popular in this country. It should appear more frequently in the American diet.

Many children, as well as adults, acquire a dislike for milk. This is unfortunate because the nutritive value of milk in the daily diet cannot be over-estimated. When milk is lacking in the diet every effort should be made to substitute some other beverage that possesses the value of milk. I can think of no other fluid that resembles milk as closely as buttermilk. The taste and flavor of buttermilk appeal to many individuals who dislike milk.

Recipe for Two-Color Mousse

1 quart whipping cream.
1 cup confectioner's sugar.
4 teaspoons vanilla.
Vegetable coloring.

Whip cream, sweeten and flavor. Divide into two equal portions and carefully color one portion. Pack in the two ends of double depth tray, with division in center of tray to separate the two, and to keep mousse piled to full height of tray while freezing. When frozen remove from tray. With a small round baking powder can remove centers from each of the halves. Slip the colored center into the plain mousse, and the plain center into the colored mousse. Repack in tray, leave for several hours or over night. When ready to serve turn out and slice. The cream will have frozen solid again and the centers will be firmly in place. Makes two quarts.

⅛ teaspoon pepper.
1 pint salad oil.

Beat egg yolks and add few drops of vinegar. Drop oil, drop by drop, into egg mixture until one-fourth cup is used. Then gradually increase the amount of oil added, beating constantly. As mixture thickens, add the rest of the vinegar a little at a time. Add salt. Lemon juice may be used in place of vinegar, if preferred.

½ cup chili sauce.
1 cup mayonnaise.

SHRIMP COCKTAIL

If fresh shrimps are used, cook in boiling water for 15 minutes, or until shrimps are red. Cool and remove shells. With a sharp knife cut out black line through center of back. Chill thoroughly. When ready to serve, arrange in sherbet or double cocktail glasses with a piece of lemon and with small cups of cocktail sauce in center of glasses. Or if this arrangement is not convenient, pour two tablespoons of the sauce over the shrimps. When using canned shrimps, drain off liquid in can, remove black line and proceed as for fresh shrimps.

"Ivory For All Soap Purposes" Say Women Now

Stores Report Country-Wide Record-Breaking Sales of Ivory at New Low Prices
(Special Dispatch)

CINCINNATI, O., July 20—Recent reduction of prices for Ivory Soap to the 1915 level has brought a flood of letters and telegrams from every state in the Union to the Procter & Gamble offices here, giving sensational evidence that Ivory sales are beating all records.

From Syracuse comes word that women are no longer buying Ivory one or two cakes at a time, but by the dozen and half dozen. New York says stores with the largest stocks of Ivory two weeks ago are pressing for new supplies. In Omaha, Ivory Soap is beating every previous record ten to one. A wire from Boston says, "Customers who formerly used Ivory only for toilet and bath now using it for all laundry work and dishes because of its economy at new low prices." San Francisco sends word that the use of Ivory for all soap purposes is spreading up and down the coast.

Now priced so low you can use IVORY for EVERYTHING

PIRATES, CUBS CLASH TODAY

SPORT COMMENT

By James J. Long

Return of Stars Timely.
Colorful Minors Pass.
McGraw Missed at Gate.
Ruth's Finish Hastened.
Big Sale for Olympics.
Careful Tennis Needed.

BUCS AT BEST FOR HARDEST FIGHT

THE RETURN OF Lloyd Waner and Pie Traynor to the Pirate lineup is most opportune, as the series opening today with the Cubs not only involves first place, but carries the Bucs into the most trying period of the entire schedule, a stretch that may determine just where they are to finish. Four games with the Bruins will be followed by a long eastern trip which a flock of doubleheaders will render the most trying of the season, and without their regular team on the field there wouldn't be much chance for the Rovers to go through that cruise with even a fair measure of success.

Lloyd Waner

The Gibsons played 86 games to reach their fiftieth victory, which was scored yesterday, leaving them with a percentage of .581. To keep up that average, as probably will be necessary for a pennant triumph, they will have to win 40 of their remaining 68 contests. They have had the advantage of the home grounds in 50 of the 86 games already played. Of the remaining 68 combats, 41 will have to be fought away from home. So it is clear that the hardest part of the battle is yet to come, and the chances for success are made a great deal more promising by the return of the missing regulars just as the real fight gets under way.

ONE BY ONE the minor leagues are falling, a tragic story of the effects of the depression. The collapse of the Three-I League and the Eastern took away names that added to the color and drama of baseball, like the Sally and the Kitty, and others that passed on before them. The Central will hobble along with four clubs. Others probably will go under later.

The Three-I League was the background for the busher of baseball fiction. The Eastern, once the Connecticut League, dated back to the days of Pat Powers and before, and sent up Connie Mack, Dan Brouthers, Danny Murphy and a couple of hundred others. Announcement that these once flourishing leagues are no more carries a sad note for the old-timers.

THE LEAN GATES drawn by the Giants in St. Louis recently are still the subject of comment in baseball circles. At one game, fewer than 2,000 paid admissions were clicked off at the turnstiles. In previous years the Giants rarely drew less than 5,000 in the Mound City.

One observing baseball man suggests that it may have been due to the fact that John McGraw no longer is manager of the New York club. The drawing powers of the Giants have fallen off in other cities as well as in St. Louis since McGraw was pushed out.

IT IS POINTED out that though big league managers generally are not part of the color scheme, McGraw was a luminous figure in the history of major league baseball, and a club managed by him had that much more allure and personality. "Mere ability of players, or the standing of a club in the pennant race is no longer the thing that attracts the crowd to a ball park," remarked Bob Quinn, Red Sox president. "People now want color in their baseball, and the club with the colorful players draws the crowds. Babe Ruth, Bill Tilden, Bobby Jones and all the rest of the big attractions have or had color, and, of course, marked ability, too. But color is what brings them in at the gate nowadays."

Babe Ruth

THEY'VE counted out Babe Ruth before, only to see him come back in a few weeks and start to perform again with much of his old glory. But possibly they're right this time in concluding that the Babe, out with a torn ligament in his leg, hasn't much farther to go.

Ruth is 38 now and they don't carry on much longer after that as outstanding stars. Chicago fans recall that a mishap similar to Ruth's befell Eddie Collins. One of Collins' legs gave out at Comiskey Park one day, and he fell just as Ruth did. That injury was the beginning of the end for Eddie. Ruth's path too, hereafter, must be steadily down hill. He may be a manager sooner than was figured.

ANOTHER PLAYER WHOSE days of stardom are thought to be over is Frankie Frisch. He's the same old fighter and hustler when he's in there, but his playing streaks are short. He's out of the game much of the time with injuries. The loss of Frisch and Sparky Adams for long periods, following the sale of Chick Hafey, was what turned a world champion outfit into a .500 ball club.

It isn't surprising that the Fordham Flash is slipping. Having come up in 1919 he has been around a long time, and besides he has never spared himself, though none too strong physically. Frisch has never had an easy season, as his club nearly always was fighting for a pennant. He saw four won in New York and three in St. Louis.

DR. PATRICK O'CALLAGHAN, 6 feet 4 and weighing 230 pounds, who has arrived to defend the Olympic hammer-throwing championship which he won at Amsterdam in 1928, is called the greatest all-around athlete in Ireland. Recently he won six championships at the Free State meet—hammer, discus, shot, high jump and 56-pound throw for distanc and height. He high jumps 6 feet 4 inches and runs the 120-yard high hurdles in close to 15 seconds. Though the only O'Callaghan here for the Olympics, the 26-year-old phyhician has two brothers prominent in athletics. Cornelius, 24, is the decathlon champion of Ireland, and John, 28, also is a track and field performer of class.

COAST CRITICS PREDICT that the promoters of the return fight between Steve Hamas and Lee Ramage in Los Angeles next Monday night are going to be disappointed when the gate is counted up. The prospect of a good bout is conceded, but it is held that sport attention will be held by the Olympic Games at the time.

Ever since the Fourth of July interest in the big games has been on the increase. About 40,000 seats, or almost half of the Olympic Stadium seating capacity, have been sold for the various events on the 16-day program, and more than 60,000 have been disposed of for opening day, one week from tomorrow.

THE LAST HURDLE between the United States Davis Cup tennis team and the challenge round in the annual competition for the famous trophy is faced in the inter-zone final against Germany in France, running through today, tomorrow and Sunday.

Ellsworth Vines

The greatest danger threatening the Americans is overconfidence. It will be recalled that victory was considered certain in the inter-zone final against Great Britain a year ago, but when the challenge round arrived it was the British team, not the American, that held the right to battle with the French.

IT'S ALL A question of America's playing a normal game. In their right stride, and showing the proper measure of respect for the opposition, Ellsworth Vines and his mates look good enough to win over the Germans, but you can't play your best game in anything when you hold the other fellow too cheap. There has been a tendency to underestimate Germany's team, but the latter won rather handily over Great Britain and Italy, which called for pretty good tennis. It can afford to gamble in the series opened today, and it is under such conditions that upsets often occur. The Americans ought to win, but only if they avoid overconfidence and continue to play the Germans carefully until the necessary three out of five matches have been sewed up beyond any possibility of a slip.

HULSE, M'KEE DEFEATED IN SEMI-FINALS

By TOM BIRKS

Wilson (Billy) Marks, Princeton golfer from Kiski, and R. B. Parker, Exeter School team ace from the Highland Country Club, matched strokes this afternoon in the final of the annual Western Pennsylvania junior golf championship tournament at the South Hills Country Club.

Marks, a championship favorite for the last two years, was favored to crash through to the title which Sidney Carson, of Greensburg, was ineligible to defend, but Parker was the picture of confidence as he stepped up to the first tee for the championship duel. Confidence in his ability to overcome all opposition has been very pronounced in Parker ever since he appeared for the qualifying test, and a close match was in prospect.

MARKS IN FINE FORM

Marks, who has shot contently good golf in all rounds, stuck fairly close to par in eliminating Shirley Hulse, of Bedford Springs, 5 and 4, in their semi-final round match this morning. Playing against Claude McKee, of South Hills, in the other semi-final match, Parker won the first two holes with a pair of 6's; but then settled down to a better brand of golf and coasted in with a 4-and-2 triumph. The cards of the semi-final matches:

THIRD ATTEMPT

As is the case with Mars, this is Parker's third attempt to win the crown. He won the consolation trophy on the occasion of his first effort, and was beaten by Carson, who went on to win the title, in the second round last year.

Marks long has been recognized as one of the junior links aces of the state.

Semi-final round matches in other flights resulted as follows:

Championship consolation—Kay defeated Jim Marks, Jr., 1 up, 19 holes; Ball defeated Nicklin, 3 and 2.

Second flight—Garner defeated Tiernan, 6 and 4; Caughey defeated Jamison, 1 up.

Third flight—Smith defeated Totten, 3 and 1; Haversick defeated Freund, 2 and 1.

JOHN CARR HONORED

This evening at the Bob-O-Link course, Aspinwall, the fans will be treated to an 18-hole exhibition match. Ted Luther, of Valley Heights, will pair up with Maurice de Bosquet, of Highland, and Pete O'Hara, of Westmoreland, will team up with Fred Weppner, the Stanton Heights ace. The affair gets under way at 7 o'clock.

The members of the Pittsburgh Field Club honored John W. Carr, retiring secretary-treasurer, last evening. Thirty years of faithful service to one of the leading clubs in the country is Carr's record.

President C. N. Succop, in his talk, stressed the value of Carr to the club. Former President A. J. Diebold, who has worked for many years with the retiring executive, made the presentation of the testimonial, a watch charm in gold leaf with miniatures of the club house and the retiring secretary-treasurer.

SHIELDS BOWS, VINES WINS

STADE ROLAND GARROS, PARIS, July 22.—(AP.)—Ellsworth Vines, Jr., American and Wimbledon champion, today defeated Daniel Prenn, ranking German star, 6-3, 6-3, 0-6, 6-4, to give the United States an even break in the first day of play in the interzone Davis Cup final.

The tall Californian, playing easily and confidently, completely outclassed the German engineer in all but the third set, and Vines was taking a breather then and made little effort to win points.

Vines showed his resourcefulness in the final set as he turned to a lobbing game to defeat Prenn after he found himself inaccurate with his drives.

The fine play of Vines heartened the American supporters, who saw Gottfried Von Cramm, second ranking German, spring an upset in defeating Frank X. Shields in the first match, 7-5, 5-7, 6-4, 8-6.

John Van Ryn and Wilmer Allison, American doubles pair, are favored to defeat the German combination, as yet unnamed, in doubles tomorrow, and on the basis of the day's play Vines should win from Von Cramm Sunday to send his team into the challenge round against France.

Sloop Gallant Wins In Olympic Test

SAN PEDRO, Cal., July 22.—(AP.)—Sailing the 12-mile Olympic course while its opponent, the Naiad, from San Francisco, rested in drydock as silent protest of official action, the six-meter sloop Gallant, of the Los Angeles Yacht Club, yesterday won the right to represent the United States in the Olympics.

EXPLANATIONS OF RIPLEY'S CARTOONS OF YESTERDAY: COUGHING BULLETS—After carrying in his head, for 58 years, a bullet with which he was wounded in the eye at the Battle of Vicksburg, July 1, 1863, W. V. Meadows coughed up the projectile on March 21, 1921. At the time, Meadows was at his home in West Point, Ga., and suffered no ill effects whatever from the astounding experience. Meadows, who was a member of G Company, 37th Alabama Infantry, was blinded in his right eye, necessitating its removal, but the bullet was not removed at that time. The facts of this unique case are authenticated by the many residents of West Point who knew Meadows. TAILED WOMEN—Tailed women are peculiar to the remote parts of Northern Nigeria, which are tributary to Great Britain. The women of the Kagoro, Kajji, Attakka, Moroa, Katab and Jaba tribes inhabiting that part of Africa all assume a mushroom-shaped tail as the outward and visible sign of married dignity. The tail is made of palm fiber, very tightly drawn together and bound with string. Sometimes an iron bell is attached to the tail, to lend it vocal emphasis. The men of the "tailed women" are ferocious headhunters.

U. S. YACHTS RETAIN CUP

COWES, Isle of Wight, July 22.—(AP.)—The United States' six-meter fleet today won the fourth race of the series for the British-America Cup to sweep the regatta and successfully defend the international yachting trophy.

Bobkat led the fleet home with another American, Jill, second, and the British boat, Vorsa, third. The other two American entries, Nancy and Lucie, were fourth and fifth respectively.

The race over the 16-mile course was completed in 3 hours 5 minutes and was sailed in light breezes with an occasional rain squall.

Only Vorsa, of the British challengers, made any showing, the rest of the British entries never figuring in the four contests. The first three races were sailed off Ryde and the scene shifted to Cowes only for the final.

Majors Can't Aid Minors —Landis

CHICAGO, July 22.—There is nothing organized baseball or the major leagues can do to help the minor leagues that are sinking one by one because of the financial depression. That is what Judge K. M. Landis, high commissioner of baseball, said here today when quizzed on the subject.

Asked about a surplus supposed to exist in the major leagues which could be diverted to aid the smaller circuits in their struggle to keep alive, Landis said the "surplus" is mythical. He said:

"It doesn't exist."

Tennis Contests Here Rained Out

The exhibition doubles tennis match between Frank Smith, of Edgewood, and Edgar Alcorn, of Mt. Lebanon, and Dr. Charles Cochran and Andy Smeaton, last evening at the Bridgeville Tennis Club, was washed out during the playing of the second set as a heavy thunder shower deluged the courts. The Smith-Alcorn duet was leading, 6-3, 1-0, when play was terminated.

Rain also forced the postponement of the Edgewood-Shannopin team matches. A decision by the Pittsburgh Tennis Association regarding a later playing date will be reached in a few days.

Rohrers Win Father, Son Tournament

An all-family tournament was staged at Edgewood yesterday, with F. F. Rohrer, Sr. and Jr., winning the father and son competition, Mrs. W. C. Dierks and Mrs. J. O. H. Anderson the mother and daughter play, and Mrs. L. G. Riley the husband and wife event.

EDDIE JACOBS ADVANCES

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., July 22.—(AP.)—While thunder warned of an approaching storm, favorites of the courts shot it out in the quarter finals of the State open tennis tourney yesterday.

Paul Kunkel, defending champion, conquered Lieut. Stanley Robinson, Army singles ace, 6-8, 6-2, 6-2.

Another favorite advanced as Eddie Jacobs, Baltimore net artist, lambasted the youthful Hudson Hamm, of Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., 6-0, 6-1.

Risque to Race Against Equipoise

CHICAGO, July 22.—(AP.)—Risque, Mrs. John D. Hertz' 4-year-old filly, has been prepared for a do-or-die effort to break up the winning streak of C. V. Whitney's Equipoise in the Arlington handicap tomorrow.

CHILLYSAUCE

If anything were needed to prove the value of Pie Traynor and Lloyd Waner, the brilliant pair supplied it as the Buccos flagged won the Phearless Phils.

Brother Lloyd, in one time at bat, kept unbroken his string of safe-hit games. His winning double sent his total to 22 contests, tying the season's best mark, held by Roger Cramer, of the Athletics.

Dave Barbee left his post in a blaze of splendor. Dave's three-bagger, which led to a knotted count in the seventh, was the longest hit of the battle.

Chuck Klein contributed one of the best fielding bits of the year in the fourth when he slid up the rightfield screen to rob Gus Suhr of an extra base hit. Chuck followed through by doubling Barbee at first. The play spoiled at least one run.

Kremer held Klein, Hurst and Whitney, slugging triumvire, to a grand total of one hit.

TIMELY WALLOP BY L. WANER BEATS PHILS

By CHARLES J. DOYLE

Once there was a good-natured Goliath of the mound whose 6 feet 4 inches of stature towered above the batters who faced him, especially the little Waner kids. But one hot day the smaller of the Waner boys, whose name should be David instead of Lloyd, stepped up to the plate with his little slingshot and remarked:

"Durn you, feller—I dare you to strike me out on three pitches, like you did my brother a minute ago!"

The merry giant laughed in his jolly way and replied:

"Why, you little jackrabbit, you'll chase yourself right out of the ball park trying to hit my curve. Here comes the first one —be ready!"

LLOYD'S HIT WINS

But just as Goliath unwound with all his power, the tiny boy at the plate let fly with his trusty slingshot in such deadly accuracy that the giant had to be dragged off the field and cold water thrown upon him.

After being revived the ponderous fellow realized what had happened and he burst out laughing. But he had 25 subjects who didn't laugh. They pounced upon him and rent him from limb to limb.

The moral of this tale is: The fellow who said a good big man can always lick a good little man is "batty."

And the ambitious Chicago Cubs, arriving here this morning for two battles with the league-leading Pirates, were just a bit shaky when they read of the David-Goliath engagement in the Oakland Orchard yesterday.

The first clash of the important series, which will include a dual bill at Chicago Sunday, wil bring together Pat Malone and Steve Swetonic. The North Side boy has almost completely recovered from his sore foot.

Capt. Pie Traynor and Lloyd Waner will be at their respective posts, with Adam Comorosky in leftfield. Traynor and Brother Lloyd were the heroes of yesterday's 3-to-2 triumph of the Buccos over the Phillies in a sensational game.

The great outfielder and batsman, entering the gruelling fight at the eleventh hour, won the battle on one pitched ball—Brother Lloyd doubled to left center. Traynor, who had singled with two out, packed the scene with drama by scoring from first on a desperate dash.

The spectators, including about 3,000 women and girls, put on a remarkable scene as they realized the significance of the situation. The home boys came to bat in the ninth tied at two-all. Dave Barbee, after hitting a triple that led to a knotted count in the seventh, left the game upon reaching third to allow Hal Finney to carry over the run on Suhr's fly.

ELLIOTT IN FORM

When the eighth round began, Comorosky moved to left and Little Lloyd, who had been out almost two weeks with a bad leg, went to center under a barrage of cheering.

Big Jim Elliott had hushed the Buccos on six hits in eight rounds. Brother Paul came up to face the southpaw giant. Paul looked at three pitches and was declared out. It was a most unusual proceeding. Two were out as Vaughan was retired.

Traynor, also back after a long layoff due to a bruised finger, slapped a single to left. Up came the little ball hawk to connect for a double on the first pitch to break up the high-tensioned battle. The home victory gave the Buccos a two and one-half-game lead over the Cubs.

Remy Kremer pitched his second great game in succession in throwing back the Phils. Remy gave up only seven hits. The Pirates scored a run in the second, the Quakers making two in the seventh.

The tournament, a three-night affair, which will be concluded tomorrow, is being staged under the auspices of the San Francisco Examiner, a Hearst newspaper.

Sectionally, the East and the Far West tied placing contestants in the semi-finals, with 11 each. The Mid-West brought through five representatives and the South counted three.

An outstanding contender in the welterweight division appeared in Charles Crovatto, of Uniontown, Pa. The Pennsylvanian entered the semi-finals through a hard-fought decision over Ruben White, of Honolulu, in a fight marked by a toe-to-toe finish in which Crovatto had a shade the better.

The national A. A. U. champion among the 135-pounders, Nat Bor, of Fall River, Mass., punched his way into the semi-finals with a second-round technical knockout over Joe Barry, of Cleveland. He was the aggressor throughout.

TENNIS STRIKE THREATENED

HUNTINGTON, N. Y., July 22.—(AP.)—Somewhat steamed up and anxiously awaiting the outcome of their threat of the first known tennis strike, competitors in the Crescent-Hamilton Club invitation tennis tournament moved into the quarter-final round today.

Fourteen of the players at the Crescent's Club, including six of the eight slated to play in the quarter-final singles matches today, stirred up a tennis tempest yesterday when they sent a telegram to Hooker Talcott, of the Seabright Lawn Tennis and Cricket Club, where the big New Jersey invitation event is scheduled to start Monday, asking assurance that all players will be given the full courtesies of the club for the entire week of the tournament.

The invitations that had received explained that a player's expenses would be paid only while he remained in the tournament.

RAIN JINX HITS HICKEY PARK

By HARRY KECK
Sports Editor

The rain jinx again caused the Hickey Park arena, in Millvale, to postpone its show scheduled for last night, and the bouts will go on tonight, instead, with the card intact. It was the fourth postponement in eight shows at the park this season.

Ted Yarosz, of Monaca, the only undefeated boxer in the district, meets Lope Tenorio, the Filipino, in the 10-round main bout. Young Rudy, of Charleroi, and Jacquez Everillo, of Porto Rico, box the six-round semi-final; Andy Kosel and Jimmy Gilligan, the second bout, and General Burr (he has shortened his name from Burrows) and Packy McFarland, the opener. The show gets under way at 8:45 o'clock.

Yarosz weighed in at 148 pounds and Tenorio at 143½ at 3 p. m. yesterday. The weights of the other boxers:

Rudy and Everillo, 144 each; Kosel, 119, and Gilligan, 116, and McFarland, 142¾, and Burr, 145¾.

Between Rounds

Elmer Wilson and Mike Barto will box the main bout of the next amateur card of the New Kensington Firemen, next Tuesday night. Eight bouts are listed.

Ho, hum! Another show gone blooie. Archie Bell, of New York, has refused to meet Mose Butch next Monday night at Greenlee Field and so that date is out and Matchmaker Jules Beck now is on the lookout for another card for next Wednesday, the club's regular night.

Jim Corbett, Jimmy Bronson and Gene Tunney are mentioned among the men who may succeed Jim Farley on the New York Boxing Commission if Farley withdraws, now that he is managing Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt's presidential campaign.

Charley Van Reeden, who showed to good advantage in losing to Mose Butch here recently, wants a return bout or a battle with any other worthy featherweight in Pittsburgh. He points to the fact that he substituted against Butch and had only a few days in which to train for the 10-round battle. He says the verdict against him was a fair one, but he knows he can do better, and adds a word of appreciation to the fans for their generous applause for his efforts.

Frank Klaus has his entire stable of boxers, headed by Jimmy Belmont, training daily and ready to seize any opportunity to break in on the local cards.

Dave Shade boxes Trader Horn and Ruby Goldstein meets Ralph Landis in six-round bouts at Long Beach, L. I., tonight. Baxter Calmes opposes Joe Doktor in Chicago.

Star Field Seeks Mae Cutnell's Title

Miss Mae Cutnell will have plenty of serious competition when she defends her Allegheny Mountain Association, A. A. U., 220-yard back stroke championship in the feature event of the swimming gala in the Willows Pools, Oakmont, tomorrow afternoon.

Seeking the laurels will be Misses Louise Clark, Johanna Gorman and Irene Patrick, of the Homestead Library Club, and Miss Josephine Wagner, of the Willows.

HARRISBURG, Pa., July 22.—The Pittsburgh Crawfords made it 13 straight wins in a nightcap with Fewsters' Coney Island Kings here yesterday, winning by a 12-2 score.

BALD, MADDEN WIN JUNIOR NET TITLES

By PAUL G. SULLIVAN

Chairman H. M. Rinehart, of the P. T. A. Junior Development Committee, having laid away the annual Western Pennsylvania youths' net championships on the Carnegie Tech courts yesterday afternoon, promptly turns attention to the premier local event of the year for youngsters—the Pittsburgh Center Junior and Boys' title tourney, slated for the P. A. A. rectangles next Wednesday and Thursday, July 27 and 28.

The committee head announces that entries for the Center conclave will be closed at noon next Tuesday and that contesting will get under way at 9:30 o'clock the following morning. The Center jousting is not an open tournament. Each entrant must certify that he has qualified through winning either a club, school, town, or sectional meeting in his division. Credentials must be produced before aspirants will be permitted to compete. Names will be received by Chairman Rinehart by phone at Grant 6675 or by mail at 3116 Penn avenue, Pittsburgh.

BALD, MADDEN WIN

Ralph Bald, Mount Lebanon ace, and Bob Madden, Schenley Heights star, breezed through final frays of the West Penn Junior and Boys' affair yesterday without semblance of real menace from wind-up opponents. Bald, winner of the West Penn Boys' crown in 1931, disposed of his southpaw school and Rockwood teammate, Bob Grier, 6-2, 6-2, 6-1, to annex the Junior trophy, while Madden, who was eliminated only in the semi-finals of the 18-year-old section, whirled through Lawrence Blatt, College avenue stylist, 6-0, 6-0, for the Boys' medallion.

Bald flashed signal steadiness in accounting for Grier, whose wildness nullified the pace of his stroking and assured victory to his home suburb rival. Madden, a hard, consistent driver, simply packed too much artillery for Blatt, who seemed unable to get started in the face of the Schenley lad's withering baseline fire.

P. T. A. TEAMS CLASH

University Club and Mt. Lebanon performers foregather this evening on the varsity lot to reel of two singles and as many doubles fracases left incomplete last Saturday due to late shaping up of the Lebanon courts after Friday night's severe downpour.

Five tilts were finished on the original date, the Mountmen holding 3-2 advantage. Decisive win for either outfit means revision of the Section I P. T. A. inter-club loop standing.

FIGHT RESULTS

At Garfield, N. J.—Ben Jeby defeated Roscoe Manning, 10 rounds.
At New York—Comrade Conde defeated Fred Monte, 10 rounds.
At Spokane, Wash.—Benny Gallup and Honeyboy Edwards, 6 rounds.

LOCAL GOLFER BOWS IN FREE LINKS PLAY

LOUISVILLE, Ky., July 22.—(AP.)—The spirit with which the municipal golfer takes his game was shown by six extra-hole rounds yesterday in the eleventh annual national public links golf tournament.

Two 19-hole matches were played in the first round and three 19-hole and one 20-hole match in the second round before the victors could be determined. Another match ended 2 and 1, while two were decided 5 and 4 and one 7 and 6.

THIRD ROUND PAIRINGS

Upper bracket—Ade Fordham, St. Paul, vs. Talbot Boyer, Portland, Ore.; Joe Nichols, Long Beach, Cal., vs. Peter Miller, Chicago.

Lower bracket—Oliver C. Sleppy, Santa Monica, Cal., vs. R. L. Miller, Jacksonville, Fla.; Al Campbell, Seattle, vs. Curtis Bryan, Jacksonville, Fla.

Bryan, only 18 years old, defeated William C. Jeliffe, 46, Los Angeles, 1 up in 18 holes, each carding 69, or three under par.

While Bryan played the outstanding golf of the day, his teammate, R. L. Miller, showed his staying ability by going to the nineteenth hole in both of his matches before winning. He eliminated Melvin Carpenter, Columbus, O., 1 up, in the morning and Roy E. Jones, Richmond, Ind., by the same score in the second round, both times with a birdie 4 nineteenth.

Pete Miller, Chicago, went 20 holes to beat Irving Goddard, Los Angeles, 1 up in the second round. The other two 19-hole matches were those in which Boyer beat R. E. Wiggins, Oakland, Cal., in the second round and one in the first round in which Andrew Szwedka, Pittsburgh, eliminated Vernon Letzler, Akron, O.

SZWEDKA LOSES

In other second-round matches, Fordham beat Szwedka, 2 and 1, Nichols, medalist, beat Karl Karch, Brooklyn, 5-4; Sleppy defeated Hank Foley, Chicago, 5-4, after the latter eliminated Charles Ferrara, defending champion, in the first round, and Campbell's victory over Bobby Dale, Indianapolis, 7-6.

Two 18-hole rounds will be played today with the 36-hole final tomorrow.

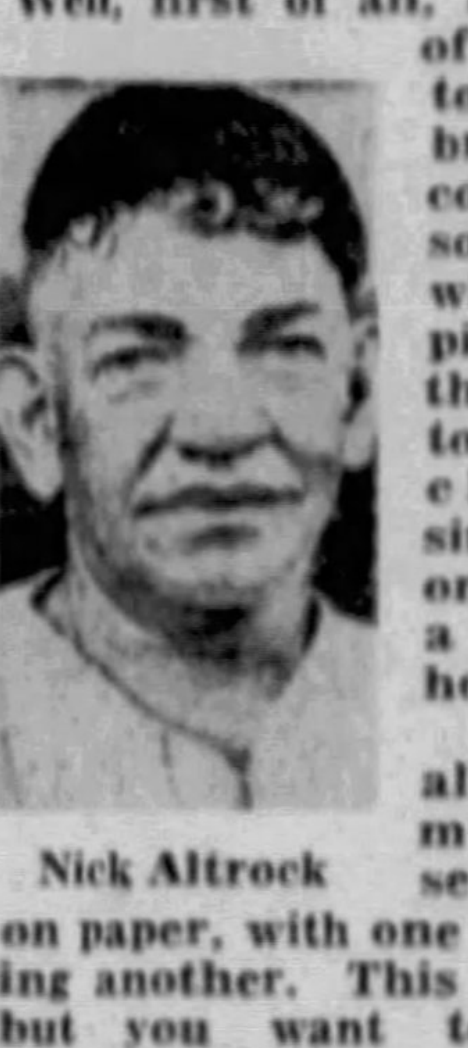
Nick Altrock
Baseball's Humorist
Says:

WASHINGTON, July 22.—Admirers often ask me how I write these daily masterpieces. Well, first of all, I get a sheet of blank paper to match my brain. I then concentrate on some topic like where do umpires go when they die or how to raise a rain check for a single game to one calling for a double-header.



Nick Altrock

After I get all my facts marshaled, I set them down on paper, with one word following another. This sounds easy, but you want to remember Uncle Nick's writings are alone in their class. My articles are the only ones now being printed that make as much sense reading from left to right as the other away around.

STOCK MARKET EXTENDS RALLY

NEW YORK, July 22.—(AP.)—With rails providing the motive power, and oils the fuel, the stock market negotiated another modest grade today, getting up close to the peak levels of June.

The announcement of the Interstate Commerce Commission's approval of the four-party eastern trunkline merger, with only minor modifications of the executives' plan, had a beneficial effect upon the carrier securities generally, and oils improved in response to first samples of first half earnings.

Of the eastern trunk lines, stocks of Baltimore and Ohio and Chesapeake and Ohio made relatively the best progress, getting up a point or more. Delaware and Hudson, normally a wider mover, advanced more than 2. New York Central and Pennsylvania rose about ½ point. Among other rails, Union Pacific and Santa Fe gained a point or so. In the oils, Standards of California and New Jersey, Seaboard Oil and Atlantic Refining gained a point or so. Miscellaneous shares rising about 1 to nearly 2 points included American Telephone, American Can, Case, Procter & Gamble, National Biscuit, Air Reduction, Eastman, Homestake, General Railway Signal, National Distillers and United States Steel preferred. The list sagged a little after a firm opening, but soon resumed its climb.

The way the market was able to push through its previous upper resistance levels of July was regarded as encouraging. The upturn took the general level, as measured by averages, up close to the peak of the early June rally, which greeted the formation of the Morgan-sponsored bond investing corporation. The advance received considerable help from the manner in which the list received second quarter earnings statements, leading to the conclusion that the less favorable exhibits had been discounted in advance in many cases.

The earnings report of Atlantic Refining for the second quarter and first half provided substantiation of advance estimates indicating that the improvement in gasoline prices had carried the industry generally out of the red. Atlantic Refining's net for the first half was $1.18 a share, of which $1.02 was earned in the second quarter. For the full year 1931, the company showed only 19 cents a share on the stock. A number of adverse statements are appearing, however. For instance, Johns Manville showed a loss of $602,670 in the second quarter, a somewhat smaller loss than in the first, but contrasting with net income of $715,657 in the second quarter of last year.

COTTON PRICES HOLD STEADY

NEW YORK, July 22.—Cotton futures opened steady, ⅓ higher on steady Liverpool cables and a fairly active trade demand in absence of selling

Some buying was reported by brokers with Japanese connections, but Liverpool and the continent were credited with selling during the early trading and orders on the whole appeared to be evenly divided. The tone held steady, with October working up to 5.77, and January to 6.00, or about 3 to 4 points net higher by the end of the first half hour. According to early estimates notices representing about 2,000 bales were issued against July contracts, without apparent effect on the market. Trading in the current July position ended at noon today.

Trading continued quiet later in the morning with the market holding fairly steady on some further trade buying and covering, while offerings were light. At midday October was ruling around 5.78c, with the active position showing net advances of about 4 to 5 points.

LIVERPOOL, July 22.—Cotton, receipts, 4,000 bales, including 3,200 American. Spot, moderate business done; prices 2 to 7 points lower. DECISION HITS GRAIN PIT

WASHINGTON, July 22.—(AP.)—The Chicago Board of Trade is very likely to be reprimanded and punished for its failure to grant clearing house privileges to the Farmers' National Grain Corporation.

A decision, said to include the verdict that the baord has violated the grain futures act, is being drafted by a cabinet commission comprising Secretaries Hyde and Lamont and Attorney General Mitchell.

The grain futures act specifies that co-operatives shall have full clearing house privileges, and the Attorney General and Secretary Hyde decided yesterday there was no question but that this phraseology includes the Farmers' National.

Secretary Lamont did not attend yesterday's meeting, but will be present when the decision finally is agreed upon. It could either revoke or suspend for six month's the board's license as a grain trading center.

Insurance Company Valuation's Studied

HARTFORD, July 22.—Under authority of the national convention of insurance commissioners George S. Van Schaick, New York state superintendent of insurance, has appointed Insurance Commissioners H. P. The committee will meet in the near future and will determine a uniform and standard basis for valuing securities for use in company statements as of December 31, 1932.

RETAIL TRADE VOLUME UP

NEW YORK, July 22.—(AP.)—Further advances in livestock and dairy prices spread a fair degree of optimism in the Mid West area during the last week and retail business throughout the country was in better volume than is usual at this season of the year, the weekly mercantile reviews said today.

According to Dun's the lull in the usual summer bill has been far less noticeable than in former years because of the depletion of stocks in primary and distributive centers.

The advance in the price of livestock and dairy products and the continued rise in general commodity quotations, said Dun's, have proven to be the tonic that business required in many territories, resulting in current sales revealing a moderate improvement in numerous cases.

Bradstreet's said advices from leading centers indicated retail trade was holding its own in a relatively satisfactory manner. The reports also indicate a fair amount of optimism throughout the country.

Container Denies Default Charges

WILMINGTON, Del., July 22.—(AP.)—The Container Corporation of America, with offices in Chicago, filed an answer in Chancery Court here yesterday to the receivership suit brought against it recently by Harrington J. Thomson, of Orange, N. J.

The answer denies as "unqualifiedly false" the allegation that on June 1 the corporation defaulted interest payments due on its 15-year, 6 per cent gold debentures.

The corporation stated that on May 27 it forwarded to its paying agent in New York funds for full payment of the interest amount due June 1. It declares it endeavored to locate Thomson, but was unable to find him.

Production of large cigars was 400,406,156 against 517,513,659. Small cigars, 23,639,493 against 38,016,521. Large cigarets 395,515 against 567,930. Manufactured tobacco 27,616,554 pounds against 27,751,364, and snuff 3,061,541 pounds against 3,334,973 in June, 1931.

Sears, Roebuck's Sales Decrease

CHICAGO, July 22.—(AP.)—Sales of Sears Roebuck & Co. in the seventh period of 1932 totaled $19,252,107, a decrease of 25.2 per cent from the $25,738,837 sales reported in the same period of last year, June 20 to July 16.

For the seven periods from January 2 to July 16, sales totaled $145,587,368, against $184,707,207 a year ago, a decrease of 21.2 per cent.

FIRMER TONE ON LOCAL BOARD

Prices were steady to firm on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange today, reflecting in a small degree the general betterment noted on the "big board" and the gradually spreading feeling that industrial operations have passed the extreme bottom peak foor the depression. While public interest in the markets is still on a very small scale, such buying as does make its appearance finds stocks relatively scarce and prices inclined upward.

The fuels are showing a firm tone, but the heavy industrial issues are expected to respond more quickly should the present movement develop broader proportions. So far only a few scattered trades have been recorded in the industrials here, but the character of the trading indicates that the pressure has been relieved in most cases.

WHEAT PRICES CLOSE FIRM

CHICAGO, July 22.—Enlarged buying on the part of commission houses and speculators gave a hoist to grain values today, especially in the late dealings.

Purchases broadened, owing largely to recent advances in securities, sugar and livestock. Several brokerage firms issued statements suggesting that government-financed holdings of domestic wheat were commencing to lose effect as a market guidance.

STABLE PRICES POINT TO RECOVERY

By MERRYLE S. RUKEYSER
Universal Service.

NEW YORK, July 22.—The steadiness of the general level of commodity prices since the late spring and the symbolic strength of hogs and grain have become a business fact of major importance.

The ability of commodity prices to hold the line is doing much to convert business men from the panic psychology, and is developing a more creative attitude. In a number of lines of trade, notably children's apparel, fashion fabrics and in toys, certain manufacturers are reported to be guaranteeing prices for three or four months, or at least up to and including their delivery date. This is indicative of a growing belief on the part of manufacturers that commodity prices are scraping bottom.

Mr. Rukeyser

RISK NEGLIGIBLE

It seems to me that manufacturers generally might consider organizing for near-term recovery through guaranteeing prices for the remainder of the year. In times of inflated prices, it is highly dangerous to adopt such a policy, but the risks of doing so seem negligible with prices in their present highly deflated status. By guaranteeing prices, manufacturers remove the incentive which keeps the timid waiting for still lower prices. Business men, in holding off, want to make sure that their competitors won't be able to buy any cheaper than they. This assurance could be given by a policy of guaranteed prices, which will give new meaning to a "buy now" campaign.

Other factors making for an economic equilibrium include improvement in the bond market, checking of disturbing stock liquidation and a mild improvement in sentiment.

SALES TAX LIKELY

W. M. Kiplinger, competent Washington observer, confidently expressed the opinion that Congress at its next session will adopt the general manufacturers' sales tax. The logic of events will drive the national legislature in that direction, for other taxes, based primarily on profits, are notoriously unproductive during these red ink months of profitless industry. Experience with the discriminatory nuisance taxes is developing a public opinion for general sales taxes spread thin, rather than special sales taxes spread thick. The advocacy of the sales tax by former President Coolidge is an indicator of how sentiment is changing. The successful experience of the state of Mississippi with a consumers' sales tax is further helping to clinch the argument.

For all its deliberations, Congress adjourned without taking constructive action on numerous important economic matters, such as liberalization of the anti-trust laws, railroad rehabilitation, relief for farm mortgages and thoroughgoing farm relief, and banking reform. Furthermore, it straddled on public works, reflation, and neglected to set up adequate machinery for liquidating closed banks.

McKeesport Tin Plate Covers Dividend In First Half

—By GEORGE H. SNYDER—

THE McKEESPORT Tin Plate Company succeeded in covering its dividend requirements in the first half of the present year in spite of adverse conditions in general business. This reflected the fact that the demand for tin plate is not greatly affected by activities in other industries as well as the exceptional stability in the price of the company's product. The organization reported net profit after taxes and depreciation of $668,151 for the first half of 1932. This was equivalent to $2.23 on 300,000 shares of capital stock. While this was substantially below profits for the corresponding period of last year, when $1,270,722, or $4.23 a share was earned, it exceeded dividends for the period. The stock is on a $4 annual basis.

The company is one of the largest manufacturers of tin plate. It does not produce its own steel, but buys semi-finished material, which it rolls into sheets and coats with tin. Other steel products have been subject to drastic price reductions during the past three years, but tin plate cuts have been small. The current price is $4.75 per base box of 100 pounds. This is only 25 cents a box lower than a year ago. It is quite probable that large customers benefit from a lower price than the published quotation, but price shading has not been drastic. While the price of the finished product has declined slightly, the company has benefited by lower quotations on its two principal raw materials, pig tin and semi-finished steel.

* * *

Canners Are Leading Users

THE PRINCIPAL users of tin plate are can makers, who sell containers to packers of fruits and vegetables. Users of general-line cans as containers for paints, tobacco and other products have never reached the importance of the food packers as consumers of tin plate. The demand for cans for packing foods usually is controlled by the size of the crops of fruits and vegetables rather than by general business conditions.

It was not until last year that the depression had a particularly marked effect on this business, and then difficulties in securing bank accommodations to finance the packers were the major influences in cutting down demands for tin plate. This year the same situation has been encountered, and in addition there are heavy carryovers of many types of canned goods. As a result tin plate mills have been operating at about 50 per cent of capacity. This is the lowest rate in many years, but it is substantially better than in other steel lines, where output is only about 15 per cent of capacity.

* * *

Second Half Profit Usually Is Smaller

McKEESPORT TIN Plate Company usually earns more in the first half than in the second half of the year since the demands of the food packers must be met in the spring and early summer. With dividends for the first half earned by a margin of 23 cents a share, the organization may be expected to approximately cover its requirements for the full year.

The McKeesport Tin Plate Company has no bonds or preferred stock. The balance sheet at the close of 1931 showed an exceptionally good cash position. Current assets were $4,861,267 against current liabilities of $687,533. Cash amounted to $1,989,989 and was nearly three times all current liabilities.

McKeesport Tin Plate had the best year in its history in 1930, when net profit was $2,503,897, or $8.35 a share. A moderate recession from this was shown in 1931, when net profit was $1,952,029, or $6.51 a share.

Stock-Buying [illegible] Corporation Stirs Public

—By B. C. FORBES—

WOW! THE suggestion made in this column that a stock-buying corporation along the lines of the bond-buying corporation recently sponsored by J. P. Morgan & Co. would readily attract a superabundance of capital, with every prospect of reaping generous profits for the subscribers, has incited a bombardment of communications from readers. Some commend; others condemn.

B. C. Forbes

One thing certain is that the idea has aroused intense, widespread interest.

SEVERAL READERS exclaim:

"Haven't we enough investment trusts already?"

The bond-buying corporation is not an investment trust. It was not conceived for the purpose of providing permanent employment of funds. It was organized for the purpose of picking up sound bonds at bargain prices and selling them when conditions substantially recover.

The profit motive was unequivocally emphasized. But it was figured that, properly handled, the corporation's operations would do at least something in the way of steadying, stabilizing, reassuring the bond market. Since the plan was announced, the bond market has behaved much better.

Incidentally, I understand that not one bond has been resold.

IT SO HAPPENS that the bond corporation was first publicly urged by this writer. Thus far, there has been nothing but public approval of what has been accomplished.

In my humble opinion, a half-billion or billion dollar stock-buying corporation organized under the same aegis would be quite as timely, quite as popular, quite as profitable.

SUCH A corporation should not be empowered to practice short selling. Its purpose should be to take advantage of the phenomenally low quotations now ruling, retain purchases until normal investment and business conditions return, and then re-sell gradually, without disturbing values.

A FEW extracts from comments:

A. W. Wetsel, investment counsellor:

"It is a golden opportunity for profit for the participants and a genuine public service. The stock market is extremely thin now, and I feel practically certain it would respond in a big way to such leadership as would result from your proposal."

GORDON C. CORBALEY, president, American Institute of Food Distribution:

"I was struck with your idea. If a strong group of banking houses would undertake the job of refinancing some of the best securities now available at extreme discounts, they may enter into a new field where reasonable fees could be collected for underwriting, and the very fact of their entrance into this field would be a strong influence in restoring market confidence."

Norman C. Norman, businessman:

"The public has had enough of the judgment 'of the ablest, most experienced, best-informed men in America.' These gentlemen would no doubt be tempted to unload on that trust many common stocks which they are loaded with. We have found, unfortunately during this panic, that the so-called 'ablest man' or 'biggest men' have given adequate proof that they can be at the same time the biggest fools.

"In 1928 and 1928 your same group of 'biggest men' formed investment trusts at the peak of the market. The result was the greatest catastrophe since 1873."

I AM CERTAIN, from inquiries I have made, that the proposed stock-buying corporation could easily raise hundreds of millions of capital. Everybody subscribing would, of course, share equally—pro rata—in the profits reaped.

NOTICE OF MEETING
Pittsburgh, Pa., July 15, 1932.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the PITTSBURGH FORGE & IRON COMPANY will be held at the office of the company, No. 905 Chamber of Commerce Building, Pittsburgh, Pa., on Tuesday, August 2, 1932, at 3 o'clock p. m., for the election of directors to serve for the ensuing year, and for such other business as may properly come before the meeting.

W. L. MILLER,
Secretary.

What Will Your Estate Owe?

"I DIRECT that all my just debts shall be paid," is the customary phraseology of a will.

Strange as it may seem, not all claims presented to an executor for payment are just. Excessive claims may arise for many reasons—through errors in accounting or calculation; excessive imposition of taxes; disagreement as to proper fees for services; and other causes, including, in not a few cases, actual fraud.

You can guard against payment of such claims by the appointment of an executor that is experienced in the handling of just such cases, and that can be depended upon to act solely in accordance with your will and in the interests of your beneficiaries. This Company fully qualifies for the discharge of this duty, as well as every obligation that rests upon an executor.

Lawyer Says That He Is to Be Divorced and Asks Lynn to Marry Him

CHAPTER XXXVIII.

Lynn said, feeling as if her mind had been beaten black and blue, "Then—I shan't see you again?"

"Probably not. Don't let that worry you," Jennie put her hands on Lynn's shoulders. "You're a good kid. Look here, whatever's wrong between you and Tom, make it up. It doesn't pay not to. You don't know how lucky you are, I do."

"You don't understand."

"No, I suppose not. Slim told me something, though. Said Tom was sunk. Said he couldn't find out why—all Tom would say was that you'd let him down; believed something that wasn't so. Don't be that way, Lynn. I don't know what you think he's done or hasn't done. I don't care. Only, if he's your man, what does anything he's done matter? It wouldn't to me, murder, arson, robbery . . .

"Lord, if a good guy loves you and is yours—I sound like a torch song. But I mean it. Don't you suppose I'd lie or steal for Slim, now that I know? But I was always the dunce in my class. I always knew the answers too late. Well, I'm doing the next best thing for him."

She asked again, "You'll see him, won't you? Swear you won't tell him what I've told you. Just say, 'She's leaving town—and to stay on your own side of the fence.'"

Lynn promised. A moment later she was out in the corridor. The door had shut. Jennie was whistling—what was it?—the blues song they had heard at Dwight's so very long ago. Lynn's cheeks were wet.

SEES SLIM

She went on her way, shuddering as if she had escaped some terrific danger. She had escaped. Jennie had shown her the way in which madness lies. There was no longer any temptation in the thought of Dwight.

That afternoon she telephoned the house on Perry street. If Tom answered! Waiting, she felt ill with fear—and with hope.

Slim answered.

"Slim? This is Lynn. I want to see you. It's important. I have to go to a class uptown. Could you ride up a way with me?"

"Sure I will, Lynn; glad to," he replied, thinking she wanted to talk about Tom. "I had sort of a date, but it's off now, I guess."

He's been trying to phone Jennie, she thought.

He came along presently. She was waiting outside the apartment. They boarded a bus, found an empty seat.

"What's on your mind?" he asked her.

"I've seen Jennie."

"Oh!" he flushed. He said, with an effort, "I suppose she—told you?"

Sparing him as much as she could she denied it. "No, nothing. Except to ask me to see you at once and tell you she's leaving town. She's going West, Slim."

WANTED TO MARRY HER

"Leaving town?" He was silent a moment. He said presently, "Running away, eh? I suppose she thought I'd follow her. She's wrong."

"She doesn't want you to follow her, Slim," Lynn told him, low.

"No, I suppose not. I don't blame her. She's picked the sort of job that matters most to her; she doesn't want her shabby friends hanging around interfering." He was cold with anger, hot with shame. He thought of the freight elevator. He moved away from Lynn. He said, "Nice of her to let me know."

"Slim, you don't understand. Don't be so hard on her. She—" Lynn stopped. She'd promised. Besides, it would do no good to tell him, to try to interpret Jennie for him. It might do harm.

Slim said, against his will. "I was crazy about her. I wanted her to marry me—once. She wouldn't."

He was silent. There was nothing he could say of the things crowding and wounding his mind. He had loathed the whole situation. It hadn't been his fault, he told himself. Jennie knew he was crazy about her. She must have known how he felt when—when she moved uptown. Sick, disgusted, hating her, hating everything. But love, or love's little sister, hadn't died, couldn't. She'd known that too, phoned him, asked him up. Everything was wrong; Everything was spoiled. He hated her now more than ever; and himself.

HEARS ABOUT TOM

Now she was leaving, sending this untender message. Well, good riddance; she'd played hob with him, all right!

He asked thickly, "Is—is there anything more?"

"No, Slim; that's all," Lynn said.

But her eyes pleaded although mouth was mute. Tom? How was he? What was he doing? Did he miss her? Slim, Slim, tell me about Tom!

Despite his preoccupation, her unspoken longing reached him. He said, awkwardly, "Gee, Lynn, I'm sorry about you and Tom. He doesn't say much, but gosh, he's shot! He's working hard, making good. They like him, up there. Hank says he'll do something big some day; he wants to get into the laboratory end. If—shall I tell him I saw you."

Now her mood had changed. She answered briefly, "I don't care what you tell him, Slim."

"I see." He was silent a moment. Then he said, pressing the button, "I'll be getting off here. Thanks for calling me."

She said, as he rose, "Jennie. Shall I tell her—"

"Never mind telling her anything," he said, in his turn.

She watched him get off, then leaned back and closed her eyes. Why had she been so obstinate? Couldn't she have asked first, "How is Tom?" Couldn't she have said, "Why doesn't he call me up?" Darn pride, anyway; hers; Tom's; Slim's, which wouldn't give Jennie the comfort of a word!

FAREWELL TO JENNIE

She called Jennie at the first opportunity. "I saw him," she stated. There was silence on the other end of the wire.

Then Jennie's voice, hoarse with crying: "Did he send me any message?"

"No, Jennie."

After a moment Jennie said, "That's the pay-off. Sure; that's fine!"

"Jennie, I'll see you before you go?"

"No, if you don't mind," Jennie said carefully. Then she cried out over the wire, "Lynn, you're such a darned swell kid! I'd like to think of you—happy. That would help a lot."

"You'll write me, Jennie?"

"Sure I'll write. Goodbye," said Jennie.

But she wouldn't write. Lynn knew that. Farewell to Jennie . . . farewell.

Slim, reporting to Tom, was taciturn. "Jennie's leaving. She's going West with—" he swallowed unpleasant words; calling names didn't help—"with him."

Tom commented, tinkering with his newly built set, "Oh, yeah? Well, what did you expect?" He kept his eyes away from his friend. Darn all women! he thought.

"It's oke by me," Slim said, magnificiently indifferent.

"Did you see her?"

LYNN WITH DWIGHT

"Jennie? No. I saw Lynn."

Tom almost dropped the new tube he was testing out. "Lynn, eh?"

"She called me up."

"Don't suppose she mentioned me, did she?" Tom asked carelessly.

"Nope."

Silence. Then Hank, knocking out his pipe, "They're all alike. Look here, Tom, we've time for a glass of beer before we trek uptown. Let's go to the Hole in the Wall."

Slim had seen Lynn. How did she look? Is she well? Is she happy? Has she forgotten me? She can't have forgotten me? But Tom, shrugging himself into an overcoat, spoke no word. Funny, isn't it? he thought. I'd give my right hand to see her—and Slim, who doesn't care if he never sees her again . . .

Not long afterward Tom saw her at the Cherry Blossom.

He had gone up with his two black bags and the announcer to supervise the broadcast. Busy, he was, waiting for signals, waiting for the broadcast to go on. It was a gala occasion; an anniversary broadcast.

Tom was oblivious of everything but his work. Forty-five minutes of Cherry Blossom music was broadcast. Then it was over.

"Pretty gay crowd," said the announcer, and looked around the screen.

Tom looked, too. The room was well filled; they were dancing. "Swell music," Tom agreed, tapping his foot.

"Let's get going," suggested the announcer. "Hey, what's the big idea?" he aske[illegible] in amazement.

Tom had seen Lynn. [illegible] corner table with Dwight. [illegible] hand lay on the table. Dw[illegible] covered it. He was leaning [illegible] speaking to her eagerly.

She was listening. Once [illegible] spoke. Once she nodded [illegible] smiled.

"Lord!" said Tom, aloud.

"Come on," urged the announcer impatiently. "Have you taken root?"

After a moment Tom stumbled after the other man into the sleeping gardens where snow was falling and lanterns swayed in the wind.

Dwight had been saying, back there in the noisy room. "But you must have known always that I loved you, Lynn. I've come to an agreement with Mrs. Dwight. She will set me free. She's abroad now; we'll run it through, routine fashion, in Paris, and I'll come back for you. Or would you join me there in the late spring? We could be married in England."

She said slowly, astonished beyond measure, beyond computation ashamed of herself: "I don't love you."

"But you like me?"

This was where she nodded and smiled. She said, "I like you very much. But—"

"Darling, you'll love me. You must. I want you so much—and I need you."

"Why me?" Lynn wanted to know. "It seems so strange.

Tom noticed Lynn after the broadcast was completed.

All the people you've known, the women."

"I've never known any," he said, and believed it. "There is only you. No one else has ever existed."

Tom had gone from her. Tom no longer cared, or he would have returned before this. She did not know how near he was now. She had no warning, no premonition. Suddenly she felt tired of unhappiness and of struggle.

"Don't answer now," Dwight said quickly. "I'll wait. I'll not speak of it again until you're ready. Shall we dance?"

Tom saw them rise, saw her go into Dwight's arms before he left. His duties for the evening were over. He went straight to Lynn's apartment house and was announced to Sarah. She opened the door herself.

"Why, Tom!" she said, astonished.

It was late. She was ready to go to bed. To rest, not to sleep. She had not slept well recently.

"I had to see you. I've just come from a road house out Yonkers way. I saw Lynn there with Dwight. He was holding her hand across the table, looking as if he could eat her up. What does this mean, Sarah?" Tom demanded.

Sarah sat down in the nearest chair. "I don't know," she admitted.

"She belongs to me," said Tom. "She knows it. What is she doing with him?"

Is a chorus girl's private life her own business? This is the background of "Blondie of the Follies," the new serial story starting in the Sun-Telegraph next Monday. Francis Marion is the author of the story and there is a thrill in every chapter. When you travel with "Blondie" you go places with this queen of Broadway and New York life. But hidden from the pleasure-mad, fair-weather admirers is the intensely human, heart-gripping drama of "Blondie's" private life—an amazing story that glorifies the soul of a glamorous show girl. This story is so good that it has been purchased by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer as a starring vehicle for Marion Davies. Don't overlook the first instalment next Monday.

SUN-TELEGRAPH-WARNER THEATERS JUNIOR KOMIC CLUB

Tomorrow thousands of boys and girls will attend the regular meetings of the Sun-Telegraph-Warner Theaters Junior Komic Clubs at the theaters listed below with two purposes in mind.

First—they will escape the intense heat which has been gripping Pittsburgh for the past two weeks. Second—they will be entertained by the finest juvenile talent in the city, and in addition they will see the best talking pictures produced.

FROLIC PRACTICE

At the Enright, Miss Ruthie Miller will continue with the girls who have been chosen to appear in the Enright Komic Club Frolic. All of these youngsters are members of the Komic Club and were pupils in the dancing class. They showed exceptional talent and therefore were chosen to dance in the "Frolic."

The members of the Schenley Chapter will be entertained by the Schenley banjo trio and the Schenley Komic Club band. This band, which is made up of boys all under 16, has proven so popular with the older persons as well as the youngsters, that on an average of two nights a week, they have been playing for dances. These youngsters were thrilled beyond words when they were selected to appear on a recent Saturday night at the Willows.

SPECIAL ENTERTAINMENT

At all of the chapter meetings there will be some form of special entertainment for the members—something of an educational nature and something amusing and many of the youngsters will remain in the cool theaters until time for them to go home to supper.

If you are not a member of the Sun-Telegraph-Warner Theaters Junior Komic Club, go to any of the theaters listed below tomorrow and join. At the time of registration you will be given a membership card and button free.

Dr. Butler's Bad Habit

Expressions of His Peculiar Views Give European People Mistaken Impression of Our Public Opinion.

Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler is at it again—assailing his country and its policies before European audiences.

His frequent trips to Europe are invariably marked by addresses before sundry organizations which make a practice of luncheons and dinners at which visiting Americans are invited to speak.

This summer he has already spoken at the Fourth of July banquet of the American Society in London. The fact that it was Independence Day moved him to say that the time had come for a ''worldwide declaration of INTER-DEPENDENCE.''

A week later, speaking in London, he seized the opportunity to declare that Europe's war debts to the United States would not be paid.

"THERE ARE GOING TO BE NO MORE PAYMENTS," said he, "under the conditions prevailing in the world today. The creditor nations cannot afford to accept payments. That fact is being dinned into the people of the United States and is being understood better than ever before"

The passionate attachment of Dr. Butler for internationalism and all its corollaries is well known in this country and will explain his advocacy of ''INTER-DEPENDENCE'' at a celebration of our Independence Day, and his recoil at the thought that the United States expects the repayment of its loans to Europe.

We are accustomed to his railings against American policies at home. We know how to take him and with what slight valuation to dismiss his utterances.

But the mischief which arises from a parade of his peculiar views abroad is that Europeans mistakenly accept them as reflecting an important section of public opinion in this country.

This habit of Dr. Butler involves MUCH MORE THAN A BREACH OF PROPRIETY or a question of good taste. It brings him into COLLISION WITH the spirit, if not the letter of a FEDERAL STATUTE, which has been in force since John Adams was President and Thomas Jefferson was Vice President.

This law, known as the Logan act, provides severe penalties for any citizen of the United States who, without the permission or authority of this government, CARRIES ON IN A FOREIGN COUNTRY ANY verbal or written INTERCOURSE with any FOREIGN GOVERNMENT, with an intent to influence its measures or conduct in relation to any controversies with the United States, or TO DEFEAT THE MEASURES OF THE GOVERNMENT OF THE UNITED STATES.

An outstanding issue before the American people at the present time is the palpable conspiracy on the part of our European debtors to bring about a cancellation of their debts to the United States.

Our policy has been defined on this subject. Both the Senate and the House of Representatives have formally taken a position against the cancellation of these debts.

The outcome of this policy may depend upon Europe's belief in our sincerity. For Dr. Butler to sow doubt of this in Europe, and doubt as to the finality of America's position, so clearly and formally taken, is TO OPPOSE ''THE MEASURES OF THE GOVERNMENT OF THE UNITED STATES in disregard of the prohibitions contained in the statute above quoted.

THIS IS NO TRIFLING MATTER. The laws of the United States have teeth. The Logan act has before this been successfully invoked against its violators.

Fat Tax Office Saved

Senate Committee Votes Not to Report Bill to Abolish Job or Reduce Fee.

The State Senate committee to which was referred the bill of Senator Mansfield for either abolishment of fee office of county delinquent tax collector or reducing the fee of 10 per cent now paid the incumbent of that office ''pickled'' the measure in committee—as was expected. Senators Mansfield and Harris, members of the committee, voted to report it, and the other Allegheny County Senator on the committee, Morris Einstein, voted to hold it in committee.

This fat office, good for $80,000 to $100,000 a year, is thus saved to the political machine of the county.

The outcome reveals that the matter of home rule has little weight in Harrisburg. Senator Mansfield also is a County Commissioner, so it is evident the views of the board are represented by him. With two out of three Allegheny Senators favoring reporting the bill, it would have been courtesy for five other members of the committee, who can have no local interest in such a bill, to have sided with the majority representation from this county.

''Squire'' Mansfield promises to reintroduce the bill at the next session. Meantime a fat political job escapes the ax that has overtaken some lesser ones.

Free Credit Urged

Federal Reserve Asks Banks to Facilitate Loans To Small Firms.

Plenty of money is available for business. It is only the timidity of banks that keeps funds from moving into productive commercial channels. This summarizes a letter from the banking and industrial committee of the Federal Reserve Bank of Cleveland to all member banks in this district.

It is a well known fact that outstanding industrial organizations are faced with no difficulties securing bank accommodations. It is the smaller manufacturer who still finds that the banks will not aid him in spite of the fact that they have unusually large cash reserves.

The letter points to the fact that if the credit standing of a prospective borrower is good, even though the organization is not large, the paper will be given favorable consideration if it is presented by a bank for rediscount.

This means that the Federal Bank controlling credit in this district is willing to discount the paper of any reasonably secure industrial organization. It means that local banks can lend money to these organizations without impairing their liquidity.

Such a plain statement of policy should open the gates of credit to any organization which is entitled to bank aid.

The Trailer

The "Wagon" carries in its trail
A cart that's never known to fail.
In covering an ugly blot,
The cart is Johnny-on-the-spot,

When that big tank runs wild we find
The little trailer close behind.
And with it's "whitewash" writes O. K.
On damage done upon the way.

Marry-Go-Round

Modernistic Lovers

Of all the stupid ideas introduced by the modernists, the "free love" idea is the most asinine. It is even more silly and impractical than modernistic furniture!

* * *

There is no such thing as Free Love! Love is the most highly priced—the most precious thing in the world! When a man really and honestly LOVES a woman, he doesn't stop to haggle, bargain or cavil with her about the price.

* * *

I have never known one of these professional "modernists" who did did not go mid-Victorian and insist on an air-tight, puncture-proof, old-fashioned marriage the moment he met a woman for whom he cared enough.

PUT IT IN WRITING!

So, when the fair-haired Boy Friend starts talking this "idealistic," intriguing, "Live-your-own-life" stuff, on a summer moonlight evening, just ask him to put it in WRITING!

* * *

You could spot the old-style, mid-Victorian "villain" by his checkered suit, flowing black mustache and flashy scarf-pin; but your modern villain is far more likely to have angel-blue eyes, a languid manner and a shock of collegiate hair. And he is much more likely to be wearing a sport shirt or a beach-robe than a checkered suit.

* * *

He does not boldly PURSUE the trembling girl! Ah, no! He lolls indolently on her porch-glider, helps himself to her cigarets, sips her father's best rye—and talks "modern ideals."

YOU know what I mean by "modern ideals." Just the old, old "I-love-you—You-love-me—Marriage-is-an-obsolete-convention—Be-fair-to-yourself—Life-is-short—Love-is-all—Let-us-be-happy" stuff!

* * *

But reason it out, Sister!

* * *

He may love you madly. They always do! But not so madly that he is willing to sign on the dotted line to that effect.

* * *

Because, he is not looking for LOVE, dear heart. He is looking for an adventure. And whatever he's letting himself in for, he wants all of the emergency exits left open, so that he can slip out the moment he's bored.

* * *

When a man begins talking like that, let him TALK—but listen with your fingers crossed. The words may be new, but the tune is the same old tune that the Serpent crooned to Eve in the Garden!

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, July 22—Thoughts while strolling: Billy B. Van, ex-minstrel, in town from New Hampshire with butter and honey gifts for the Friars. What a grand crowd the minstrel spawned—Lew Dockstader, Neil O'Brien, Honey Boy Evans and Willis P. Sweatnam. Charles Francis Coe is now radio's white-haired boy.

That group in front of the Elks. Nicholas Murray Butler is an Elk, by the way. Which should set Mencken off in a hoot. Malcolm Douglas, theater manager, who contributes juvenile jingles to the St. Nicholas. Chet Shafer and Berton Braley bear a resemblance. Madge Kennedy's tight, mirthless smile.

Somehow, I'd like to see Katherine Dale Owen let down her hair. Bert Wheeler's crying voice. That "Fire Sale" on 41st in its fifth year. Beverly Sitgreaves is easy on the eye. City papers haven't that fragrant odor of the country weekly. Ann Sell always looks as though she'd just stepped off a Paris boat.

The ugly, squat row of frame buildings directly below the Metropolitan. A part of the Wendell estate. The self-effacing H. P. Burton, of the magazines. Nobody can look more aloof than Julia Hoyt. One word description of Harold Ross—gangling. And Fay Marbe suggests a huge ostrich fan.

Pepy de Albrew is a symphony in brown. One of my favorite people—Frank Buck. Those eye-filling pastry show windows. They laughed the best pastry of all out of existence—the cream puff. W. O. McGeehan, a San Francisco boy, who made good in the city. They call Frank McIntyre, "Toots"—the big stiff.

Every time I pass the Marbridge Building at Thirty-fourth and Sixth avenue, I think of those little buckets of chicken salad we used to send out for, on Hampton's magazine. Sherwood Anderson's "Winesburg, Ohio," was the book of that day. Whatever became of Tot Qualters? Mary Lewis is here again. And pretty, no end.

Those dreamers who sit all day in the rocky outcrops of Central Park, staring. Overheard: "Rodin was the world's greatest art faker." That squirrel is following. I'll act unconcerned. A Punch and Judy. With so much reality, what joy in a little make-believe!

Ambling around town, in a sort of excelsior trudge, one sees now and then a hero to thousands of shorthand students. He is John Robert Gregg, inventor of the shorthand bearing his name. Large, curly haired, he wears a gardenia in his lapel. Aside from his invention, he is a wealthy publisher of school books, and spends his time knocking about the world. Life seems to melt in his mouth like butter.

Another cameo out of the 90's is Jake Wolf, proprietor of the dead and gone Casino. He ruled this Thespic temple in the days of Lillian Russell and Edna May. Now that George F. Baker, the banker, is gone, he is the last to wear side-wheel whiskers and detachable barrel cuffs.

A gentleman, unable to decipher my red-inked postcard reply to a letter, forwards the story about Henry Ward Beecher. A manuscript of his was sent back by a printer's boy for unscrambling. Mr. Beecher puzzled awhile and, returning it, sighed: "Son, when I wrote this theme, only God and I knew what I was writing. As things are now, only God knows."

From Holland, Leon Gordon postcards the yarn about the octogenarian sitting before the fireplace with his wife. After a long, dreamy silence he suddenly remarked: "If anything ever happens to either of us, God forbid, I'm going to spend the rest of my life in Paris."

LISTEN, WORLD

By Elsie Robinson

Here's the story of a modern woman who wanted a full life. She had looked the field over and decided that most women's lives are wash-outs, so she set to work deliberately to make a success of hers. And then one night—

But read it for yourself. It's Big Medicine.

Dear Miss Robinson:

I wonder if my story would be of any help to the thousands of discontented women who write to your column. I know why they are discontented. I was that way once, too. And I found my cure in the last place I expected.

The whole thing started before my marriage. I was 23, my husband 25. We both came from nice homes, had good educations, held fine jobs, with futures.

We agreed that I should go on working after we were married, and should have the career upon which I started. In that way, we thought, we would both stay vitally interested in life and would never bore each other.

Also, by that plan we could have many luxuries and pleasures which we could not have if I gave up my work. That would keep us both young and prevent that drabness which seems to fall on so many married people.

Some day we planned to have babies and live in the country, but that was only to be after I had enjoyed my freedom and professional success to the full.

So we started, as so many other "smart" young Americans are doing, and for a while it seemed to work beautifully. Several years went on. We grew more and more prosperous. Then, gradually, I began to notice a change creeping over us.

In spite of all our well laid plans, we were becoming bored with each other! We had lost our zest for parties, or were too busy to enjoy them. Night after night my husband would come home, sit silent through dinner, then bury himself in a paper and pay no attention to me.

At first I was surprised, then humiliated and sorry for myself. Then I became really angry. But none of my moods had any effect on him. AND I WAS FORCED TO REALIZE THAT IF WE WENT ON AS WE WERE DOING I WOULD LOSE MY HUSBAND.

I had to face the choice which so many modern women must make—A HOME OR A CAREER? I had thought that by keeping my career I would make myself and my home more attractive. I now discovered the amazing fact that my husband found no interest in the sort of a home which a career-woman could make. It was a beautiful and efficient home—but it meant nothing to him. Why?

It took me a long time to answer that question. Maybe I didn't really want to answer it; but at last I had to face it. The truth was, my husband wasn't interested in our home because HE HAD NO PLACE IN IT. He lived there, slept and ate there, paid some of the bills—

BUT THE HOME DIDN'T DEPEND ON HIM, AND NEITHER DID I! NEITHER THE HOME NOR I WAS HIS PERSONAL RESPONSIBILITY OR ADVENTURE, AND SO HE WAS DRIFTING AWAY FROM US BOTH!

So that was what I had to face. I had wanted a full life, but I found I couldn't get it by working on two jobs at once. I had to be either whole-time wife, or whole-time careerist. And would a career satisfy, if I lost the man I loved?

I didn't think it would; and so I made my step. We came here into the country. We found a little ranch, close enough for him to go to work, and I gave up my job and went in for gardening.

I NEARLY DIED OF BOREDOM AND LONELINESS AT FIRST; but within a week my husband was a changed man. He found he liked to tinker in the garden. He came racing home at night, as excited as a boy.

Well, it's a long story. But I saved my home, and I don't think there's a happier couple on earth than we are now. We're real farmers, on a larger place. We have three children—the grandest youngsters! We aren't making much money but, on the other hand, neither are we spending much. And the days aren't long enough to hold all our joy. THIS IS THE FULL LIFE!

MARY OWENS.

So that's that. And I wonder how many tired business women will prop their elbows on their desks and forget about the next contract, while they sit and think it over.

Americans in the New Foreign Legion

By Claude G. Bowers

Author of "The Struggle for Democracy in America," "Founders of the Republic," "Jefferson and Democracy," "The Tragic Era" and other important works, now writing for the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

The American advocates of the plan for the transfer of the debts of the 14 European nations that owe us from the debtors to the taxpayers of America are much wrought up over the indisposition of Americans to fall into the trap so carefully prepared at Lausanne. One distinguished American writes the New York Times from London to say that it is perfectly absurd to contend that if the debtor nations do not pay the debts the taxpayers of the creditor nation must.

That is an amazing statement. America did not get the money loaned to these nations after the war out of the air. This money came from the pockets of Americans who got the bonds of this country in return. These bonds are a promise to pay. Every bond must, and will, be redeemed. And if the debtor nations who got and used the money do not pay what they owe, the American government will have to tax Americans to get the money to redeem the bonds.

It is most absurd to say that the "forgiving" of the post-war debts of these nations will not mean an increase to that extent in the taxing of the American people.

And struggling as we are against collapse, where do we get the "capacity to pay?"

* * *

Another American Champion

Another American champion of the transfer of the debts to American taxpayers says that the debtor nations got $9,000,000,000 from America in loans. He says $2,500,000,000 has been paid. That means that $6,500,000,000 that was borrowed by the United States to make the loans to Europe is unpaid.

But he says it is not proposed to cancel this $6,500,000,000, but merely to arrange a friendly settlement—say a lump sum of $1,000,000,000 in satisfaction of the whole!

This would leave $5,500,000,000 wiped out as far as repayment by the debtors that got and used the money is concerned.

And the $5,500,000,000 was borrowed by our government and must be paid by us to the people who loaned us the money. If the nations that got and used it will not pay it back, there is just one way for our government to meets its obligations if it does not wish to follow the fashion and repudiate the debt—and that is to add $5,500,000,000 to the taxes of Americans to get the money.

It is sheer dishonesty to attempt to persuade the American people that the plan of the debtor nations does not mean an enormous increase in the taxation of Americans.

* * *

Our Internationalists Were Shocked to Tears!

Somehow we seem to remember that during the last year it was proposed to raise $5,000,000,000 through a bond issue to create jobs for the millions of breadwinners here, who, with their families, approximating more than thirty million men, women and children, are in actual want. This was to be done through a great public works program. It would have put a vast army of the jobless back into the purchasing class; and this would have helped the merchants who need help; and this would have increased the orders of the factories who need orders, and put more men to work in the factories.

And these internationalists of ours were shocked to tears!

What! Spend $5,000,000,000 to put to work Americans who are desperately in need, living barely on charity, while their children are slowly dying from starvation. Monstrous! How "unsound"! How "absurd"! How "impossible"!

But for the benefit of Europeans it is sound and reasonable and possible to raise $5,500,000,000 through the taxation of this America, which is in a worse condition than any country except Germany that has been outrageously milked, not by us in the spirit of greed and hate.

* * *

A Story for The Marines

We can raise this $5,500,000,000 by increasing the taxes of our own people without ruining America, but 14 nations cannot raise it without destroying Europe. It is a story for the marines.

Europe is more heavily armed today than it was before the World War. Europe's budgets are more top heavy with war costs today than they were then. Billions are being spent for war purposes in the midst of peace by the debtor nations—and that is not ruining Europe. These budgets show from 50 to 80 per cent of the expenses of the debtor nations are for war—and that is not ruining Europe.

But the payments on the debts to the United States take from 1½ to 3 per cent of the budgets—and that is ruining Europe.

To meet their obligations there 14 nations do not have to increase the taxes on their people; they only need to shift the items in their budgets—to take from 1½ to 3 per cent off their war costs and apply it to the payment of the debts. Would that ruin Europe?

* * *

An Unbearable Burden on Our People

It is not an easy thing, even with the most practiced sophistry, to argue the American people into the conviction that they owe the debts of Europe. Mr. Hearst has said that if we take over the debts of these 14 nations it would be an unbearable burden on our people. Whereupon one of the American champions of the European point of view scouts the idea as something "no rational person can believe." And he figures it out that if we pay the debts of these 14 nations it will cost each American $2.50 a year.

Well, if it is as easy as all that for us, how is it going to ruin Europe to pay so little?

And if we loaned the money and the others borrowed it and used it for their own benefit, why should we pay even a cent a year?

And if it is to cost us so little to pay the $5,500,000,000, given as the amount, why did these same exponents of the European point of view think it was going to ruin America to spend half a billion less to put to work the millions of Americans who are in distress?

It's the old story of the goose and the gander.

* * *

They Milked Germany Dry

But we are invited to put aside our point of view—which is the point of view in private business—and to accept the debtor nations' point of view. Try that on your private creditor. Try it on the international bankers from whom you have borrowed money. But make sure before you make the suggestion that there is a quick passage to the door.

And the debtor nations' point of view? That war debts are not obligations, at all. That is something to remember in the future when you are asked to buy bonds that your money may be loaned to other nations at war.

But the answer is that the war debts have been "forgiven." The money that is due us and which we are asked to get from our own people is the money borrowed after the armistice. It was spent on the rehabilitation of these nations. We need and could use that money now on the rehabilitation of America.

The plain, unvarnished truth is that we are asked to take over and pay off the debts of the Allies; to assume the financial burden of the war. The debtor nations took Germany's colonies, her trade, her ships and every penny they could extract. They milked her dry. And we took nothing. They got all they were entitled to from a conquered nation; they pounced upon her savagely. And now that they can get no more from Germany it is proposed to collect from us.

And Americans in the Foreign Legion in the conspiracy against America are at work.

Isn't It So?

Your neighbor will tell you if you don't know yourself.

It isn't necessary for some people to be on their backs to be fast asleep.

According to a cynic the "up and up" of marriage is putting up and shutting up.

Squirrels are very fond of all kinds of nuts except those that grow on family trees.

The only time some people offer to help their neighbors is when they want to get them out of the community.
